Fishing Port and Oil Refinery Hit

44th Arrives Today

New York, July 19 (AP)—When the 85,000 ton British liner Queen Elizabeth docks tomorrow with 14,766 troops of the 44th infantry division, she will be the first transport to bring into the port an entire army division. Tomorrow's scheduled arrival of 28,340 American troops aboard six transports probably will set a record, army officials said. Other ships due are the Monticello, Le Jeune, Bret Harte, Nishmaha, and the hospital vessel Frances Y. Slanger.

GUAM, July 20 [Friday]—(AP)—A record force of more than 600 B-29s started conflagrations in a 4,000 ton bombing early today of four Japanese industrial centers and the Nippon oil refinery at a fifth, Amagasaki.

Returning crewmen reported seeing large fires raging as they left Fukui, Hitachi, Chosi, and Okazaki and that the Nippon refinery storage tanks were hard hit. All bombings were by instrument, except at Fukui where clear weather permitted a visual strike.

One B-29 was reported missing and another ditched, but five of the latter's crew members were rescued. Pilots reported Smoke plumes rose 17,000 feet into the night skies from fires started at Fukui. Lt. Everett L. Miller, Philadelphia, Pa., a navigator, said it appeared that the "target was completely destroyed." There was little anti-aircraft or fighter opposition.

Second 600 Plane Raid

Once before more than 600 B-29s flew in a mission against Japan, but the force in today's five pronged raid was even larger.

Hitachi, blazing for the first time from B-29 incendiaries, was bombarded by warships of the fleet Tuesday night. The attacks on the other cities and on the oil refinery also were the first by the B-29s.

Hitachi is 80 miles north of Tokyo, population 82,000, and is a new, large, and complex industrial community.

Big Fishing Port Hit

Choshi, whose 61,000 population makes it the second largest city of Chiba prefecture, is a great fishing port 60 miles northeast of Tokyo. It is estimated to supply one-eighth of the basic Japanese food.

Fukui, population 100,000, is near the west coast of Honshu, 200 miles west of Tokyo, and is an important industrial and railroad center.

At Okazaki, 150 miles southwest of Tokyo near Nagoya, the B-29s were searching for "shadow" war industries, places where piece work is done in hundreds of humble homes. The city of 84,000 is old and its flimsy wood and bamboo structures are highly inflammable.

The oil refinery at the mouth of the Muko river is considered the most important refinery in that part of Japan.

Where Next? Japs Ask

Bombarding guns of the 3d fleet carried Adm. Halsey's battle challenge right to Tokyo bay Thursday and the Japanese, still declining the challenge, worried over where the next blow would fall.

The fleet was continuing its destructive rampage along the Jap coast into the 11th day, Tokyo radio assumed. Tokyo speculated nervously on whether the series of attacks were "spasmodic" or preludes to a "quick" invasion.

Adm. Nimitz's regular bulletin this morning gave the Japanese no hint of the answer. It was limited to reporting harrassing and neutralizing air strikes which sank 11 small coastal cargo ships and damaged five others off Korea and Honshu on Wednesday.

ALL A WOUNDED SOLDIER ASKS IS; 'STOP GAWKING!'

BY NORMA LEE BROWNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Battle Creek, Mich., July 19—If you are a civilian this is for you.

The wounded GIs here at the Percy Jones hospital center have a request to make. It won't take much effort on your part. All they want is this:

Please stop your gawking.

This doesn't come out of Public Affairs Pamphlet No. 000 on how to treat disabled veterans. It comes straight from the GIs themselves.

They are the boys with the most conspicuous of all wounds—amputations. They are also the boys who have earned for themselves the reputation of having the highest morale of any of the returning wounded.

A Friend's Comment

Yet the folks back home are breaking down that morale.

"I was home on furlough," said Staff Sergt. Johnny Jones of Gary, Ind., who was with the 10th armored division, "and sitting around a table with a bunch of fellows. One of them stopped to pick up something. He saw my leg was gone and popped up with this: 'God, this war is really hell, isn't it, with all you cripples coming back?'"

Pvt. Dave Keen's wife was pushing him down the street in his wheel chair. As they passed a group of women they overheard the remark:

"Isn't it a pity!"

"And when we got to the corner," said Dave, "we looked back, and there they stood, still gawking."

They're Not Cripples

These are not isolated examples. Visit any of the wards at Percy Jones and you'll hear scores of similar stories, always ending with the question:

"Why do people have to gawk at us when we go down the street?"

In the first place Johnny Jones is not a cripple. Neither is Dave Keen nor Tommy Tousignant nor Kenneth Bennet nor Donald Bohan nor any of the 12,500 men who have come back from this war with Purple Hearts instead of arms or legs.

They will walk again. They will be able to swim, play golf, jitterbug or drive a car the same as they did before. They are already doing all these things, and more, in the hospital's reconditioning program which is one of the finest in the country. It is headed by Maj. Harry E. Robbins, Capt. Frank B. Egan and Lt. Louis Grower.

Trained in Bed

The amputee's reconditioning begins even while he is still a bed patient. He gets bed calisthenics for strengthening weak muscles. Stiff joints get workouts on bed pulleys and other special made gadgets.

When the limbless GI is ready for his prosthesis [he calls it simply his new leg], he is sent to the hospital's orthopedic shop where artificial limbs, both legs and arms, are tailor made for each individual amputee.

City Folk Get Wrong Steers: 300 of Them

Northampton, Mass., July 19 [Special]—The rambunctiousness of about 300 western steers, imported from Chicago recently and sold to western Massachusetts city folks with a taste for fresh beef they couldn't get, has got the neophyte cattle owners wondering if they haven't bitten off more than they can chew.

Accustomed only to docile eastern dairy cows, they are dismayed by the rugged individualism of the wild Herefords off the western ranges. Some are losing their enthusiasm for the clever method they thought would beat the meat shortage but they are getting plenty of excitement for their money.

Steers Won't Stay Put

The steers are continually getting out of pastures. They race up and down village streets, to the trepidation of townsfolk with no desire to become cowboys.

Occasionally they get out by jumping over fences, but more often they break thru them. It's not enough that they leave by themselves, they take with them peaceful stock which never would have thought of such escapades. In addition to breaking the fences, they destroy crops and other property.

At the village of Hatfield, north of here in Hampshire county, the police used shotguns to bring down one fugitive. Police Chief Arthur Brear, called by the helpless owner, rushed to the scene with two men he qualified as "cow hands."

Beast Shot, Clubbed.

When they finally caught up with the steer, it turned and charged one of the chasers. He decided to shoot, but his gun jammed. A companion fired three shots and stunned the steer, but didn't stop it. The two men clubbed it away with their guns and later shot it again before they could down it.

At Leeds, a suburb of Northampton, a steer which a business man had been graining for two weeks, got out of its pasture. He set a trap for it by laying a lasso around a pail of grain. When the steer put its head in the pail, he and two companions pulled the noose up and prepared to lead the captured animal away.

Instead, it ran up the village street, dragging them along. Three other men grabbed the rope and were jerked along by the cavorting steer before their combined weight finally stopped him.

The steers were shipped here from the Chicago stock yards by a cattle dealer who has been selling them to business men and other townsfolk hopeful of insuring themselves of meat. Under OPA regulations, the new owners must keep and care for them 60 days before they can be slaughtered.

It was estimated that some 300 western steers had been sold within the last few weeks in four western Massachusetts counties.

WHEELER GIVES HAND TO MORSE IN DAILY BRICKBAT AT OPA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 19—Sen. Morse [R., Ore.] had help today in tossing his daily senate bouquet to the office of price administration.

MORSE—If the Democratic leadership will join me in running the vacuum cleaner over OPA, we'll get the dust out of them.

SEN. WHEELER [D., Mont.]—They need a house cleaning from top to bottom.

MORSE—I'd start with Director Chester Bowles and send him back to the advertising business. I want a special senate committee to investigate OPA. If we don't have relief by tomorrow afternoon, I'm going to call the matter to the attention of the senate—again.

FOUR DIE IN $40,000 BLAST AT ROCKET POWDER PLANT

Baraboo, Wis., July 19 [Special]—Four workmen were killed tonight in an explosion at the big Badger ordnance plant near here which is engaged in manufacturing rocket powder. Property damage was estimated at $40,000.

The victims were Erwin Pugh, 52, Baraboo; Ellsworth Goff, 31, Abelman; William M. Denny, 45, Green Bay, and Mark E. Sherer, 27, Badger Village, a housing project adjoining the plant.

Col. C. H. Pruden, army official in charge of the $125,000,000 works, said the explosion occurred in the neutralizing house in which nitroglycerin is made. It partially destroyed the house and a pipe line for transferring the nitroglycerin to other buildings.

Admiral Finds Bars of Gold in Nazi's Home

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, July 19—British Rear Adm. Holt today surprised officials of the Danish National Bank by handing over several small paper wrapped parcels, each containing a gold bar. The gold was found hidden in a wardrobe in the villa of the former German plenipotentiary, Werner Best, now the residence of the British admiral.

Stagger Yank Sleeping for 3,000 Mi. Test

Sleeping and waking hours will be staggered—sleeping cars and day coaches will be used in shifts—on a long troop train between an eastern seaport and El Paso, Tex., within the next 48 hours.

This was announced yesterday by F. G. Gurley, president of the Santa Fe railway, after a long distance telephone conference with Champ Carry, executive vice president of the Pullman company. Carry was in Washington, D. C., conferring with war department and office of defense transportation officials on knotty problems that have arisen thru shortage of passenger equipment and extensive east to west troop movements.

All Facilities in Use

Veterans of the war en route from Europe to the Pacific theater will play the roles of guinea pigs in the experiment. On the experimental train making the run of 3,000 miles or more between the Atlantic coast and El Paso, the soldiers' sleeping and waking hours will be so arranged that one-half or one-third of their number will slumber while the remainder ride in day coaches.

Thus, every berth in the train and every coach seat will be constantly occupied.

Carry advised Gurley that Washington officials had decided to try the staggering of sleeping hours on trains after it had been found successful on the Queen Mary, British liner now being used as a troop ship.

Carry was told that the liner could carry several thousand more troops by staggering the sleeping hours so that some slept while others were awake; this plan made it possible to utilize all the space all the time. The Queen Mary recently arrived in New York harbor with its first shipload of more than 15,000 soldiers returning home or being transferred from Europe to the Pacific.

New System to Be Adopted

"If the plan is successful, as it is expected to be on the trains, it undoubtedly will be put into general use at least for troop movements," Gurley said, "and probably kept up until the present war pressure is relieved."

John Farrington, president of the Rock Island Lines, said passenger traffic, which had been declining for several years prior to 1942, had increased 500 per cent since that time. This, he said, was true even before the extensive troop movements of the last few weeks that in one day landed 35,000 soldiers in the port of New York.

SENATE PASSES GLOBAL MONEY SCHEME, 61-16

Bretton Woods Cost to U. S.: 6 Billion

HOW IT WORKS
Explanation of Bretton Woods monetary agreements and senate roll call vote approving of pact are on page 19.

BY WILLIAM MOORE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 19—Majority Leader Barkley [D., Ky.] and his administration forces whooped over passage of the Bretton Woods global finance plan in the senate today by a vote of 61 to 16.

The Democrats stormed roughshod over Republican opposition in the face of a warning from Sen. Taft [R., O.] that their action may skyrocket American costs of postwar help for the world to 22 billion dollars—and wreck this country.

Before a crowd that jammed the galleries, Barkley beat down every attempt to limit American lending, including a last minute move by Taft to send the bill back to the banking and currency committee with instructions that the international bank be eliminated. This would have permitted the United States to join the international monetary fund without joining the world bank.

Provisions of Bill

The bill, already passed by the house, which is expected to concur in senate changes, provides:

Establishment of a $9,100,000,000 dollar world bank, for which the United States is to provide $3,175,000,000 capital. The bank will be administered by a board of 11 foreigners and one American.

Establishment of an international monetary fund of $8,800,000,000, of which the United States will subscribe 2¾ billion dollars, as compared to a British quota of $1,300,000,000, and a Russian quota of $1,200,000,000.

The Republican opposition, led by Taft, was based on two principles.

One was that the world finance plan is unnecessary, since the United States will pay most of the bill anyway and it is already giving global financial aid thru an institution under strictly American management, the Export-Import bank.

Save Power to Bargain!

The other was that even should the Bretton Woods plan eventually be deemed necessary, the United States should conserve its bargaining power at the peace table by declining to adopt the plan now.

Conservation of American bargaining power was demanded in the final dramatic moments before passage from the Democratic side itself when Sen. Chandler [D., Ky.] recalled Woodrow Wilson's dissipation of that bargaining power after the last war and shouted:

"I want Russia in the war against Japan. I want England as fully in the war against Japan as we were in the war against Germany. Money's the only thing we've got left that they need!"

Attacks Both Divisions

Fighting to send the bill back to the committee, Taft attacked both the world bank and the monetary fund, presented by its advocates as a lending fund to stabilize exchange

Asks Abolition of Lend-Lease as 'Senseless'

FOOD NEWS
Congressman calls on United States to borrow sugar from Britain as one way to end shortage; GI Joe tells how to bake loaves of bread by the thousands. Stories on page 13.

Washington, D. C., July 19 (AP)—Immediate abolition of lend-lease was urged today by Rep. Ellis [R., W. Va.].

"Let us stop this senseless operation now," Ellis told the house. "The congress should do this, before we are compelled to do so by an incensed public opinion."

Ellis declared that other nations are taking advantage of the United States under lend-lease. He added:

"The story of our allies in the middle east being swamped with American cigarets, beer, and precious canned goods, while our men were without, is a sickening revelation.

Gas Resold to U. S.

"Gasoline sent them on lend-lease in United States tankers, delivered to the gasoline dumps of our allies in United States trucks, was later purchased by our forces—cash on the barrel head—at excessive prices.

"We pay $1 per head to the French-British company for United States troops passing thru the Suez canal to the far east to drive the Japs out of the possessions of our allies.

"Up until December, 1944, we had delivered $3,523,684,000 in lend-lease to the Mediterranean area. The consumer goods sent to the absolute monarchs, such as in Arabia and Egypt, add to their personal fortune. The goods are sold in the markets.

Other Instances

"Poverty and disease are prevalent and 99 per cent of the population received nothing and know nothing about lend-lease."

There was no immediate comment from lend-lease officials.

The congressman also declared "I was told by a member of our naval affairs committee that several months ago a drouth condition prevailed in Bermuda where they depend completely on rain water. The tankers in which we sent fresh water for their relief were charged $400 per day dockage.

"A sailor told me here in Washington that he was aboard a cruiser which took part in the landing operation in Italy. During the days of preparation he went to the supply ship for flashlight batteries; none was on hand. He went ashore in North Africa and purchased a supply of United States made batteries from a native merchant."

RENO TO BRING DIVORCE SEEKERS IN BY PLANE

Reno, Nev., July 19 (AP)—Inauguration of the Reno Divorce Special—a New York-Reno airplane charter service to sidestep travel restrictions which threaten Reno's divorce business—was announced today.

A. R. Schindler, secretary of the state bar of Nevada and general manager of the Reno Sky ranch, said the service would begin Aug. 1.

Schindler said the sky ranch had purchased one twin-motored six passenger plane for the service and expected two other larger planes to be released for sale within three weeks.

Hot Off the Wires: Steals Sizzling 12-Pound Roast

Salina, Kas., July 19 (AP)—Chet Norton, restaurant owner, thinks the soldier found the smell of fresh roast beef too much for him. Anyway, Norton reported to police, the GI dashed to the kitchen, seized a 12 pound roast—still sizzling in the roaster—and sped up the street, outdistancing the cook who vainly tried to save 144 red points.

TRUMAN HOST AT FIRST BIG 3 STATE DINNER

Churchill and Stalin Attend with Aids

POTSDAM, Germany, July 19 (AP)—President Truman entertained Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill tonight at a state dinner, the first such function of the Big Three conference.

The genial Truman, who has never been one for "high hat" affairs, bowed to the dictates of international diplomacy in allowing the affair to be called a state dinner.

A cheerful host, the President likes his guests to be in good humor. He is known for his wit and has a story telling gift.

Top Diplomats Attend

The top ranking diplomats of the three nations turned out for the dinner, but British Foreign Secretary Eden, who was indisposed, did not attend.

The American delegation was headed by Secretary of State Byrnes, the Russian by Foreign Commissar Molotov.

The Americans attending, besides Byrnes, were Adm. Leahy, Presidential chief of staff; W. Averell Harriman, United States ambassador to Moscow; Edward W. Pauley, chairman of the American section of the allied reparations commission; Joseph E. Davies, special Presidential emissary, and Charles E. Bohlen, state department Russian expert.

Churchill, wearing the fawn colored uniform of the lord warden of Cinque Ports, was accompanied by Prof. Cherwell of Oxford, Clement Atlee, leader of the British Labor party; Alexander Cadogan and Maj. Arthur Birsh, his interpreter.

Truman Wears New Suit

The President wore a new brown suit. Stalin was attired in a light summer gabardine uniform, his only decoration a large star on his left breast. He attended with Molotov, Andrei Vishinsky, deputy peoples commissar for foreign affairs; Andrei Gromyko, soviet ambassador to the United States; S. A. Sobolev, member of the soviet foreign office, and V. M. Pavlov, interpreter.

The guests met President Truman at 8:30 p. m. and went in to dinner 15 minutes later. American army bands played on the lawn, which slopes down to a cameo-like lake in front of the "Little White House."

The dinner at the "Little White House" climaxed a day in which the three leaders presumably met formally for a third time.

The conference is now proceeding under a workmanlike timetable by which the foreign secretaries pass problems on to the Big Three for final decision as soon as they reach some generalized agreement.

Ask Quick Pacific Victory

There was speculation that the President was stressing the necessity of a quick victory in the Pacific, arguing that the sooner Japan falls the sooner the United States can aid in the stabilization of European economy and the reconstruction of shattered industries.

It was officially announced that the three leaders are meeting regularly with their agenda prepared each morning at 11 o'clock by the foreign secretaries. Thus, the burden of the preliminary work falls upon Byrnes, Eden and Molotov.

Just how long the conference might last appeared to be undecided, but it seemed likely it would continue thru most of next week at least.

Observers said the Russians and British apparently had many more proposals to submit than did the American delegation, but that this would be natural since they had more detailed policies concerning European issues.

"It is easy to think how complicated are not only the European, but the world problems that must be discussed and solved. All depends on good will, understanding, and a realistic view on all sides of the deep changes which have occurred in Europe and other continents as a consequence of the historic victory over the dark forces of fascism."

Mr. Truman, keeping up with domestic affairs at his headquarters here, scheduled a conference tomorrow with Gen. Bradley on Bradley's new duties as head of the veterans' administration.

Vision Asiatic Board

LONDON, July 19 (AP)—Possibility that an Asiatic advisory commission—a far eastern counterpart of the European agency which drafted plans for Germany's control and occupation—would emerge from the Big Three conference was seen today in diplomatic quarters.

It was taken for granted here that Russia would seek a seat on such a commission to safeguard soviet interests and influence in the east, regardless of whether Russia changes from a passive to an active ally in the Pacific.

Premier Stalin's recent prolonged conversations with China's Premier T. V. Soong, plus the presence at Potsdam of top-ranking American and British military leaders, offered strong evidence that the Japanese war would be the subject of discussion by all three chiefs of state at this time.

This view appeared to be strengthened by a Moscow radio report that Big Three discussions would not be confined to numerous difficult European problems.

ASKS PRESIDENT KEEP REIN ON LEAGUE ENVOY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 19—Sen. Moore [R., Okla.] called upon the senate today to bar the American representative in the new league of nations from exercising power to take the United States into war.

Moore introduced a senate resolution which would make the American delegate subject to the direction of the President in any vote of the security council on use of military force.

Moore urged that the resolution be adopted before the senate votes on ratification of the international security charter. Chairman Connally [D., Tex.] plans to bring the charter up for ratification on Monday.

In an interview, Moore said the power of declaring war is reserved for congress in the Constitution, and that the Constitution also reserves for the President and congress the authority to use military forces to defend the United States. Hence, Moore said, it would be unconstitutional to delegate the right to send American men into conflict to the American representative in the league.

Moore's resolution also would forbid the American delegate to incur any financial obligations for this country in the league. Moore said this would uphold the constitutional provision that congress alone can authorize withdrawal of money from the federal treasury.

CIGARET BOOST GIVES FRANCE A TOUGH PROBLEM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, July 19—Finance Minister Pleven announced today that he will ask the assembly to vote on the question of whether to give men smokers more cigarets or to let the women have some.

The decision was the result of a controversy arising from news that there will be more cigarets available starting in October. The minister wanted to increase the men's monthly ration from six to eight packages. The opposition, however, demanded that two packs a month be given to women smokers, who now receive none.

Pleven dodged the responsibility by saying he would do whatever the public's representatives decided.

LEOPOLD SAYS HE YIELDED FOR GOOD OF PEOPLE

ST. WOLFGANG, Austria, July 19 (AP)—King Leopold III. of Belgium said today he surrendered himself to the Germans in May of 1940 "because I felt I should stay with my people and also because I felt that with me in Belgium the Germans would rule the country on a military instead of a civilian basis."

"This happened and I believe it was for the best interest of my people," he added.

In an interview with Stars and Stripes reporter Joe Western, the 43 year old monarch also declared that he surrendered his country because it was impossible for it to fight any longer at that time.

Leopold has been criticized for surrendering himself and his forces, Some Belgian groups have demanded that he abdicate.

He told Western today he would not quit the throne until the Belgian people have "a democratic opportunity" to select their own leaders in "a free and honest election."

[The Belgian parliament Wednesday passed a law barring King Leopold from returning to Belgian soil without parliamentary consent.]

"I Have Made Mistakes"

Leopold reiterated that "There is no truth in the evil stories spread in the early years of the war that my surrender was premeditated and pre-arranged with the Nazis."

"I am human and I have made mistakes," he said, "but they were mistakes of method, not of principle.

"I have a clear conscience, which, I believe, cannot be said of many people whom I trusted."

"I surrendered myself with the words, 'I am your prisoner' just like any other soldier," he said.

Treated as War Prisoner

"I was taken to Strobl, Austria, by the Nazis at 8 p. m., June 6, D-day, from a castle at Slaken, near Brussels, where I had been held by the Nazis since the Belgian surrender.

"I was a prisoner of war and I was treated like one."

The interviewer said the king looked harried and did not smile often. He talked slowly and betrayed nervousness by a twitching of his hands.

Leopold emphasized that after his rescue from the Germans he was treated as a "guest" by United States soldiers and was not detained in St. Wolfgang.

WILEY PROTESTS CENSOR'S GAG ON BIG 3 DELEGATES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 19—Complaining that delegates to the Big Three conference at Potsdam are "locked up like indiscreet maidens who might talk too much," Sen. Wiley [R., Wis.] today demanded an end of the "ridiculous" censorship surrounding the conference.

"I have not the slightest doubt," Wiley said in a senate speech, "that if President Truman could have his way there would be no censorship at Potsdam. He has pledged to make no secret commitments. He has nothing to fear from the open truth."

Wiley said the Potsdam censorship was "a ghastly example of dictatorial behavior" and demanded senate action on a resolution he introduced 10 days ago calling for an end of political censorship by the nations allied in the European and Pacific wars.

"Every one can appreciate," said Wiley, "the need for reasonable privacy of the Big Three leaders. No one questions the need for the protection from harm of these men and their highest aids. But we do question why it is necessary to lock up even the technical advisors beyond reach of the press."

Germany's Adults

Toll of war on Germany.

3 WOMEN TO 2 MEN, NAZI GIRLS WOO CAPTORS

6 Million German Men Killed or Lost

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BERLIN, July 19—Three women for every two men will be the ratio among the adults in Germany until the innumerable children who fill the country become of age.

Secret files of the German high command show that as of last Jan. 1, 2,143,616 men were killed and 2,874,511 were "missing" in action, mostly in the battle of Russia. This brings the total of probable dead to more than 5 millions—not including the 1,000,000 estimated by the Germans to have been killed in the battles between last January and May.

44 Million Adults

The significance of these figures becomes apparent when it is remembered that one-third of the German population is under 21 years of age. Consequently, statisticians say, of the 66 millions who live in Germany proper—not including Austria, Sudetenland, and Saarland—only 44 millions are adults. Of the latter, somewhat more than 21 millions were men and fewer than 23 millions were women at the outbreak of war.

Nearly 6 millions lost their lives on the battle field or were counted as lost because the high command was certain they never would survive in the battle of Russia after they were reported missing. This leaves 15 million adult German men as compared with the 23 million German women over 21, or approximately two men for three women.

Nearly 5 Million Wounded

Many of the men who survived were wounded. The high command put their number at 4,879,609 as of last Jan. 1. On the other hand, many prisoners of war are still to be returned home.

Meanwhile, the girls are not banking on returned prisoners and are laying energetic siege to capture the interest of young Americans and Britishers. Many even trudge along patiently, while the men mount guard with guns slung over shoulders, so as to be sure not to miss a chance of getting acquainted.

U.S. GUARDHOUSE BEATINGS LINKED TO FOUR YANKS

BY JAMES SLOAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, July 20 [Friday]—More reports of American guardhouse prisoners being beaten by their American guards appeared in the army newspaper Stars and Stripes this morning as other such charges were being investigated by army authorities.

The army was said to be inquiring into accusations that United States soldiers confined in the guardhouse at the 10th replacement depot in Lichfield were beaten by guards who had received permission from officers. Army authorities were said to be considering placing charges against at least one officer and three enlisted men after a soldier wrote to Stars and Stripes that he was beaten four times and once forced to do "double time against a wall while two jailers held my arms and three beat me."

Quotes Another Soldier

Reporting that the soldier's letter and a number of similar ones had been sent to the inspector general, Stars and Stripes quoted another soldier as writing:

"I also was in the 10th replacement depot guardhouse. I was not beaten but I have seen brutal treatment given our own American prisoners. In December in freezing temperature they ran us into supposedly hot showers then turned on ice cold water. I have also seen guards beat and lash fellows' naked bodies in latrines which were so cold the toilet seats were crusted with a layer of ice. At all times there was more than one guard applying torture.

Punched with Club

"I have also seen soldiers walk humped over for more than a week after being punched in the kidneys with a club. They made some of the fellows try to dig a hole with their teeth. The guards, often drunk, said they had been given this authority by their commanding officer."

Stars and Stripes did not identify the letter writers, but it prints no letters which have not been signed with the correspondent's full name, which is withheld if the writer desires.

BREAK ALTITUDE RECORD IN TEST OF OXYGEN MASK

Burbank, Cal., July 20 (AP)—With a new type pressure oxygen mask, a P-38 Lightning fighter plane has unofficially broken the American altitude record, Lockheed Aircraft corporation said today.

The plane, flown by Joe Towle, chief test pilot, reached a height of 44,940 feet. Col. Randolph Lovelace, chief of the army's aero-medical laboratory at Wright field, O., rode in the piggyback seat.

"We took off in an attempt to test the mask at 45,000 feet," said Towle. "Just 60 feet short of our goal, trouble developed in the outside temperature gauge."

The official previous mark was set at 43,165 feet by a special army plane in 1930. The world's altitude records is 56,046 feet, set by a specially built Italian Caproni plane in 1938.

The test was made April 30, 1943, but kept a secret until today.

BRING HALIFAX ARMS DEPOT FIRE UNDER CONTROL

HALIFAX, N. S., July 19 (AP)—Thousands of evacuees streamed back to their homes tonight as fire fighting units gained control of the great blaze that touched off terrific explosions and a series of lesser blasts at the royal Canadian navy's armament depot near here last night and early today.

The danger that the flames might spread to the main munitions magazine and explode 50,000 depth charges appeared past and Mayor Alan M. Butler told residents in a broadcast tonight that they might return to their homes, including those in the Bedford basin explosion area.

The death toll was placed at two tonight, altho there were reports that several men were missing. The body of a sentry was found and authorities also listed as dead a stoker aboard a barge which was tied up at the depot. About 25 persons were injured, most of them slightly.

U.S. WILL SEEK FULL REPORT ON POLISH PROBLEM

Washington, D. C., July 19 (AP)—The state department promised today to seek full publicity for the Polish situation and reiterated that it stands for self-determination for the Polish people.

Acting Secretary Grew stated the department's position in response to a letter from Sen. Vandenberg [R., Mich.], who said that to him and to millions of other people, the Polish settlement seemed "inadequate and unconvincing."

The questions raised by Vandenberg and the replies given by Grew follow, in brief:

1. Will the Poles themselves have "the final opportunity of untrammeled self-determination under this new provisional government imposed upon them by Britain, Russia, and the United States?"

"Not Imposed on Them"

Reply: Members of the Russian-sponsored Polish government "and other Polish democratic leaders from within Poland and from abroad" agreed on the new "government of national unity." Therefore, "The new government was not imposed upon the Polish people" by the Big Three.

2. Is American responsibility under the Yalta agreement "presumed to have been discharged by the creation of this new provisional government?"

Reply: No. The Yalta agreement provides that the Big Three ambassadors "shall keep their respective governments informed about the situation in Poland."

3. "Will the United States be permitted to send full diplomatic and consular representatives into Poland?"

Seeks Diplomatic Relations

Reply: The Polish government has asked for diplomatic relations and Ambassador Arthur Bliss Lane and aids "are making arrangements to proceed to Warsaw as soon as possible."

4. "Will the American press be permitted to send its uncensored correspondents into Poland?"

Reply: "The United States government will use its full influence" to see to it that American correspondents "be permitted to enter Poland in order that the American public may be informed of the situation in that area." The government likewise is pressing Russia for authorization for American correspondents to enter eastern and southeastern Europe in order to be in a position to report accurately to the American public on developments there."

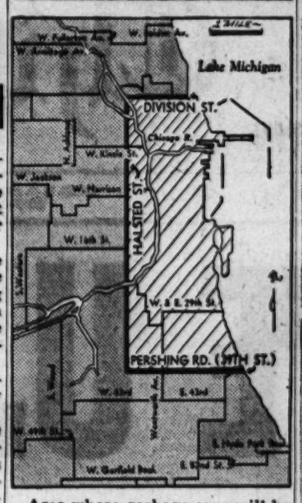
5. Will the United States participate on an equal basis in supervising free elections in Poland "to make certain they are 'free' in fact as well as name?"

Wants a Free Poland

Reply: The United States has been promised by the Polish government that elections will conform with the Yalta decisions. This was one of the vital points of recognition. If it is decided to supervise the elections, the United States will "insist upon its right to participate on an equal basis with the other powers."

Concluding, Grew said that President Truman, like the late President Roosevelt, has called for "a state" as agreed on at Yalta.

Free Garbage Cans



Area where garbage cans will be distributed.

Mayor Kelly said yesterday that the city will distribute 30,000 garbage cans, free of charge, to eligible users in an area bounded by Division st., Halsted st., 39th st., and the lake, as a municipal experiment in refuse collection.

The experiment, he said, is expected to determine what savings can be effected by standard containers and to ascertain the effect upon sanitation and rat control.

The mayor said he has instructed Commissioner of Public Works Hewitt and Commissioner of Streets and Electricity Lloyd M. Johnson to draw up specifications for the cans and advertise for bids. It will be about six months before the containers are available, he estimated.

GEN. M'ARTHUR GREETS M'NUTT IN NICHOLS FIELD

MANILA, July 20 [Friday]—(AP)—Paul V. McNutt, war man power commissioner, arrived today and was greeted at Nichols field by Gen. MacArthur.

The former United States high commissioner to the Philippines, here on an economic and health survey, was accompanied by a staff of health and relief experts.

Philippine political circles professed no knowledge of the exact purposes of McNutt's visit. In some quarters it was thought probable that McNutt might become the first ambassador to the Free Philippines after independence is established.

35 NATIONS FAIL TO PITCH IN FOR UNRRA EXPENSES

U. S. Among 9 Meeting Promised Obligation

Look to U. S.!

LONDON, July 19 [Reuters]—Europe inevitably looks to the United States as its principal source of supply, the Times newspaper said today in an editorial on the work in Europe of the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration. The paper approved "the wise direction of the White House" for the office of war information to give priority to detailed statements of the needs of liberated Europe. The paper added that "the American people are only now beginning to feel the burden."

BY PHILIP DODD
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 19—Only nine of 44 nations which have agreed to contribute to the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration are meeting their obligations, the congressional joint economy committee was told today as it opened an investigation of UNRRA operations.

According to the UNRRA agreement, each of the participating nations was to contribute or make available at least 1 per cent of its estimated 1943 national income. Nations thus far complying are Australia, Brazil, Canada, Costa Rica, Iceland, New Zealand, Panama, the United Kingdom, and the United States, the committee was told.

Today's witness was Roy F. Hendrickson, deputy director general of UNRRA, who was closeted with the committee for a two hour closed session. Sen. Byrd [D., Va.], committee chairman, told reporters he intends to find out whether UNRRA is limiting its work to relieving human distress or whether it is trying to raise living standards thruout the world.

Get Huge Volume of Fats

"Relief is what UNRRA was organized for," Byrd said, "and it was on that understanding congress agreed to furnish 1 billion 350 million dollars. This committee intends to determine by what standards UNRRA is distributing these funds. We believe it is a very vital question."

Current shortages of fats and oils in the United States can be partially explained by statistics given the committee by Hendrickson, Byrd said. All of the lard, margarine, and soybean oil and 75 per cent of the soap, distributed by UNRRA has been supplied by the United States, Hendrickson's figures showed.

Lard was the largest item in the list, 56,635,000 pounds. This country supplied 1,235,000 pounds of margarine, 9,280,000 pounds of soybeans for oil, and 926,834 pounds of soybean salad oil. Soap from this country totaled 8,351,800 pounds, while Canada supplied 3,262,800 pounds.

Farm machinery distributed by UNRRA thru June 30 also was heavily supplied by the United States. It included 9,630 farm tractors under 30 horse power, 4,600 over 30 horse power, and 9,451 tractor plows. Great Britain was reported to have supplied 1,500 light tractors and 8,500 tractor plows, and Canada 500 tractors and 504 tractor plows.

Duplication Scanned

Hendrickson gave no explanation of where Great Britain obtained such quantities of farm equipment, altho one committee member suggested "maybe the stuff was lend-leased to them and they gave it away." England also was reported to have contributed 30,000 walking plows and Canada 4,084, but the United States none.

Byrd said the committee also is investigating the possibility that UNRRA is duplicating relief being furnished by the United States army. He said the army has been feeding 8 million persons in France, Germany, Belgium, and Holland, and that UNRRA's operations so far have been in Italy, Greece, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, and North Africa, with Poland soon to be added to its area.

The army, Byrd said, thru May 31, had spent $447,712,000 of a 562 million dollars relief fund as follows: $199,759,000 in the Mediterranean area, $223,879,000 in northwest Europe, and $24,074,000 in the Pacific area.

Tito Wants UNRRA Help

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, July 19 [Reuters]—Marshal Joseph Tito has received Vlasco Sergeichik, Russian chief of the UNRRA mission to Yugoslavia, it was reported today. The marshal said UNRRA supplies are wanted in the next few months and emphasized the need of transport to enable supplies to be distributed.

SENATORS HEAR POLITICS FORCED CHENNAULT OUT

Patterson Questioned on Retirement

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 19—Charges of "army politics" were bandied as the senate committee on military affairs today heard explanations by the army high command in what is becoming known as the "Chennault affair."

Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault recently resigned as commander of the 14th United States army air force in China, when Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer was promoted over his head to take command of all army air forces in China.

With the slender resources furnished him, Chennault had performed miracles in air operations against the Japs in the Chinese theater. He was superseded just when tremendous reenforcement of the American air forces in that region was making possible the realization of the program he had nursed for several years.

Patterson Questioned

Sen. Ellender [D., La.], from whose state Chennault comes, demanded an investigation, saying he would like to know whether army politics favoring West Point graduates over reserve officers had anything to do with the treatment of Chennault. At his instance the military affairs committee called in War Undersecretary Patterson and Lt. Gen. Ira Eaker, deputy chief of the air force, and inquired into the matter behind closed doors.

Patterson had only a vague knowledge of the incident but stoutly maintained that the shift in command was "wholly military and according to plans." He denied that army politics was involved. Eaker made a similar denial and asserted that "only military considerations were involved in the change."

Sen. Ellender, who attended the closed session, urged Patterson and Eaker to do all that is possible to make use of the services of Chennault in China "where he has done so much with so little."

Seek Chennault's Version

The committee decided to ask Chennault to give his version of the affair when he returns from China.

"Gen Chennault is not a graduate of West Point," Sen. Ellender said. "It has often been said that the graduates of the Point look down upon our reserve officers and those who have been promoted from the ranks. I'd like to know why he was passed over when West Pointer Stratemeyer got his third star recently. I'd like to know if the West Point reservist stuff played any part in it. They say he resigned because of ill health. I'd like to know if his health suddenly changed. I'd like to know what the effect of his resignation will be on the war effort in China.

"I think myself that he quit in anger over the change in command and I'd like to get at all the facts, not only because of the effect on him but because of the possible effect on others."

Records Compared

Ellender thought that an examination of the records would show that reserve officers have won a higher percentage of citations for heroism and merit than have graduates of West Point and Annapolis in this war.

"That's why I am opposed to the expansion of West Point and Annapolis," he said. "I think we should look to the training of reserve officers for our future army and navy officer personnel."

There has been a mounting complaint by reserve officers that the West Pointers are wangling promotions that are denied reserve officers. The West Point clique has been dubbed by the reservists as the W. P. P. A., the West Point Protective association.

GOURMET ENVOY TO FRANCE FINDS HE'S ON A SPOT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, July 18 [Delayed]—One of the Big Three ambassadors in Paris was among 200 diners at a high priced restaurant in the Bois de Boulogne whom the food ministry's economic police recently rounded up as they were finishing their lobster thermidor and waiters were bringing up the chicken. The French authorities, as diplomatic as the professional diplomats, declined to specify the name or nationality of the ambassadorial gourmet. All they would say was that the company of black market diners included one allied ambassador whose native tongue is English.

The anonymous envoy was the only diplomat among 5,503 restaurant patrons picked up by the Paris police since the first of the year—tho two French judges were nabbed as they were eating illegal food.

LONDON HEARS U. S. MAY DROP ENVOY WINANT

LONDON, July 19 (AP)—Diplomatic quarters heard reports today that John G. Winant might be replaced as the United States ambassador to London soon after President Truman returns to Washington, D. C., from Potsdam, Germany. One informant said Winant, former Republican governor of New Hampshire, might be offered a post as American representative on the economic control of the new world security league. It was noted that Winant was not included in the list of Presidential advisers for the Potsdam conference.

TICONDEROGA'S SKIPPER TELLS HOW SHE WAS HIT

BY CARL WIEGMAN

Japan has no powerful air force "up her sleeve" to defend herself against an American invasion. If she had such a force there would be no better time to use it than during the current American attacks on her main bases and cities.

This opinion was expressed yesterday by Commodore Dixie Kiefer, commanding officer of the aircraft carrier Ticonderoga when that ship was struck by two Japanese suicide planes last Jan. 21 near Formosa. The navy disclosed yesterday that the carrier suffered 337 casualties—144 killed and missing, 193 wounded—and terrific damage in the attack, but has been repaired and is now back in action.

Commodore Kiefer, who was wounded in more than 65 places by bomb fragments but continued for 12 hours to direct his ship, still has his right arm in a cast because of a 10 inch wound. However, he is back on duty as commanding officer of the naval air station at Quonset Point, R. I., and of all the naval air stations in the 1st naval district.

Suicide Planes No Surprise

The commodore, a ruddy faced, balding, chunky bachelor of 49, who smiles almost continually, was in Chicago for a radio appearance. In an interview at the Ambassador hotel he told the story of the attack on his ship and expressed his views on Jap tactics.

"I believe the Japs have offered little air resistance to our recent attacks because their air force has been so battered it has no airplanes left to go out," he said. "And until they get factories operating inland or in Manchuria, the number of planes they will be able to put into the air will be small."

Commodore Kiefer said the Japs' use of suicide planes was no surprise to the navy.

"We expected them from the beginning of the war," he continued, "and the only thing we couldn't understand was why they waited so long before using them. It is impossible to maneuver away from an airplane that is steered into your ship. The Japs can get four or five times as many hits per bomb used in suicide planes than they get thru normal dive bombing or horizontal bombing."

Down Four Suicide Planes

When the bombs hit the Ticonderoga, the ship was preparing for a strike, and had only six of its planes in the air. The Japs sent six suicide planes to make the attack, but four of them were shot down.

Two bombers got thru, and the first crashed thru the flight deck, its bombs exploding between the gallery deck and the hangar deck which was packed with aircraft.

"The second bomber saw he couldn't hit the flight deck, and crashed his plane and bomb load into the superstructure," Kiefer, who was a captain at the time, related. "The bomb exploded about 35 feet aft and 10 feet above where I was standing on the bridge. A quartermaster put a tourniquet on my arm to stanch the flow of blood.

"He happened to be a boy that I had to 'break' [reduce in rank] a few days earlier because of an infraction of rules. As he bandaged me I told him I was sorry about having to break him, and he said, 'O, that's all right, captain, I had it coming to me.'"

Directs Fire Fighting

A mattress was brought to the bridge, and the captain lay on it until midnight, directing the fighting of the fire which swept the ship. He told the fleet to stay clear, kept the ship down wind to prevent smoke from obscuring the bridge, and ordered airplanes in the after portion to be jettisoned to provide space for fire fighting. Then he ordered the flooding of compartments on the port side of the ship to give it a 12 degree list, and with this maneuver dumped thousands of gallons of flaming gasoline and water into the sea.

In this way, the fire was controled before the carrier's own bombs started to explode from the effects of heat. At midnight the wounded captain walked 11 decks to the sick bay to receive medical treatment.

"The doctors first counted 65 holes in me, but later they added them up to about 90," he said. "Flakes of the bombs are still coming out of me."

The heroism and competence displayed by his crew illustrates how well America's navy men, newly recruited from civilian life, are performing in action, the commodore emphasized.

"Seventy-five per cent of the members of my crew had never been to sea before they went out on the Ticonderoga when she was commissioned in May of 1944, he said. "Less than 5 per cent of the officers were regular navy men. But before the ship was hit we had be credited with sinking 31 Jap ships."

ONE YEAR MAKES GUAM GREATER THAN SINGAPORE

Navy Tells of Gigantic Building Strides

GUAM, July 19 (AP)—The island of Guam has been transformed in a year into the most powerful bastion in the Pacific.

American marines and soldiers stormed the beaches of this Marianas Island on July 21, 1944, to wrest it from the Japanese who had seized it four days after the war began. The navy disclosed today what has been accomplished in making this once almost undefended base into a fortress greater than Singapore.

In the year, including the 21 days required to take back the island, the navy has:

Constructed eight air fields, including three strips from which B-29 bombers s rike at Tokyo. So great is this island ai base its planes use 15,000,000 gallons of gasoline a month. Agana air field is the hub of the air transport system in the Pacific. It is as large as the large municipal air stations in the United States. Harmon field, a gigantic bomber repair and maintenance base, has greater maintenance facilities than Hickam field in Honolulu, T. H.

Harbor Becomes Great Port

Virtually completed the largest dredging job in the world, the removal of 6,000,000 cubic yards of coral, to turn Apra harbor into the largest forward military port in the world.

Constructed 150 miles of highways, including 40 miles of paved highways. One is a four lane road running the length of the island on the west coast.

Stepped up a building program that uses 12,000,000 board feet of lumber a month.

Constructed lumber mills that produce 50,000 board feet a week.

150 Movies Outdoors

Established a 62 building naval medical research unit, the only one of its kind in the world. Forty-four officers-scientists under Capt. Thomas M. Rivers, director of New York's Rockefeller hospital of the Rockefeller institute work on secret medical experiments.

Constructed 150 outdoor movie houses, 36 base ball diamonds, 125 softball fields, 200 outdoor basketball courts, 388 volleyball courts, 400 horse shoe pitching courts and 66 recreation buildings for service men.

Established 15 schools, including one high school, and constructed five villages to take care of 8,500 civilians whose homes were destroyed by bombing or artillery fire or were required for military purposes.

AUSSIES SEIZE SAMBODJA, EAST BORNEO OIL AREA

MANILA, July 20 [Friday]—(AP)—Australian troops in a five mile thrust seized the rich Sambodja oil fields Wednesday and the refining center of the same name without a fight, it was announced today.

The Australians quickly spread over the oil field, one of the three major producing areas of eastern Borneo and pressed Japanese forces deeper inland, Gen. MacArthur's war bulletin said.

Fires roared in various parts of the field as the veteran 7th Australian division drove northward into the oil producing region.

The general condition of the wells was not known. Sambodja, with a normal population of 1,500, is 28 miles northeast of Balikpapan.

West of Balikpapan across the bay, Australian troops knocked out a platoon of Japanese and occupied the village of Sapari, five and a half miles west of Cape Penadjam. The cape is three miles west of Balikpapan.

ASK BRITAIN PAY WORKERS' WAGES TO UNEMPLOYED

BLACKPOOL, England, July 18 (AP)—A new industrial charter under which the government would pay unemployed workers the same basic wage as those with jobs was proposed by Ernest Bevin, former minister of labor in Prime Minister Churchill's coalition government.

Details of the proposal were presented in the form of a resolution adopted at the closing session of the Transport and General Workers union conference here.

Enemy Smashed Back by Chinese

CHINESE PLUS U.S. FLYERS CAN WHIP JAPAN—CHIANG

CHUNGKING, China, July 19 (AP).—In the first interview he ever granted an American soldier, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek told Sgt. Walter E. Peters of Yank magazine that he believed a huge American land offensive in China would not be necessary to defeat Japan.

"Given proper equipment and supplies, the Chinese army—together with a strong American air force—can defeat the Japanese on the continent," Peters quoted the generalissimo as saying.

Peters wrote that he told Chiang there was an impression among Americans in China that Chiang had said one Chinese soldier was equal to three Americans.

"It is an erroneous impression," Peters quoted Chiang as declaring. "The United States soldier is much better equipped. I hold much admiration for the great accomplishments of the American soldiers. The point I wanted to bring out was that where it takes $10 for one United States soldier, only $1 is necessary for ours."

Puerto Rican Troops Begin Work at Manila

MANILA, P. I., July 19 (AP)—The first contingent of Puerto Rican service troops to arrive in the Pacific has landed in Manila, United States army headquarters has announced. More than 200 men of the 4,343d quartermaster service company, who had received basic training near San Juan, were assigned to unload war supplies.

Two Day Battle

CHUNGKING, China, July 19 (AP).—Thirteen hundred Japanese troops, striking across the Indo-China border in three columns, have been smashed back by Chinese defenders in a two day battle, the Chinese high command announced today.

Aided by Indo-Chinese puppets, the Japanese attacked last Saturday from Tra Linh, two miles south of the frontier, driving at three towns in China. But by Monday all had been knocked back across the border, a war bulletin said. The battle raged at points south, southwest, and southeast of Tsingsi.

In China, Chinese forces seized a point 14 miles northwest of the airbase city of Kweilin on Tuesday and pressed on toward the city, the high command said. Kweilin's fall is "imminent," said a Central news dispatch from Yungning quoting Gen. Chang Fah-kwei, commander in Kwangsi province.

In new actions along the China coast, the high command said Japanese forces fighting from Amoy toward Swatow had captured Yunsiao, road junction 60 miles northeast of Swatow, and then had pushed on another six miles against Chinese opposition. But Japanese remnants 20 miles northeast, near Changpu, were being mopped up, it added.

300 U. S. Planes Meet One Jap; It's His Finish

OKINAWA, July 15 [Delayed] (AP)—One Japanese interceptor was encountered by 300 Ryukyus-based bombers and fighters today. Capt. Robert Mittelstadt, Eau Claire, Wis., downed the plane.

HUGE SHANGHAI AIR BASE BOMBED FROM OKINAWA

MANILA, July 20 [Friday]—(AP)—The Kiangwan airdrome in China, just outside the northern limits of Shanghai, was hit with 290 tons of bombs in a record raid on that sector Tuesday by Okinawa-based tactical planes, Gen. MacArthur announced today.

At Kiangwan airdrome the Japanese have built four concrete bomber runways, two fighter strips, 15 major hangars and many shops, barracks and storage dumps to accommodate their largest aircraft concentration in China.

The 7th air force Mitchells, Liberators and new A-26 attack bombers, escorted by 50 Thunderbolt fighters, dropped their bombs thru a heavy cloud cover which prevented accurate observations of results. One Liberator exploded from unknown causes.

Hit Second Airdrome

The bombers of the 7th air force and their escorting fighters started fires at Tinghai airdrome, at the mouth of Hangchow bay, south of Shanghai, damaged installations on a near-by island, and swept south for attacks on enemy shipping off Taishan Island.

One plane was lost on the raid and another was listed as missing.

MacArthur announced that other planes temporarily severed rail communications between the munitions and submarine manufacturing center of Kagosmima and the rest of Kyushu, southernmost Japanese main island.

Seal Off Rail Tunnels

The attacks sealed off two vital rail tunnels northwest and southwest of the port city of 180,000 population. A third tunnel was damaged and the harbor area of the city itself was strafed, damaging railroad cars, trucks, and shipping.

Near Miyazaki on the east coast of Kyushu numerous small vessels were damaged, and fires were set in the dock areas. A 10,000 ton freighter was destroyed off Amami Island in the northern Ryukyus by 12 direct bomb hits.

Seventh fleet planes ranged down the Asiatic coast, destroying or damaging 27 small cargo vessels and sinking a freighter-transport off Hainan Island at night. Planes of the same force set fire to storage facilities and hit motor transport near Canton.

HOW CHICAGOAN SAVED WOUNDED MAN AT SAIPAN

SOMEWHERE IN THE PACIFIC [Delayed]—How Pvt. Nofeo Nuzzo of 611 E. 144th st., Dolton, braved burning gasoline, the sea, and an enemy artillery barrage to save a wounded fellow marine on D-day at Saipan was disclosed recently when Nuzzo received the navy and marine corps medal.

"After the initial run in to the beach, the amphibian tractor in which Pvt. Nuzzo was a crewman picked up a wounded infantry man for evacuation to a hospital ship," the citation read.

"Going seaward, the tractor was hit and sunk by heavy enemy artillery fire from the beach. Using several life belts as a raft, he helped keep the wounded man afloat for nearly three hours before being rescued by another tractor. He received severe gasoline burns from escaped fuel floating on the water."

MARSEILLE PORT CHIEF TO GO ON DUTY IN PACIFIC

MARSEILLE, France—Lt. Col. Thomas S. Lowry has been relieved of duty as port operations director with the 6th port and assigned to duty with a unit that is leaving soon for the Pacific operations area. He has been in charge of all shipping in Marseille harbor.

Lt. Col. Lowry, who lives at 2233 Marston lane, Flossmoor, Ill., was commissioned a first lieutenant on May 25, 1942. He arrived overseas at Belfast, Northern Ireland, in July, 1942, and has served in North Africa, Italy, and southern France. He wears the Legion of Merit and has five battle stars.

[Lt. Col. Lowry was praised by a commanding general for his part in making it possible for Liberty ships to dock at Marseille 16 days after allied troops entered the city.]

CHINA URGED TO SETTLE ITS RED QUARREL

CHUNGKING, China, July 19 (AP)—A resolution favoring postponement of a scheduled meeting of the national assembly on Nov. 12, called to introduce a constitutional government in China, was adopted unanimously today by the People's Political council. The resolution suggested the session be put off until not later than the end of this year.

The same resolution urged that the government of China exert the utmost effort to achieve a settlement with the Chinese Communists for the sake of national unity. It also requested the immediate granting of civil liberties to the people.

The resolution requires the approval of the central executive committee of the Kuomintang before it can be put into effect.

Free 2 Minutes

Leonard Heponiemi, 23, who faces deportation to his native Finland, escaped yesterday from the Bridewell, but was recaptured two minutes later by two alert guards.

He fashioned a rope from knotted bedding, and lowered himself from the roof of a two story cell block, then ran across the Bridewell yard, and vaulted over the fence on California av. Charles Garrity and Thomas McInerney, guards on their way to work, saw him, and nabbed him on the grounds of the W. W. Kimball Piano company, 2611 S. California av.

Heponiemi, whose address was given as 321 N. Central av., also is known as Hekonium. He was working out a $200 fine for disorderly conduct imposed April 16. He is scheduled for release July 30. However, he is to be detained on an immigration deportation warrant. Federal authorities said he came to America as a merchant seaman in 1943, overstayed his leave, and was arrested in Detroit. He escaped from jail there by means of bedsheets, enlisted in the army, went AWOL, and was discharged without honor.

MOUNTBATTEN VISITS 3 DAYS WITH M'ARTHUR

MANILA, P. I., July 15 [Delayed] —(AP)— Adm. Mountbatten, allied east Asia commander, and his staff returned to India by air today after a three day conference with Gen. MacArthur which was officially announced as intended "to arrange complete coördination between their respective commands."

Mountbatten spent several hours with MacArthur and also visited Gen. Krueger, Adm. Kincaid, Gen. Kenney, and Lt. Gen. Whitehead, commander of the 5th air force, and received a call from Lt. Gen. Eichelberger. He also exchanged visits with President Osmena.

ENGLAND O. K.'S USE OF METALS FOR YULE TOYS

LONDON, July 19 (AP)—A merrier Christmas for toy hungry British children was in prospect today as the result of an increase in toy manufacturing quotas by the board of trade and the lifting of a war time ban on the use of metal in toys. Some manufactures, however, questioned whether boosting the quota from 25 to 37.5 per cent of the 1939 output would help much because, they said, no more materials were made available. The same applies to leather and photographic goods, for which quotas were increased from 12.5 to 25 per cent of 1939 output.

NEWS HUNGRY MANILA HAS 23 DAILY PAPERS

27 Weeklies Also Circulate Thru City

BY ROBERT CROMIE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

MANILA, P. I., July 19—This battered capital city, whose pre-war population was about 700,000, now is supporting 23 daily newspapers with a combined circulation of 120,000, as well as 22 weekly papers, magazines, or "specialized" periodicals.

In addition, the news hungry Filipinos and Yanks have available a free daily paper published under the joint auspices of general headquarters, the office of war information, and the psychological warfare branch, as well as the overseas editions of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, New York Times, Newsweek, and Time magazine.

Capt. John L. Cross Jr., head of the civilian news section, said there are 51 periodicals printed in the Philippines, not including American publications or papers printed for the exclusive use of the armed forces. Thirty-three of these are in English, 10 in Chinese, two in Spanish, and six in Tagalog, which may become the official national language after Philippine independence is granted.

Nearly All Are Tabloids

Nearly all are tabloid size, with the largest single circulation being about 12,000 daily. Prices range from 10 centavos [5 cents] for daily papers to 50 centavos [25 cents] for magazines.

In addition to the dailies there are such publications as Songs and Movies, Swing and Rhythm, Shopping Guide, and Philippine Foreign Affairs Review. There are even new magazines printing only American comics.

Capt. Cross said the present supply of newsprint—which was hidden during Jap occupation—is sufficient to meet basic needs for several months, after which it is hoped there will be an added supply from the United States.

One of the most pleasant things about the press situation here is the fact that the only censorship is that imposed by American military authorities on purely military grounds. There is no censorship whatever by the Philippines government, which has issued a statement that newspapers may print any criticism of governmental officials they see fit.

Post Has Four Pages

Today's Manila Post, a four page tabloid selling for 20 centavos, is typical of the better publications.

Its five column line reads, "Shelling Continues." The main story is on the third naval bombardment of Japan.

Page one also contains stories of appointments to the Supreme court, a plan for speedy rebuilding of the University of the Philippines, and two dispatches from Washington dealing with the Philippines.

The two inside pages are given over to numerous small advertisements and news items, including eight from an American press association. On the back page there are more advertisments, a story of a Filipino whose homemade liquor killed one of his countrymen and blinded another, and an editorial demanding that the government set a date for national elections.

SUB SITS UNDER JAPAN'S FLEET; BLASTS CARRIER

SAIPAN, Marinanas Islands, July 2, 1944 [Delayed in censorship]—(AP)—Roving the far western Pacific, and American submarine ran into one of the strangest naval adventures of the war when she encountered the major part of the Japanese imperial fleet and torpedoed a large enemy carrier.

Most of the enemy ships passed over her one night as she lay in the depths and counted the whirring of their screws.

Told by Skipper

The story of the 48 hour experience of the submarine was told here today by the sub's young skipper, Lt. Comdr. Herman J. Kossler, 32, of Los Angeles.

Twice the submarine had a bead on a big Japanese carrier, but the first time she withheld her torpedoes because she wanted to keep her presence a secret from the enemy, and relay information about the Japanese fleet to fleet headquarters.

"She looked as big as the Empire State building, and we had a perfect setup on that carrier," Kossler said.

"I feel sure we could have hit her. But I hadn't heard of that Jap force being around, so I thought our primary task was to get back the word about it—to report rather than to attack. It was a tough decision to make."

Fires at Carrier

This time the sub got off her torpedoes.

"She was heading into the wind, taking on her planes," Kossler related. "There were 30 or 40 on board, and four to go. I almost fainted—it was such a beautiful target. In broad daylight.

"We headed in on her. At first I thought it might be one of our own carriers. I let my executive and gunnery officers look at her. All agreed it was Japanese. Then we saw the rising sun flag on her. We were sure. Meantime, a Jap destroyer kept coming for us.

"We fired torpedoes. The first three hit. Depth charges started jarring us as we dived. There were a lot. They kept coming for a long time.

"There Goes the Carrier"

"Then we heard loud water noises in the direction we had made our attack—four loud explosions. 'There goes the carrier—sinking,' I said."

Later the sub surfaced and found no sign of the carrier. The navy put it down as a probable, but Kossler is convinced he sank it.

Kossler, one of the best third basemen the naval academy at Annapolis ever had, was graduated in 1934, and took his first submarine training in 1937. He was an officer on the famed submarine Guardfish which earlier in the war stood off Japan so closely that its officers watched Japanese horse races thru the periscope.

July 20—Union Army Defeats Hood

John B. Hood, the 33 year old Confederate general who in mid-July, 1864, was given the desperate assignment of stopping Sherman before the south should lose the great arsenal and communications city of Atlanta, Ga., struck his first blow 81 years ago today at Peach Tree creek.

His predecessor, Gen. Joseph E. Johnston, whom President Davis had removed from command because of his apparent inability to stem the Union advance, had intended to put up a stiff fight north of Atlanta along the line of this little stream. He confided his strategy to Hood, who on July 20 saw a chance for a telling stroke.

Gen. George H. Thomas, commanding the Union Army of the Cumberland, was bringing his troops across the creek and necessarily had isolated himself temporarily from the rest of the northern forces, who were away executing other phases of Sherman's large scale plan for the envelopment of Atlanta and the destruction of the Confederate army.

Hood ordered an assault on the Union line for 1 p. m., by which time he calculated that the enemy would not have had opportunity to throw up defensive works. Everything went wrong. According to Gen. William J. Hardee, a subordinate of Hood the latter had given vague and incorrect orders and had himself been absent from the field. Hood said Hardee was negligent.

Wherever the blame lay, the attack was three hours late. The Confederates hurled themselves noisily and violently against the Union forces—but all in vain. There was a sharp two hour battle, but the southerners were beaten off and Thomas completed his advance across the creek and brought his forces into contact with the Army of the Ohio and the Army of the Tennessee in the very environs of Atlanta.

As Hood's first stroke had failed, so his whole campaign failed. He evacuated Atlanta Sept. 2.

COURT APPROVES $15,000 VERDICT FOR ALIENATION

Judge Charles A. Williams in Superior court yesterday denied a motion for a new trial for Anthony Skurdialis, 45, of 4520 S. Francisco av., and upheld a $15,000 verdict returned by a jury in favor of Charles Zaremba, 50, who charged Skurdialis with alienation of Mrs. Zaremba's affections.

A. Skurdialis

Skurdialis was taken to the County jail, where he will remain for six months or until he pays the damages assessed. Zaremba's attorney, Sol R. Friedman, said his client has made the first week's payment of $3.50 for Skurdialis' board.

Skurdialis' attorney, Herbert M. Metzel, said he would ask Judge Williams today for a writ of habeas corpus. He contended the verdict violated a state law prohibiting the filing of alienation suits.

BUENOS AIRES POSTERS ATTACK WALL STREET

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, July 19 (AP)—Hundreds of posters appeared on the streets of this city today advertising a memorial mass-meeting for victims of a recent Chilean copper mine fire and denouncing "wall street imperialism."

The posters were construed by many here as an attack on United States Ambassador Spruille Braden inasmuch as the name of the Chilean firm—Braden Cooper company—was featured in the advertising.

The posters proclaimed "Braden means exploitation and crime in Chile." The company was owned formerly by the ambassador's father but no members of the family have interests in the property now.

CHICAGO HERO OF LUZON WINS MEDAL OF HONOR

Girl Tells of Wedding That Cannot Be

BY RITA FITZPATRICK

Pvt. Manuel Perez

The story of how he sacrificed his life for his regiment and wiped out 75 Japs single handed was told for the first time in a dispatch from the hot, dry slopes south of Manila where the 11th air borne division in full dress paid tribute to him.

The scrappy little fighter, who twisting and ducking beneath heavy fire threw dozens of hand grenades into strong enemy pillboxes on the approaches to Fort McKinley, is Pvt. Manuel Perez, formerly of 1125 S. Racine av. When he had finished his one-man attack, he defended himself with rifle and bayonet against the remnant Japs. The rubble of 12 pillboxes and 75 dead Japanese gave mute testimony to his bravery.

The story brought tears to the eyes of pretty Mary Torres, 18, of 1142 S. Ashland av., his fiancee, last evening.

"People may not think that I have much to remember him by, just a shell necklace, a tiny diamond, and a few hundred letters," she murmured. "But I have proud memories that very few girls will ever have in a lifetime."

Memories of Bravery

The memories will include how this recklessly brave paratrooper died from a sniper's bullet in his chest a month later on another front while protecting the withdrawal of his advanced patrol.

Perez' heroism in his great attack against the Japs was described by Sgt. Max Polick of Medina, N. Y., who was in the same battle.

"We covered him with fire, and he ran from one pillbox to another tossing grenades into ports and knocking out guns," Polick related. "All along the line our men were being hit by heavy explosive slugs. "Then he tossed a couple of grenades into a port. There was a hell of a blast. He climbed to the top of a bunker then and dropped white phosphorus grenades down the vent. When the grenades exploded Perez turned around and looked at us grinning."

That was typical of her sweetheart, Miss Torres said. For the three years she had known him, Manuel had been a cheerful, happy-go-lucky fellow who would only fight when he or his loved ones were insulted, she insisted. In his letters he had repeated how he wanted to come back to Chicago when the war was over to her and his aunt, Mrs. Emily Perez, of 3511 Roosevelt rd.

For Her Wedding Dress

"He was to bring home his parachute for my wedding dress," she remarked wistfully. "He was always thinking of what would bring happiness to others and I guess that is why he died."

The two met while Manuel was working for a Chicago food warehouse. It was at a wedding. A handsome couple, they were constant companions until he was drafted in January, 1943.

Along with Perez, the 11th air borne division yesterday paid tribute to 18 officers and men, living and dead, whose bravery was recorded in the Philippine campaign.

Distinguished service medals were awarded posthumously to two other Illinois men, Maj. Charles P. Loeper of 1019 Normal av., Chicago, and Pvt. Joe R. Siedenburg of Pecatonica. During the ceremony, men of the 11th parachute maintenance company jumped from a low level near the field. They were led by 1st Lt. James W. Watson of 5933 Erie st., Chicago.

BARRETT URGES AMENDMENT TO BAN 3D TERMS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Springfield, Ill., July 19—Atty. Gen. George F. Barrett today indorsed the new campaign of the Republican party to outlaw Presidential third terms. He said recent events have exposed forever the fallacy of the Democrats' campaign theme songs of the "indispensable man" and "don't swap horses in the middle of the stream."

"I believe congress in the fall should make its chief business the launching of a constitutional amendment to limit Presidential tenure to two terms," Barrett said. "If congress fails to act, then legislature of the state should initiate such a movement.

"Voters of the nation harkened to the dire predictions of what might occur if a change in the office of chief executive was made during war time. Fate has taken a hand. The fourth term ended abruptly. A new President has taken office, yet the war and the business of the federal government have gone forward without a hitch."

BRITISH TROOPS DRENCHED BY BURMA MONSOON

WITH THE BRITISH IN BURMA, July 19 [Reuters]—The worst deluge of two monsoons has hit Burma. The skies burst yesterday and rain lashed the battle fields for 18 hours.

Foxholes became ponds, rivers rose, ditches filled, and jeep tracks disappeared, as did men's ankles and knees under a cold lava of mud. Soldiers soaked to the skin crawled under trees, under huts of bamboo and matting, tin roofs, and pagodas seeking shelter from the torrent. The men are wisecracking about the issue of Noah's ark.

Chicago Pre-Med Student Saves a Life Off Japan

IN THE MARIANAS—Robert R. Henn, aerial gunner, 7323 Bennett av., Chicago, saved the life of the pilot of a navy Ventura bomber in a battle with two Jap picket boats off the Jap coast. A shell had wounded the pilot. Henn, who had been a pre-medical student at Purdue university, helped him to the waist section of the plane and administered first aid and morphine.

BEG YOUR PARDON

Police Chief James T. Duane of Phoenix, Ariz., has objected to a headline in THE TRIBUNE on June 29 over a story concerning Phoenix treating youngsters to a free movie during which authorities inspected their bicycles and found 469 unsafe for use. The headline said "Police Pull a Dirty One on Younger Generation." Chief Duane said the event was part of a local safety campaign and in no way a "double cross."

DURKIN MURDER TERM NEAR END; U. S. CELL WAITS

Martin Durkin, spectacular bandit of 20 years ago, will be released from Stateville prison Aug. 5 after serving nearly 19 years of a 35 year sentence for the murder of Edward C. Shanahan, federal agent, in Chicago.

Martin Durkin

The release date was noted yesterday by Joseph Tobin, chief deputy United States marshal, who has a detainer to take Durkin from Stateville gates to a federal prison to serve 11 years for violations of the Dyer act covering interstate driving of a stolen automobile.

The Dyer act sentences were imposed by the late Federal Judge Adam C. Cliff and the detainer was placed on Durkin when he went to prison for murder. Durkin, contending that Judge Cliff had not intended he should serve these terms if he was punished for the murder, petitioned the District court last April 6 to remove the detainer. A motion to dismiss the petition, which is pending before Judge Michael L. Igoe, will be made next week, Assistant United States Atty. Kenneth Nathan said.

Letters Between British King and Petain Revealed in Paris

PARIS, July 19 [Reuters]—Letters said to have been exchanged between King George VI. and Marshal Petain are mentioned tonight by the Paris paper France Soir in an article by Gernard Valery.

On Oct. 25, 1940—the day after Petain's fateful meeting with Hitler at Montoire, when the policy of collaboration was agreed upon—Petain received a letter from King George, says the article, assuring the marshal that Britain would fight thru to victory and that the French people would share the fruits of that victory.

[Official quarters in London stated today that a message—not a letter—was sent from the king to Marshal Petain. It reached him thru the British embassy in Madrid.]

Petain's Reply

Petain replied to the letter, the article states, in these terms:

"Your majesty's letter has had my full attention. The French people, after having fought side by side with British people, have profoundly resented the aggressions by the British navy of which our country has on several occasions been the object, as well as the support the British government has accorded to rebel Frenchmen.

"Without abandoning its calm, the French government has endeavored to avoid everything which could aggravate the situation. It will for its part undertake no unjustified attack, but conscious of its duty it will enforce respect, in honorable conditions, of the vital interests of the French nation.

Obliged to Speak Frankly

"In view of the links which bind our two countries it is with great pain that I see myself obliged to speak to your majesty with such frankness.

"It is in my view, however, the surest means of calling your majesty's high attention to a state of affairs for which the French government is in no way responsible."

[At Oran, Algeria, on July 3, 1940, French naval units which refused to comply with British conditions were attacked by a British force. One French battleship was sunk, one badly damaged, one battle cruiser damaged, and two destroyers and a seaplane carrier sunk or set on fire. No British ships were damaged.]

Expect Trial Delay

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, July 19—Possibility of a last minute postponement of the Petain trial, scheduled to open Monday, developed today out of strong opposition, voiced by the consultative assembly, to a trial of this magnitude being held in the cramped appeal court of the palace of justice, which has room for only 40 newspaper correspondents and 10 members of the diplomatic corps.

Answering numerous demands that the trial take place in the spacious assembly room of the Luxemburg palace, or the chamber of deputies, Minister of Justice Teitgen said he is agreeable to holding the trial in the palace if the assembly, which now is sitting there, wishes to suspend its session, or to postpone the trial until after the close of the session on Aug. 3.

Customers Ask... How DOES FANNIE MAY MAINTAIN ITS PRE-WAR QUALITY?

Ever been in a quandry? We were—when war shortages struck! With ingredients rationed, it was certain that most any candy would find a market. Should we throw quality overboard and go in for quantity?

Our decision was—stick to quality! The Fannie May reputation was built on fine ingredients—candy that was fresh, pure, taste thrilling! To lower quality would have been to let our customers down, and in the long run, poor business for us!

We're making less candy than we would like—less candy than you would like to have us make—but it's still quality candy—made in our own kitchens! As fresh, pure and taste-thrilling as ever!

ALL A WOUNDED YANK ASKS IS: 'STOP GAWKING!'

Morale High and Wants to Keep It That Way

row upon row of shiny brown shoes with wooden feet inside and tags reading Jones, Johnson, Widelski, Olsen, Kinsella, Berkowitz.

No patient is discharged from the hospital until he is completely satisfied with his new limbs. He may go back for as many fittings as necessary.

Doctors Conservative

Sometimes the man's stump requires a second or third operation. According to Maj. Gene Caldwell, chief of the amputation service at the hospital, both here and overseas army doctors are "conservative" about performing amputations. They do so only when there is no alternative.

Arm amputees at Percy Jones learn to button shirt sleeves, dial telephones, light cigarets, or cut steaks with their metal hooks. All arm "amps" are supplied with two kinds of artificial limbs—the hooks for practical use and hands for dress.

As soon as possible all Percy Jones patients begin participating in sports of all kinds, either with or without their artificial limbs.

Pass Driving Tests

Driving instructors include both leg and arm amputees. And many "double amps" [those who have lost both arms or both legs] have passed the state driving test given once a week by the Michigan state police at the hospital.

In the hospital's educational program, patients take courses in everything from foreign languages and mechanics to barbering and floral design. Bed patients get group tuforing in their wards. Many have received high school diplomas while still in the hospital. An amazingly high number are planning to finish high school or college when they get out.

People frequently ask, "Why is the amputee's morale higher than that of other wounded vets?"

"It's simple," answers Pvt. Barton Bassett, 21, of Rockford, Ill., who was dancing on his new leg only two days after he got it. "You can always look around and see some one worse off than you are."

Eager for New Legs

The amputees look forward eagerly to getting their new legs and when they do the whole ward celebrates.

In ward 4, section 8, a dark-haired lad called "Feets" [because he had none] was trying his new ones for the first time. As he threw down his "sympathy sticks" [the legless GIs name for crutches], his buddies whistled, cheered, and sang.

That night those who could get out on passes helped "Feets" celebrate at one of Battle Creek's night spots. As the cab pulled up, the GI's unscrambled their crutches and yelled, "Timberrrr! Coming out."

Yes, the amputees' morale is tops. But it is more than morale.

Strength in Each Other

It is their badge of courage. It shines well in Battle Creek where they've found strength in each other, where there's safety in numbers and where people no longer bother to stare.

What will happen when they start drifting back in ones and twos to the pitying stares of their own small communities?

One answer is: "Somebody's gonna get socked."

"There's only one thing we can't do anything about," many of them said. "And that's the little kid who goes down the street shrieking, 'Mommy, what's wrong with that man?'"

Percy Jones is one of the Army's 63 general hospitals known as "specialized treatment centers." Designated by the surgeon general as an amputation center, it consists of the Percy Jones general hospital in Battle Creek, a hospital annex and a convalescent center both at near-by Fort Custer, and the W. K. Kellogg convalescent home at Gull lake. Commanding officer of the 10,000 bed center is Brig. Gen. Joseph E. Bastion.

Among the patients from Chicago are Sgt. Felix Ardzeck, 9424 Burnside av.; Pvt. Edward L. Woodson, 1512 Lowe av.; Pvt. Chris Vaseff, 6646 S. Woodlawn av.; Pvt. Walter J. Kasmierski, 5036 S. Wolcott av.; Pvt. George Graves, 3319 W. Washington st.; Sgt. James K. Brown, 3253 W. Palmer st., and Tech. 5th Grade Joe Gorczyca, 1224 W. 32d pl.

Held in Shooting

Ruth Klein in hospital in Los Angeles. [Associated Press Wirephoto]

Los Angeles, Cal., July 19 (AP)—Booked on suspicion of assault with intent to murder Dr. Hans E. Schiffbauer, 62, a physician, Miss Ruth Klein, 30, a patient, was quoted by police today as declaring:

"I did it and I want to die. I loved him and was very jealous of him."

Dr. H. E. Schiffbauer

Both were reported in critical condition from bullet wounds inflicted during a shooting in the heart specialist's home Tuesday night.

Miss Klein's mother, Mrs. May E. Klein, told police there had been no romance between her daughter and the physician. Mrs. Klein said her daughter had been nervous and under treatment for weeks "and did not know what she was doing."

TAKE IN 4 BOYS AND GIRL; WANT TO ADOPT THEM

If legal approval can be obtained, the four brothers and sister, ranging in age from 6 to 11 years, who have been living with Mrs. Olive Engelhardt, 27, of 712 Main st., Aurora, will be adopted into the home.

The children had been living in the Lutheran Child Welfare association home at Addison when Mrs. Englehardt and her husband, Pvt. Gilbert, 34, who is stationed at Camp Adair, Ore., decided to take them into their home. The boys, George, 11; Jimmy, 9; Freddie, 7, and Bobby, 6, were received in the Engelhardt home last February and the girl, Marilyn, 10, joined them on June 8.

"We want to adopt the children, but will have to obtain the permission of the parents and of the Child Welfare association," Mrs. Engelhardt said. Her husband has been home twice from his army post to visit the youngsters.

GIRL, 16, CONFESSES SLAYING DATE AFTER WATERMELON PARTY

Winona, Minn., July 19 (AP)—Chief of Police A. J. Bingold said tonight he had the signed confession of a 16 year old girl that she had stabbed to death Donald Cada, 15, whose body was found on the Mississippi river bank here early today.

The girl said she had used a Commando knife, owned by her brother who is home on furlough from the army, Bingold said. He added the girl admitted stabbing Cada "again and again" after she charged he had grabbed her in a bunch of willows on the river bank.

Bingold said the girl told him the knife had been used earlier last night at a watermelon party. She is held without charge. The boy had been stabbed three times.

Donald, son of Mark Cada, had last been seen leaving a group of other teen-agers at 10:30 p. m., yesterday with the girl perched on the handlebars of his bicycle.

POST-WAR FEARS ON WAGES TOLD BY NORTH SHORE

The Chicago, North Shore & Milwaukee electric railroad can afford to pay higher wages now, officials of the road said yesterday, but it does not feel sure of the attitude of employes if a post-war cut should be necessary. The statements were made in testimony before an emergency panel hearing two unions' wage dispute with the North Shore and the Chicago, Aurora and Elgin.

George A. Meade, vice president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, asked the North Shore to grant the wage raise now, relying on the employes to "show consideration" if revenues drop. Bernard J. Fallon, operating trustee, cited in reply a fifty-one day strike in 1938 when employes were asked to take a reduction.

Meade said that at that time a different union represented the workers. Fallon replied that the employes are the same.

POINT SYSTEM FOR OBJECTORS DEFERRED BY U. S.

Washington, D. C., July 19 (AP)—Selective service today deferred use of a point system for the discharge of conscientious objectors pending disposition of legislation prohibiting such a plan.

The house military affairs committee has reported favorably a bill providing that "no point system shall be applied in the release of men assigned to work of national importance under civilian direction . . ."

The point discharge system planned by selective service was announced in May and was to have been put into effect next month. Patterned after the army's point plan, it called for discharge of about 850 conscientious objectors. It was based on length of service, marital status, and number of dependents.

These would be drawn from the 6,300 objectors in work camps. Those in prison—about 3,000—would not be eligible.

CARRIER'S GUN DISPLAYED TO GET NAVAL HELP

Emphasizing a nation-wide drive for ship yard workers on the west coast and at Pearl Harbor, a 5 inch navy gun from the U. S. S. Franklin was placed on display yesterday between Randolph and Washington sts. on State st. after a navy parade.

A color guard from Navy pier, the Glenview naval air station band, and 40 sailors and WAVES paraded. The gun, brought from the battle scarred aircraft carrier in the Brooklyn navy yard, was presented to Mayor Kelly by Comdr. R. J. Twyman.

A naval veteran and a marine combat correspondent also spoke. The gun will remain until Aug. 1. Applicants for ship yards jobs may apply at United States employment service or civil service offices.

Sailors

Coast guardsmen who yesterday investigated a 16 foot dinghy sailing close to a lake aircraft carrier about three miles offshore found it manned by two boys.

One, Raymond Archambault, 13, of 1069 W. Fry st., was gripping the rudder handle. The other, Jay Meyers, 10, of 1548 Wieland av., was manipulating the ropes that controled the sails and looking pretty scared. It was the first time he'd ever been in a sailboat, he said.

The boys were turned over to park police. Raymond told police he had left home Wednesday. Jay said he left Tuesday. They started boating at 3:30 a. m. yesterday in a rowboat, which they found unlocked. This took them to the sailboat, riding at anchor, and they decided to try sailing, they said. Police took them to the Juvenile home.

U. S. CASUALTIES 3,997; LOWEST IN MANY WEEKS

Washington, D. C., July 19 (AP)—Combat casualties reported by the fighting forces since Pearl Harbor reached 1,053,101 today, an increase of 3,997 in the last week.

The rise was one of the smallest in weeks. The army reported losses of 917,442, an increase of 1,724, and the navy listed casualties of 135,659, a gain of 2,273.

War Undersecretary Patterson also reported that army casualties in the Philippines from the time of the landings on Leyte last October until July 7 totaled 59,656 including 12,035 killed, 46,425 wounded, and 1,196 missing.

Patterson said that he did not have exact figures on enemy losses in the Philippines, but that the campaign had cost the Japanese "well over 450,000 troops." Total army casualties in the Okinawa campaign thru July 7 amounted to 18,412, including 3,761 killed, 14,415 wounded and 236 missing, he said.

PRIVATE FLYING RULES WILL BE EASED ON AUG. 1

The civil aeronautics administration announced yesterday that new and liberalized flying regulations which provide a minimum of red tape for private pilots will go into effect on Aug. 1. They originally were scheduled to become effective July 1, but were held up by a few last minute changes.

The rules lower minimum age for private pilots from 18 to 17 years, eliminate all written examinations except on air traffic rules, simplify physical examinations, simplify demonstrations of flying skill, reduce solo hours necessary for a license from 35 to 30 hours, and lighten log bookkeeping.

Any certificated pilot may give instruction, but it does not count as dual instruction, of which 10 hours is required, unless the pilot is a certified instructor.

GUZIK SETTLES $1,538,455 CLAIM AT A BARGAIN

Settlement of government claims totaling $1,538,455 against Jack Guzik, reputed business manager of the Capone syndicate, was announced yesterday by Nigel Campbell, collector of internal revenue.

Guzik's attorney, Eugene Bernstein, said that the settlement was for "less than $100,000." The total was claimed by the government as income taxes and alcohol taxes owed from 1924 to 1932. Guzik was in federal prison from 1932 to 1935 for income tax fraud.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

FROM PARIS 1918 TO POTSDAM 1945

The world cannot congratulate itself on any changes for the better distinguishing Mr. Truman's mission to Potsdam from Mr. Wilson's mission to Paris. An honest view of the situation reveals a gloomier picture. The Paris conference could be and was undertaken with high hopes and good prospects. The monarchical system, which had been held responsible for diabolical policies, had virtually disappeared in continental Europe. The republican form of government, with its responsiveness to best interests of the people, seemed to have gained the opportunity to stand and flourish.

In Germany the revolution was supposed to have emancipated the common man from Potsdam. Ebert the saddler had authority as a president. The kaiser, an exile, had none. Altho the war had been a savage one in casualties, the damage to cities, to property, and productive works and facilities was relatively slight. People were not living like animals in wreckage. Nor were any people as a people condemned as morally unfit for association in what is called the family of nations. The indignation was aimed sharply at governments, the problem of which had disappeared because they had disappeared.

The Russian revolution had produced something then unknowable, but when Mr. Wilson was in Paris Lenin was not regarded as an unassimilable factor. It was the intention, not badly executed, to give people thruout Europe the national existence to which their natural aspirations would incline them and which could be regarded as their birthright. Thus the hopeful new states were formed. The disintegration of empire required it. The congeries composing the dual monarchy, which actually had performed a service recognized only by skeptics doubting the political infallibility of the common man in Europe, was resolved into a congregation of free nations idealistically contrasted to the present arrangement of politically ravaged territory covering the same nations.

Comparisons all magnify the work of the Paris conference. It had an openness of countenance which Potsdam avoids. It had an optimism to which Potsdam could not pretend. Potsdam starts with pessimism and cynicism. The participants have just declared at San Francisco that force rules the world and shall not be denied, a description which explains what has happened and forecasts what is to happen. However, it is not idealism and some of it may be found to be not even good common sense. We are substituting the idea of subservient or slave states for the idea of free states. We are ennobling power beyond the necessities of real politics in international affairs.

Mr. Truman, Mr. Churchill, and Mr. Stalin meet in Potsdam not, probably, because it is where Kaiser Wilhelm II., Czar Nicholas II., and Emperor Francis Joseph might have met to decide the destiny of nations, but because it is less devastated than the edifices of the late Hitler government in Berlin. The smell of death permeates Berlin. It permeates the arrangements for the new order. It hangs over Europe. This time there is not, as there was in Mr. Wilson's time, a belief that the German people have a moral recuperative faculty or can be permitted an economic recuperation. The dreary future of a policed people is all that can be entertained.

We contemplate a continent so devastated that only hyenas could be native sons. The justifications of this need not be argued. The facts do not change whatever the opinion may be held regarding them. The truths are self-evident. Modern Europe never before approached so hopeless a peace. It is hopeless in its concessions to arbitrary force, in its recognition of human enslavement, in its disregard of economic consequences, in its deafness to the minority voice, and in its self-righteousness.

Even if the prevailing ideas of the necessary severities of the peace were indisputable, the consequences of it would be not less dismaying. The other peace was followed by a series of convulsions for which its makers were not prepared. They counted too much on qualities which the average European did not have and on a performance in self-government to which he was not equal. Governments which might have prevented the final build-up of disaster were indifferent when they should have been concerned, timid when they should have been resolute, and unwise when they should have taken good counsel. Nevertheless, when the peace was made there was none of the pessimism which now hangs over the world.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

Dr. Rexford Guy Tugwell, the doctrinaire of the early days of the New Deal revolution, explained a bit about the sugar shortage the other day. Dr. Tugwell is governor of Puerto Rico, normally a major source of American sugar supplies. In 1942, when the U-boats were sinking a great number of ships in the Atlantic and Caribbean, Puerto Ricans and inhabitants of some of the other islands were cut off from their normal food imports. Dr. Tugwell and his associates of the Anglo-American islands commission decided to do something about it.

They had a meeting at which they were informed thru four New Deal departments that there were ample supplies of sugar in the United States and that no ships would be available to move sugar crops to this country. A little planning was indicated, and Dr. Tugwell is, if nothing, a planner.

The plan was to convert sugar acreage to food crops so that the islanders might eat. It went into effect in 1943, when the submarines had been brought under control. It was, on paper, a good plan, but it didn't work. The sugar acreage wasn't adapted to growing food crops, but Dr. Tugwell prefers to think that the failure was the result of "sabotage" by the big sugar producers.

"By the following year," explained the doctor, "the shipping shortage had eased and the submarine menace had largely passed. Full sugar production should then have been reestablished, but that wasn't the business of the commission. Our work was done. Production should have been resumed, but that wasn't our business. As it turns out, it appears to have been nobody's business."

In any event, sugar stopped coming up from the islands in volume. Production has still to be resumed at full scale because of a shortage in fertilizer that should have been sent from the United States. That, said Dr. Tugwell, was the business of the AAA. Now that the fertilizer at last is being sent, it has been ordered rationed for next year on the basis of this year's short sugar crop. All Dr. Tugwell had to say about that was, "The regulations are made in Washington." The first of the New Deal planners seems to have been licked by planning.

Perhaps housewives who are being deprived of their canning sugar now and told that the sugar shortage may continue for another five years understand things a little bit better after hearing Dr. Tugwell's deposition. It certainly is a comfort to know that the problem is nobody's business.

A NEW BOND RECORD

Chicago has done it again. Called upon for a war job by the government, it has not been content to do merely what was asked, but has added a lot for good measure. The treasury department appealed to this community to raise 745 million dollars in the 7th war loan drive. When the campaign ended the treasury had received from Chicago not only the 745 million dollars requested, but 582 million dollars additional. The oversubscription here alone was enough to meet the goal set for so great a state as Michigan or the quotas of 16 lesser states. It was an entirely new performance record in fund raising. It brought Chicago's bond purchases during the war up to 6 billion 506 million dollars.

Strong emphasis was placed in the 7th drive on the sale of E bonds as a major factor in controling inflation. The results over the country failed by 24 million dollars of reaching the mark that had been set in advance. Chicago not only came up to the goal, but exceeded it by more than 6½ million dollars. The batting average attained here on E bonds was superior to that of either New York, Philadelphia, Washington, D. C., Detroit, Los Angeles, or St. Louis. It was in the 5th war loan drive that Chicago went over the top on E bonds for the first time in any metropolitan city during the war. Sales in that campaign aggregated 133 million dollars. That record was broken by 43 millions in the 7th drive.

The goal set for F, G, and other individual issues was 156 million dollars in the 7th; sales totaled 217 millions. Corporation subscriptions were 933 million dollars in this community, which was 223 per cent of the quota. The drive succeeded in every particular.

These remarkable results did not come from a spontaneous outburst of investing in the national debt. It came from months of painstaking planning and intensive direction during the period of the solicitation by Mr. Lawrence Stern, chairman of the drive. The reward that comes to him and his colleagues in the campaign is the satisfaction of having enabled Chicagoans to unite in a notably successful war effort, of which they will always be proud.

CONGRESSIONAL TOURS

The 54 members of the house committees on foreign affairs and commerce have been authorized to travel abroad at public expense during the summer adjournment of congress. Some of their colleagues in congress disapproved the plan. They said it would cost a lot of money, perhaps $100,000, and would complicate our international relations if the congressmen carried out their intention of visiting countries where we have no diplomatic representation.

All these objections were swept aside, as they should have been. What with censorship and propaganda, the people of this country have been given only an inadequate understanding of events in the world outside our borders. The senators and representatives who have gone abroad during the war have returned with a far better grasp of the problems they are dealing with than they had before. To them the country owes much of what it knows about the uses to which air fields built with our money are being put, the scandals of lend-lease, the failures of UNRRA, and the vagaries of the good neighbor policy.

Whatever the travels of the senators and representatives have cost, the country got its money's worth. It would be too much to expect that all the men and women who have gone abroad in these tours observed diligently and understood what they saw, but enough of them did to make the trips worth a great deal more money than was spent on them.

It is to be hoped that the delegations will succeed in entering the unknown world beyond the Elbe and the Adriatic. The Russians, who control the Baltic states, Poland, half of Germany, all of Hungary, much of Austria, and almost all the Balkans, have allowed only the fewest of American newspaper men and those generally selected for their friendliness to the soviet regime, to enter the conquered lands and report what they saw and heard.

What is going on in these countries is of the utmost importance to Americans. If new wars lie ahead, it is there that they will be generated. It is there, too, that the need for UNRRA is greatest. It is there that Russian intentions can be most accurately gauged. If the congressmen can succeed in penetrating these mysteries they will have performed a distinguished service to the country.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

TO POETS AND POETESSES

[A Supplementary Lesson]

It is wiser, as a rule, to send your poem by mail than to call in person on the editor and ask him to sit quietly and listen while you recite. We understand, of course, why some poets prefer the direct oral attack. They feel that the inner music of their rhymes and meters, the subtleties of tone and stress, demand the heeding ear as well as the reading eye.

* * *

But there are disadvantages. This is especially true in the case of the Line. We have no audition studio, and the acoustics where our work is done, especially when there are decorators and plumbers about, are unfavorable for poetry of the better sort.

Another point worth considering is that even if the magnetism of your voice so enchants the editor that he accepts and publishes your offering, he remains helpless to transmit your intonations and can do no more than reproduce your words, your punctuation, and your italics. The Line has no sound track.

* * *

On the other hand, there are positive benefits to be derived from the practice of mailing. The cost of a stamp is less than that of a two-way bus ride—and far less than that of a taxi, which is often used by the let-me-read-it-to-you poet.

Also, if you mail your poem you have a double chance. For if it reaches the editor when he is in a bad mood, so that he hurls it impatiently into the bin, he may find it again and like it better when desperation drives him back to that gloomy repository.

* * *

Mr. Henry Dierkes, the editor of Living Poetry, a magazine, himself a poet, recently favored the Line [by mail] with a poem about a poetess [Madame O'Flanahan] whom he quoted in this couplet:

"The consequences of my labors
I read to all my friends and neighbors."

This is perhaps a happy solution, so long as the supply of friends and neighbors is adequate.

Tho you are gone, I'll always have you
In lovely things you brought to me.

You are in sunshine and in shadows,
But, somehow, you're nearer yet

And the windowpane is wet. J. M. H.

The Line's own proofreader, Miss Donnelly, who can ruin us with a comma if she tries, says she has had to read so many galleys of poetry lately that she writes the stuff herself in her sleep—rhyming "duffer" with "supper." It might be worse, Miss D. Suppose you had rhymed him with "supper*less!*" Anyway, you did better than Shakespeare. He rhymed "plenty" with "empty." And Ralph Waldo Emerson rhymed "draw" with "proprietor."

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks will answer questions of service men, veterans, and their dependents by mail if stamped envelope is sent to 435 N. Michigan av. The Tribune's veterans' bureau, 1 S. Dearborn st., Superior 0200, gives personal interviews.]

A. J. S. asks: "Under the selective service act, what date determines which employes must be reinstated and retained for one year? Was it necessary to inform any person hired after that date that he was replacing a person called for service and that his job was temporary, or does the law assume that all persons hired after the effective date understood that some one else had prior right to the job?"

The selective service act reëmployment section says "any person, who subsequent to May 1, 1940, shall have entered upon active military or naval service in the land or naval forces of the United States" is entitled to benefits under the act if he or she meets the other conditions specified. The other conditions include an honorable discharge or a discharge under honorable conditions and application for reëmployment within 90 days from date of discharge. Conscientious objectors do not have reëmployment rights, and benefits of the reëmployment provision do not apply to employes of any state or political subdivision, altho the act declares it to be the sense of congress that such persons should be reinstated. To be fully protected on reëmployment since May 1, 1940, employers should have informed all new employes whether they were being hired to replace some one who had left the job for military service. Where the job was created after May 1, 1940, selective service holds that the original employe has priority rights if the job still exists after his discharge. The term "land and naval forces" includes air force and the law applies equally to WACs, WAVES, SPARS, and women marines.

PUT ASIDE YOUR WORRIES AT BEDTIME

ONE swallow doesn't make a summer and one sleepless night cannot be called insomnia. The vacationist may toss and turn in his strange surroundings at first but usually rests well thereafter. We all encounter an occasional night when "shuteye" eludes us. Furthermore, in the strict sense, those who are kept awake by pain should not be classified as victims of insomnia.

In most instances, the cause is lack of mental composure, which prevents relaxation. Some have a legitimate excuse. We could hardly expect the new, grief-stricken widow to fall asleep immediately. Eventually, a philosophy of life is developed which permits her to return to normal habits.

The typical sufferer is the nervous individual who worries, broods, is suspicious, or has too vivid an imagination. Many persons carry their depressions or elations to bed with them and it is little wonder that they cannot doze off. Elderly people, particularly victims of blood vessel changes, often fear the night.

Few of us fall asleep immediately unless fatigued from a good day's work performed out of doors. After the lights have been turned out our eyes close, our muscles start to relax, and the conscious mind begins to fuse with the subconscious. A panorama of indistinct ideas may float by, consisting of a few of the noteworthy events of the day as well as plans for tomorrow; mixed perhaps with past experiences or future events. These mental ramblings may be considered the natural overture to somnolence.

But the insomniac dreads this stage and, as a result, considerable anxiety is created. Soon his pet worry, inadequacy, or business reverses comes to the foreground and the more he tries to repress it, the longer his efforts keep him from slumber.

After fuming and fussing he finally resorts to the many tricks he has heard about. He reads, does crossword puzzles, or counts sheep. More often than not, this has a tendency to stimulate him. But no one can stay awake indefinitely and ultimately, thru sheer exhaustion, he passes into the arms of Morpheus.

The importance of relaxation has been emphasized by various authorities. A good mattress and a quiet dark room are helpful. To make the arms, legs, forehead, eyes, throat, vocal cords, etc., as limp as possible may be difficult but, thru practice, the knack can be acquired. Jacobson has described one method in detail. Excitement before retiring should be minimized. This includes radio or movie thrillers or hair raising books. Staying up long after bedtime may be all that is necessary to create the necessary stimulus for wakefulness.

Mental activity usually continues as long as body tension is present. Those who are inclined to be apprehensive should attempt to solve their problems during the day. Obviously this leads to a happier and more productive existence.

SODA ADDICT

Mrs. K. writes: My husband runs to the can of baking soda for every ache and pain. I've warned him about using so much of it but he won't listen to me. Won't you please explain why this practice is not recommended?

REPLY

The habitual use of baking soda is condemned because the source of trouble is being neglected. The acid in the stomach has a definite purpose—to prepare food for digestion. There is little reason for disrupting a natural process. If ulcers are present, however, excess acid may need to be neutralized with alkalis.

NOSEBLEED

B. W. writes: What causes me to have a nosebleed about three times a month?

REPLY

This abnormality usually results from a local condition in the nose—ulcers, infections, or polyps. Occasionally, a generalized disorder, such as high blood pressure, or a bleeding tendency is the cause. If a thoro search of the nose fails to reveal the source, a complete examination is in order.

PACIFIER

T. K. writes: I have the habit of chewing rubber bands. My friends tell me this is dangerous. Is this true?

REPLY

Spinach and Snapdragons

Down in the Randolph st. corridor of the Chicago public library flourishes a garden center sponsored by the Chicago Horticultural society. Here daily from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. come the perplexed war time gardeners of this region bearing buggy spinach, runt radishes, and anemic mother-in-law's tongue. The latter is a rarity, for this species of cactus ordinarily has a determined grasp on life, but it and all other problems are child's play to Frank Balthis, the horticulturist on duty, and each day he sends the frustrated gardeners home happy men. Then the army pfc. appeared.

The army pfc. carried a box of flowers and handed them over with the request that they be arranged so they "meant something." This put Mr. Balthis on a mettle foreign to him. Lunging wildly into the library proper, he pored thru the stacks until he found a book on the language of flowers. He thumbed thru it rapidly only to find that he had a new problem: The flowers the pfc. had and the sentiments he wished to express did not go together, for according to the Victorian text a coxcomb, and only that, meant: "Do you love me?" If you wished to say, "You may hope," you proffered a snowdrop. By grouping peach blossoms and jonquils you arrived at: "I am your captive; I desire a return of affection." But coxcomb, snowdrops, peach blossoms, and jonquils all were lacking, and the situation seemed thoroly out of hand.

Then, thumbing desperately thru another section, Mr. Balthis found that red flowers always signify love, particularly if the flower is a rose. Yellow flowers signify jealousy; pink, friendship; white, purity; purple, loyalty. So, after a bit of shuffling, during which the pfc. insisted on throwing away the yellow snapdragons, the bouquet was linguistically correct, and the army went off to conquer its fields.

Total War

War-works-wonders note [from a Jap broadcast to the Japs]: "The munitions ministry today [July 11] decided to revise the archives section. Vice Minister Shiina reported to vice ministers' meeting that dead filing of documents is to be changed. Dead documents now will be kept five years instead of 20."

The Good Old Days

The Illinois historian, C. A. Kiler, writes to say that the army's eatin'est man, Pvt. Chester Salvatori, and his big appetite are old stuff to the residents of Champaign who still lay bets on their memories of Old Horn, a gentleman who thrived in the '80s. Old Horn, a short and chunky old man with a gray beard and long white hair, used to be the star attraction at county fairs. He would start his meal with four dozen eggs and a peck of potatoes. Next he ate a roast pig. For dessert he would eat all the pies and cakes on exhibition in Floral hall.

In the Mail

"At the most unexpected times, perhaps when I am coming from the store, waiting for an L, or reading the paper, my heart does a flip-flop, then it seems to sink and my eyes begin to sting, but no tears. How dare I shed an unnecessary tear in these terrific times? Suppose this is the first summer he won't be going to camp. Suppose he has got an 'honest to goodness' job. Suppose the house won't be messed up with camping equipment and the brother Scouts won't be trooping thru the house whistling and singing camp songs. Suppose he is growing up. He can't be forever going to camp and carrying snakes home in his pants pockets. Stop this nonsense! Be yourself! . . . But one tear escapes."—G. M. R.

Cans at War

Tidbits from the canning industry: Empty C-ration cans form cups for a miniature golf course built on Morotai by American soldiers. . . . The "silver" bars pinned on a 1st lieutenant in the field by Gen. Eisenhower were made from a salvaged sandwich meat can. . . . If you want hot roast beef and gravy, all you need to do is dig a hole in the ground and pop a C-ration can in—if you are on Iwo Jima near a hot sulphur bed. . . . The latest thing in cans are sandwiches; meat [m-e-a-t] between two slices of bread. We can have them after the war.

REPENTENT UNIONIST

IN A EUROPEAN HOSPITAL, July 7—In my years of civilian life I was a member of a trade union and believed in part, if not wholly, in the benefits that trade unions could bring to the working man. I was a part of the San Francisco general strike of 1934, and others on the west coast.

I am no longer proud of these facts. Labor's selfish attitude in this war is one which a great many of us here are inclined to view with distaste and strong feelings. We are fighting on fronts far from home. Our sacrifices are our time, our blood, and in many cases, our limbs and our lives.

Every strike at this time is a blow struck for the enemy. Their propagandists delight in each American labor dispute and make much of it in their magazines and papers. We ourselves are doubly shamed before our foes and our allies, because we know that those men and women who hold our jobs and make the ships, planes, and weapons with which we fight are well paid, well fed, well housed, and well kept. Their betrayal of our mutual trust is cowardly and unworthy of a true American. Cease striking us in the back.

INVITING CRITICISM

Chicago, July 11—Sallie M. Hanson of Evanston enters a "bitter and fierce objection" to the "continued attacks on Elliott Roosevelt." It is true "thousands make speculative investments every day" but the President and his family should conduct their personal and public affairs in such a manner as to be above criticism and as an example to their countrymen. The Roosevelt family has consistently set a bad example for the people and invites adverse criticism. A. E. B.

TO DEMOCRATIZE THE CHARTER

Hill Field, Utah, July 11—The clause that has been left out of the San Francisco charter is this:

"To become a member nation in this united nations organization, all nations and states must, on every fourth year, elect by public vote the representative they wish to represent them in this world conference. No elected representative may serve more than one four year term, but may be appointed by the succeeding representative to hold an under office." DONALD F. KINGSBURY

HEIR'S PROGRESS

Chicago, July 13—It is amazing to learn that in the present travel emergency those who have been putting six days a week of hard labor in a war plant or office should remain at home to look at the same four walls until they start tearing their hair out, but it is perfectly legitimate for certain parties to travel at top speed and comfort back to England to claim a 20 million dollar estate. What's the rush?

PENNY THOMPSON

NEVER FINISHED JOB

Chicago, July 14—The mother who was so graciously allowed three minutes' time to express disapproval to the security pact doesn't know how embarrassing it is for the prime minister of England to come over here begging for tools to finish a job. Now our statesmen are going to station American boys in bases over there so no time will be lost when England wants her homes defended. Just sound the alarm. America will answer. J. D. L.

LIFE UNDER THE OPA

Evanston, Ill., July 13—Friday again. Must be there by 9 a. m. Beds unmade, dishes not done—so what? First, I dash to the grocery store. No margarine on the shelf [altho plenty of butter]. So I whisper to the clerk, "Any margarine today?" From the back, in a paper sack, comes the "prize."

No soap flakes. Another whisper, and a box appears. At the meat counter I keep staring at a beautiful beef roast. It is weighed: 40 points, and having only 50 points for the rest of the month, back in the case it goes. I ask for a pound of ground chuck. When the butcher brings it out I say, "It looks like it's mostly fat." "Why, it couldn't be, it is our best," says the insulted butcher, putting it back from whence it came and giving me a few sarcastic remarks. "Since when is beef white?" say I under my breath.

I hear the chicken store is open today. In the usual deep line I wait. "A nice large fryer, please" On the scales it was under four pounds. The butcher cuts off the head and feet and wraps it, saying, "$2.02, please." "How much is it a pound?" I ask, knowing it was 47 cents. "The ceiling price is 47 cents a pound," is the response. "Well, how could it cost over $2.00?" So he puts it back on the scale, minus feet and head. The weight is 3½ pounds. "Some feet and head, weighed almost a pound," say I under my breath. I know I should have refused the chicken. But after two hours of waiting in lines and shopping, I just couldn't go thru another line.

THE TIRELESS SHOPPER

QUEUE E. D.

Chicago, July 14—Reading today's editorial, "Billions of Red Points," I thought the following paragraph of a letter just received from a relative in England might be of interest:

"I am sorry that you are finding the shopping difficult now with rationing, but I should have thought you could obtain your rations without queuing. Most of our rationed goods are there for us whenever we call. It is the luxuries we have to queue for."

Knowing people who get to the market at 7 o'clock on Saturday mornings and stand in line until it opens at 8:30—but why paint the lily? B. S. W.

SEN. CONNALLY'S CURE-ALLS

Stephenville, Tex., July 13—We have heard about Sen. Connally bulldozing the woman that was against the war mongers' charter.

It will be remembered that last year Sen. Connally got a law passed to end strikes. We are now having more strikes than ever before. And now the senator is going to end war. It is a notorious fact that neither he nor any of his bunch is advocating anything to end this present war.

RANKIN DEMANDS RESIGNATION OF STIMSON, 2 AIDS

Blames 3 for Giving Reds Army Commissions

BY WILLARD EDWARDS
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 19—A demand by Rep. Rankin (D., Miss.) for the dismissal of War Secretary Stimson and two top aids provoked a bitter row on the house floor today.

Rankin commented upon a military affairs committee report yesterday which listed 16 army officers and non-commissioned men with communistic backgrounds. He said Stimson, Undersecretary Patterson and Assistant Secretary John J. McCloy were responsible and it is "time for these three to go."

Sabath Protests

After Representatives Sabath [D., Ill.], Folger [D., N. C.], Pittenger [R., Minn.], and Voorhis [D., Cal.] had protested this statement, Rankin corrected his remarks to appear as follows in the Congressional Record:

"It is gratifying to note that

President Truman is going to hurry home as soon as the Potsdam conference is over.

"I hope he continues his policy, when he gets back, of cleaning house. I hope he begins with the war department and puts a stop to the commissioning of Communists in the army.

"There are three men in the war department who are charged with responsibility for these commissions, Mr. Stimson, Mr. Patterson, and Mr. McCloy. If they are responsible for this condition, then they ought to resign.

Soldiers' Objections Told

"Members of the committee on un-American activities are getting constant protests from men in the armed forces to the effect that these Communists who have been commissioned are using their power to try to indoctrinate the men with communist philosophies which are directly opposed to our form of government.

"These men as a rule have been placed in positions where they could wield the greatest influence, and probably render the greatest harm, in preaching their subversive doctrines. They are enemies to our form of government."

Tolerance Urged

Rankin's remarks were characterized as "deplorable" and "unfortunate" by several speakers. Rep. Voorhis preached a sermon of tolerance toward "honest progressives" but assailed Communists.

Rep. Walter [D., Pa.] asked Thomason [D., Tex.], head of the committee which made the report on army Communists, if the responsibility of Stimson, Patterson, and McCloy for the disclosed conditions had been determined. Thomason made a lengthy statement which did not answer the question. He said the committee had been surprised by the commissioning of Communists but hastily added that the war department was doing a "great job."

Food Locker Firm Agrees to Pay $615 in Rental Suit

A consent judgment of $615 for overcharges for food lockers was entered by Judge Walter J. La Buy in United States District court yesterday against the North Shore Freezemart, Inc., 1463 Sherman av., Evanston. The office of price administration charged the firm with boosting the rental for its 408 food lockers, which was $12, to $15 during March, 1942, and collecting $13 to $16.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

ARGUE LEGALITY OF TRANSIT ACT; DECISION JULY 30

Circuit Judge Julius H. Miner took under advisement yesterday the friendly suit brought by State's Atty. Tuohy to test the constitutionality of the act creating the Chicago Transit authority.

Arguments were advanced against the act by Asst. State's Atty. Jacob Shamberg, who contended the authority is not a municipal corporation, that the state act is unconstitutional, and that therefore Mayor Kelly had no authority to appoint members of the transit board.

Werner W. Schroeder, attorney for the transit board, contended the transit authority was similar to housing and port authorities, which are accepted as constitutional organizations. William H. Sexton, assistant corporation counsel, contended the citizens of Chicago who voted for public ownership of its traction facilities are entitled to it.

Judge Miner will announce his decision July 30. He is expected to uphold constitutionality of the transit authority act, allowing an appeal to be taken to the State Supreme court September term.

UNION BOSS BOVE GETS 10-20 YEARS FOR $64,575 THEFT

White Plains, N. Y., July 19 [Special]—A sentence of 10 to 20 years in prison was imposed today on James Bove, secretary-treasurer of local 60 of the AFL International Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers union, on 74 counts of grand larceny and third degree forgery in thefts from his union.

Bove had faced a possible maximum jail term of 515 years on the multiple charges on which he was convicted June 27. During the trial the prosecution charged that he stole $64,575 from his local but he contended the union authorized all the money he received.

Bove and Joseph S. Fay, vice president of the AFL International Union of Operating Engineers, are under sentences of 8½ to 15 years in New York for extortion and conspiracy to extort $703,000 from contractors on New York's Delaware water supply project.

DAUGHTER BACKS ACCUSED KILLER OF HER MOTHER

'Hope You Get Out,' She Says in Jail Visit

Miami, Fla., July 19 [Special]—A daughter visited her mother's accused slayer in his county jail cell here today and told him "I hope you get out."

The daughter, Mrs. Elaine Kalt, 18, was permitted to see the accused man, William Parker, 19, a navy seaman, after considerable hesitation on the part of the jailer, Clarence Pope. Parker, whose home is Toledo, O., was accused of manslaughter in the death of Mrs. Ella Eames, 42, estranged wife of a Brookline, Mass., pastor, whose nude body was found in an alley here Sunday.

Pope told reporters he feared the daughter would create a scene when she confronted Parker, but after questioning her he led her to the cell.

"Feels Awful," Says Daughter

"I feel awful coming to see you under these circumstances," the daughter told Parker, according to Pope. "Neither father nor any of the other children could do anything with mother."

Stirred by the daughter's sympathy, Parker fumbled for words and then told her: "I don't remember what happened. My mind was coming and going."

After his arrest Parker told police he had picked up Mrs. Eames in a bar and that, after several drinks, they had gone to his hotel room. He said they quarreled and that she struck him with a beer bottle.

Tells of Stripping Body

He said he struck her with another bottle and stripped her body and dumped it into the alley after he found that she was dead.

Mrs. Eames had been estranged four years from her husband, the Rev. Owen Eames, pastor of the Church of the Unity in Brookline. She was a former WAC and Red Cross ambulance driver.

Parker was released from jail late today under $1,000 surety after navy men—including an admiral—guaranteed the money. The charge was reduced from first degree murder to manslaughter at the inquest.

INFERNO RAGING UNABATED THRU OREGON FOREST

Threatens Two Towns and 415 Sailors

Portland, Ore., July 19 (AP)—A forest fire which has already enveloped 55 square miles of northwest Oregon was raging unchecked tonight toward the tiny towns of Glenwood and Gales Creek. The fires started in logging operations but the cause has not been determined.

The blaze, roaring with such fury that it threatened briefly to trap 415 sailors, approached within four miles of Gales Creek—a town of 50, and about three miles of Glenwood—a lumber town of 500.

Goes in Several Directions

Frank Hamilton of the Northwest Oregon Forest Protective association said neither town had been evacuated, and that fire fighters hoped to check the blaze once it hits slower-burning green timber separating it from the town.

All available equipment was thrown into the lines on that side of the blaze—the eastern end.

The fire was raging in several directions, endangering a railroad and growing so quickly the state forester said it might continue until fall rains.

A crew of 415 sailors were almost surrounded last night by flames which spread like lightning thru the trees above the point where they were fighting.

In Rugged Mountains

Leaving some of their gear behind, they succeeded in reaching the road below thru an unburned passage of timber, while the flames licked over their heads.

The Wilson river blaze, which started eight days ago, was racing westward toward green timber with such fury that foresters could not estimate the spread.

Burning thru rugged mountains where there are no roads to help the 2,000 fire fighters, the blaze was roaring toward Tillamook, coastal blimp station 20 miles away.

ORLANDO, TAKEN IN KIDNAP HUNT, IS EXONERATED

Anthony Orlando, 33, of 1517 S. Spaulding av., was exonerated by police yesterday of connection with the kidnaping of an unidentified man at Roosevelt rd. and Blue Island av. Tuesday night. Three gunmen dragged the victim from an automobile and took him away in their black Mercury sedan.

Orlando was arrested with two girl companions yesterday at Madison st. and Kedzie av. after pursuit by a police squad. His automobile was found to be of different make than the kidnap car.

Orlando, an ex-convict, said he had tried to elude police because of his record. He volunteered to take a lie detector test to back his denial of the kidnaping. Police said he would be held for a show-up.

James Belcastro, 53, reputed "king of the bombers," was released from police custody by Judge Charles S. Dougherty in State st. court. Belcastro denied he was the victim of the west side kidnaping. "Everything has happened to me except that," he said.

BOY, 7, IS KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE OF PHYSICIAN

Alfred Jacobs, 7, of 1147 N. Wells st., died in Henrotin hospital last night several hours after he had been struck by an automobile in front of his home. The driver was Dr. Frank M. Dry, 51, of 433 Briar pl., a physician.

Police meanwhile were seeking the driver of a stolen automobile which struck Walter Jenskauskas, about 65, of 1311 S. Lombard av., Cicero, at Dearborn and Harrison sts. He was taken to County hospital with a head injury. The automobile was stolen from a parking lot at 132 N. Dearborn st. It belonged to Lt. E. G. Dankworth of Los Angeles, who is assigned to the Glenview naval air station.

PLANE WITH 15 NAVAL FLYERS BELIEVED LOST

Miami, Fla., July 19 (AP)—Fifteen flyers from Miami naval air station—four officers and 11 enlisted men—are believed to have perished when their four engined plane plunged into the Atlantic ocean while on a training flight, the navy disclosed today.

The PB-4-YW, navy's version of the army's B-24 Liberator, took off at 12:26 a. m. Tuesday. It was due back at 10:26 a. m. yesterday.

Every air-sea rescue unit in south Florida was mobilized to search for the missing plane, the navy said, adding that royal air force units from the Bahamas are cooperating in the hunt.

The Miami weather bureau reported that heavy storms swept the Atlantic off the south Florida coasts, eastward to the Bahamas, on the night the plane took off.

The crew included Lt. [j. g.] Robert Henry Bower, son of Mrs. A. H. Bower, Adrian, Mich.; Peter Kreple, ARM 3/C, husband of Mrs. Peter Kreple, Southeast Grand Rapids, Mich.; and Maurice Dwight Randerson, ARM 3/C, son of Mrs. H. E. Randerson, Winnebago, Ill.

Madison Pilot Killed

Seattle, Wash., July 19 (AP)—A navy pilot killed in a collision of a navy and an army plane yesterday over Tacoma was identified by the 13th naval district today as Lt. W. T. Gleason, 30, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Gleason, 506 Baldwin st., Madison, Wis. He was attached to the naval air station here. One army flyer died in the crash and another parachuted safely.

5 MORE WARD'S DIVISIONS TAKEN OVER BY ARMY

The army yesterday took control of five additional units of the Montgomery Ward & Co. property. The move brought about 700 additional Ward employes under the jurisdiction of the government and raised to 7,000 the total of men and women employes controled by the army.

The units taken over are the Schwinn warehouse, the administrative maintenance department, the display factory, the central printing department, and the photographic department. Some of these departments previously had been under the control of the army, but were returned to the company.

Leo Levy, international vice president of the Retail, Wholesale, and Department Store Workers' union [CIO], said the action was "evidence of continued efforts by the army to put into effect orders of the war labor board."

Maj. Gen. David McCoach Jr., head of the 6th service command, issued the order but refused to comment on the reasons for the additional seizure.

HELD ON BOGUS CHECK CHARGE

Thomas Gillespie, 37, who rooms at 308 Wisconsin av., Oak Park, and is said to be from Los Angeles, Cal., was held to the grand jury in $1,500 bond yesterday by Police Magistrate Edward Schultz of Forest Park. Gillespie was accused of passing bogus checks on tavern keepers.

HIGH SCAFFOLD TIPS; DAD HANGS ON, SON KILLED

New York, July 19 (AP)—Twenty stories above the busy Times Square area, a father and son worked side by side on a scaffold today, waterproofing the side of a building.

The father, Max Bayer, 40, clutched frantically as the scaffold tilted and grasped the end of the dangling rope. Horrified by his son's fate and terrified by his own predicament Bayer nevertheless held on.

Police squads rushed to the scene. While thousands watched from the street, rescuers smashed a 20th floor window, lassoed Bayer, and pulled him in to safety.

WAR HERO LOSES RENT WHILE OPA AIDS PASS BUCK

New Business Delayed Since July 1

When Louis G. Pike Jr., 23, of 1654 N. Francisco av., was discharged from the army in June after four and one-half years' service, three of them in the South Pacific, he wanted a rest.

Louis G. Pike Jr.

But it wasn't long before the holder of the bronze star for action on Guadalcanal and New Guinea got restless to carry out his plan to run a garage and filling station.

He found the place he wanted at 3553-55 N. Clark st. and signed a lease to take over the property July 1 at $85 a month. In order to sell gasoline he had to open a ration bank account with the office of price administration. So, on June 26, he applied to his local ration board, No. 40-46, at 1005 Belmont av., for coupons.

Learns Application Is Untouched

Action wasn't forthcoming, tho he already was paying rent on the property, so 10 days ago he went to the OPA area office. He was told his application had been untouched. The clerks promised to get it out as soon as possible.

A week ago Pike was told that the wife of the man handling his application had had a baby and the man was unable to complete the work.

The veteran went to the retail gasoline dealers' association, whose attorney went to work on OPA's legal department. He got promises that Pike's application would be handled "right away."

Meanwhile, Pike's local board told him the application "has gone to a central issuing office."

Back in Local Board's Hands

The legal section of the metropolitan area OPA told him his application had been approved and that his local board was told to issue coupons to him if it found no evidence of control of the property in an old dealer.

Pike said the building he rented had been vacant and had not been used for a filling station since before rationing went into effect.

Otto Baer of 434 Roscoe st., chairman of the local board, will be out of the city until Monday, it was said yesterday at his loop law office.

Defendant, 17, Bound to Jury in Loop Holdup

James E. Mescall, 17, of the Y. M. C. A. hotel, 826 S. Wabash av., was held to the grand jury in bonds of $20,000 yesterday by Judge J. M. Braude in Boys court on a charge of attempting to hold up three clerks outside the Federal Reserve bank, Jackson blvd. and La Salle st.

SMITTY

DAY by DAY on the FARM by GAIL COMPTON

DENVER, Colo., July 19—A man and his wife on a ranch near Denver are running two flocks of ewes totaling about 1,800 head. Their herder, a Mexican, was getting $150 a month and board. After working four months, he quit, drew his pay, and went to town to have a good time. It is a typical experience these days.

The husband took over one band of ewes and the wife the other. When food ran short in the camp, the wife decided she would have to leave her band long enough to return to the ranch and prepare some. She herded the flock into a canyon with water so the ewes would not stray too far. She was gone two and a half hours. When she returned she found 50 lambs dead, their throats torn by coyotes.

Labor Problem on Range

Occurrences like this have forced sheepmen thruout the range states to liquidate their flocks, despite the fact most of them are making a tidy profit in the business, a survey of the area discloses. The necessary labor is extremely scarce.

The rancher sells his lambs around October. The better lambs usually are fat enough to go to the packing plant and will bring about 16 cents a pound. The fat lamb will weigh around 85 pounds. The lighter lambs, between 60 and 70 pounds, will sell as feeders for about 13 cents a pound.

Lamb feeders, in this area, generally feed alfalfa hay, corn silage, barley, and sugar beet pulp. The lamb will go into the feed lot at 60 pounds and be put on such a ration for about 75 days. Then the feeder buys corn from the eastern part of the country and hardens the fat on his lambs for 20 to 50 days. The result is a lamb weighing between 98 and 110 pounds.

Wool Also Profitable

After the range man has sold his lambs, he divides his ewes into flocks of about 2,000, and in most cases has to feed them thru the winter. The rancher also derives an income from wool, clipped in the spring. The rancher expects between $3 and $4 from each ewe's wool. The ewe clips around 8 pounds of wool worth about 40 cents a pound.

Sheepmen are dubious about wool prices. These are set by the government, which already has enormous stocks on hand. The ranchers fear the artificial prices may break sharply after the war.

Ranchers' chief complaint is lack of labor. This necessitates decreasing their flocks. Before the war, the rancher could count on his herders going to town about twice a year for a spending spree. Now, they go five and six times a year. Many good herders have wandered off to factories, construction gangs, or railroads for higher wages. A good herder means the difference between a 70 per cent lamb crop and a 100 per cent crop. The ranchmen say that with a good herder the flock may show a substantial profit, but with poor labor the same flock will show a loss.

WITNESS TELLS FUTILE ATTEMPT TO KILL HOOPER

Battle Creek, Mich., July 19 (AP)—A former convict calmly related from the witness stand today cold blooded details of two futile attempts to kill the late State Sen. Warren G. Hooper.

Sam Abramowitz, a key witness in the trial of four Detroit men charged with conspiring to murder the legislator, said Sam Fleisher, one of the defendants, drove him to Albion Dec. 28 or 29 and again on Jan. 2.

Abramowitz testified that on the first trip they failed to see Hooper.

On the second trip, he testified, that "after we drove by the [Hooper] office at least 10 times we saw some kids playing in the office. We thought it would be a bad time to do anything while the kids were there."

Abramowitz testified the plan to kill Hooper was made in O'Larry's bar in Detroit last Dec. 26 when he talked to three of the defendants, Pete Mahoney, Mike Selik, and Harry Fleisher.

Congressmen in Alaska Told of Tuberculosis

KETCHIKAN, Alaska, July 19 (AP)—Four congressmen making a tour of Alaska were told the territory's natives had an estimated 4,000 active cases of tuberculosis and heard a suggestion that army hospitals at Nome, Seward, and Anchorage be used eventually to help combat the menace to native health. The four, Representatives Johnson [D., Okla.], Rooney [D., N. Y.], Jenson [R., Ia.], and Dworshak [R., Idaho], heard testimony for three hours concerning Alaska's desires.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

JULY 15 to 20 is the recommended time for planting most varieties of head lettuce for early autumn harvest. The Great Lakes type is a favorite in the farm gardens. Small heads can be harvested about 75 days after planting; mature heads in 90 days. Great Lakes withstands late summer heat better than most varieties, and is slow to produce a seed stalk. Big Boston, Iceberg, and New York varieties also can be planted at this season to mature in 80 to 90 days.

Bibb head lettuce matures earlier than other varieties, and does not withstand hot weather as well as Great Lakes. For these reasons it should not be planted until after Aug. 1. Bibb reaches full size in 60 to 70 days, and develops a seed stalk before heading, if the August and September weather is too warm.

Many gardeners plant Bibb seed between Aug. 1 and 15 and allow the plants to crowd each other in the row, using the crop as leaf lettuce instead of permitting it to head.

City Gets $25,000 Fund to Assist Fight on Polio

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health announced yesterday that the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has advanced $25,000 which his department will spend during the next three months to detect unreported polio cases. Part of the effort, it was learned, will be to find carriers of the disease. Only six polio cases have been reported here so far this year, Dr. Bundesen disclosed.

JENSEN, HUPPERT TAPPED AS 50TH WARD NOMINEES

Jens M. Jensen, Republican committeeman of the 50th ward and state supervisor of liquor revenue, and W. Jerome Huppert, park district accountant, a Democrat, were indorsed by their respective party organizations last night as rival candidates for alderman of the 50th ward. A special election will be held Sept. 4 to fill a vacancy made by the resignation of former Ald. James R. Quinn.

John P. Burke, 36th ward Democratic committeeman and employed in the city's department of public works, is scheduled to be selected by ward workers as their candidate tonight in the Lions building, 4306 W. North av. Frank R. Ringa, former alderman, has the backing of Committeeman Joseph F. Gubbins' regular Republican organization to fill the vacancy created by Ald. Richard M. Walsh's death.

State Sen. Thomas E. Keane, son of the late Ald. Keane, is reported to have the Democratic ward organization's backing for his father's council seat in the 31st ward.

TWO GRAPPLING GIRLS RESCUED FROM PARK POOL

Stanley Matusiak, 17, a lifeguard in Kosciuszko park, East Chicago, Ind., yesterday saved the lives of two girl swimmers in the park pool. The girls, Helen Mack, 1207 149th st., East Chicago, and Dorothy Wozniakowski, 5048 Walsh st., East Chicago, each 13, sank in six feet of water when Helen was seized with a cramp and grabbed her companion. Matusiak dived in and pulled the girls, still locked together, to shore.

Near Record Illinois Peach Yield Forecast

Carbondale, Ill., July 19 [Special]—Illinois housewives are getting few cherries and strawberries for canning this year, and there will be few late apples from Illinois orchards, but fruit growers in this area, says Mrs. Homemaker, should encounter no difficulties in obtaining all the peaches her family can use.

Harry W. Day, manager of the Growers' Sales service here, said today that 11 southern Illinois counties will harvest 1,500,000 to 1,800,000 bushels of high quality peaches during the next five weeks. Many carloads of Golden Jubilees and Hale Havens already have been shipped, but 90 per cent of the crop will be the favored Elbertas. The Elberta harvest will start between Aug. 1 and 4 and continue until about Aug. 25.

The unusual spring weather which played havoc with cherries, small berries, and apples in Michigan and southern Illinois did not harm the peach trees. Elbertas in this area were in bloom during the unseasonably warm weather of March, and the fruit was well set on the branches before the heavy rains and cold weather in April, May, and early June. Spring rains were favorable to the development of peaches, but the same April and May rains reduced pollination of apple trees and damaged small fruits. As a result, growers expect the heaviest shipment of peaches from southern Illinois since the record harvest of 1931.

Day said the peach crop will be high in quality as well as quantity. There have been no serious peach diseases this season, and insect infestation has been low. The favorable spring rains have resulted in fruits of excellent size.

The two barriers to a heavy sale of Illinois peaches will be the shortage of pickers and reduced allotments of canning sugar. Day said all of the southern Illinois farm bureau offices have been recruiting transient laborers, high school boys, and other temporary harvest workers, but many more hands will be needed.

Day said the current ration point value of canned peaches [80 points] will encourage housewives to preserve peaches, even tho they do not have enough sugar to can this fruit in sirup as in former years.

[Mary Meade will send information on canning or freezing peaches without sugar to any one requesting the information. A stamped, self-addresed envelope must be inclosed.]

If Spaghetti Is Hard to Find, Just Blame the War Shortages

War time shortages and regulations hamper even the production of spaghetti, Chicago macaroni manufacturers said yesterday in relating their difficulties in obtaining enough machinery and labor to fill their orders.

Americans last year consumed more than 500 billion feet of spaghetti, the manufacturers reported, but none of them would hazard a guess at the quantity which might have been eaten had producers been able to increase their output.

"We make about 30 tons of spaghetti each day," said John Gallioto, a partner in Gallioto Brothers, 422 S. Des Plaines st., "and we could produce approximately twice as much if we had enough labor. As it is, we're making about 20 per cent more than we made before the war."

The manufacturers agreed that the shortage of meat is one of the chief reasons for the increased popularity of spaghetti.

"We try to kid ourselves into thinking that people love it, but chances are that it's all they can get," said D. N. Givler, general manager of the Foulds Milling company, Libertyville.

John V. Canepa, president of the John B. Canepa company, 312 W. Grand av., said his firm is almost five months behind in deliveries.

Summer Refreshments Easy to Make; Easy on Sugar, Too

BY MARY MEADE

[Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune]

Relief in the guise of ice cold drinks and cool refreshments appears on the hot summer scene this year as in other years. The most popular are those prepared with a minimum of time and precious ration points, using corn sirup or honey instead of scarce sugar and evaporated milk in place of cream.

Any cold drink can be sweetened to taste with honey instead of sugar, or with a sugar sirup to "stretch" sugar. Boil together one cup sugar and one cup water for five minutes. Store in a covered glass jar in the refrigerator for use when needed. For a honey sirup to be used in the same way, simply blend together 1 cup honey and 2 cups hot water and store similarly.

For a cool and sparkling glass of lemonade, add 1 tablespoon honey to the juice of 1 lemon and stir until blended. Stir in 1 cup cold water, and serve over crushed ice in a tall glass. Garnish with a sprig of mint.

Frozen in individual paper cups and topped with crumbs, this honey ice cream is much like the famous biscuit tortoni, but without the sherry and macaroon crumbs used in that rich Italian dessert. This one gets its crispy, crunchy appeal from the prepared rice cereal used.

Honey Ice Cream
[Two quarts]

3 cups crisp rice cereal
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup chopped nuts
3 tablespoons shortening, melted
3 eggs
½ cup honey
¼ teaspoon almond flavoring
1½ cups chilled evaporated milk, whipped

Crush cereal, add with sugar and nuts to melted shortening, and mix well. Cook, stirring constantly, until sugar melts and caramelizes. Cool and crumb mixture. Beat eggs with honey, add flavoring, and fold into whipped evaporated milk. Pour into refrigerator trays and freeze partially. Combine ¾ crumb mixture with partially frozen ice cream, and repack in trays or in individual paper cups. Top with remaining crumbs. Freeze until set.

This frozen coffee dessert uses corn sirup for half the sweetening and whipped evaporated milk instead of hard to get whipped cream.

Coffee Mousse
[One quart]

½ cup ground coffee
1 cup milk, scalded
1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
1 cup cold milk
¼ cup sugar
Dash of salt
¼ cup corn sirup
¾ cup chilled evaporated milk, whipped
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Add ground coffee to hot scalded milk; cover and let stand 15 minutes over hot water. Strain thru wet cheesecloth or very fine strainer. Soften gelatin in cold milk about 5 minutes and dissolve over hot water. Add sugar, salt, and corn sirup and stir until sugar is dissolved. Add coffee-milk mixture and chill in refrigerator until sirupy. Fold into whipped evaporated milk, then into stiffly beaten egg whites. Freeze in refrigerator tray with control set very low for 30 minutes or until frozen about edges. Beat with rotary or electric beater until well blended. Freeze again until set, about 2 hours.

Feed U. S., Then Export Surplus, Retailers Urge

Chicago's retailers protested yesterday against the reported assignment of the office of war information to prepare Americans for continued food shortages so that supplies can be shipped to Europe. Americans should be fed first, they asserted, and the surplus sent to civilians abroad.

John T. Tunzer, field secretary for the Food Retailers of Greater Chicago, said: "American homes have sacrificed so much already they shouldn't be forced to give up more. The energy of our children is low and doctors say the principal cause is an insufficiency of meat, butter, and other rationed foods. Our government's duty is to take care of its own before sending food overseas."

Joseph P. Meek, executive secretary of the Illinois Federation of Retail associations, said: "There will be little chance of sincere public acceptance of a world-wide program until there are convincing proofs that we are producing to our fullest capacity and eliminating all waste at the same time. We should also, before committing ourselves, like to know what the new secretary of agriculture [Clinton P. Anderson] thinks of the program since he already has been quoted as saying 'America cannot feed the world'."

Operators of meat and grocery markets, some of which are closed several days each week for lack of supplies, criticized the proposed OWI campaign and the office of price administration policy that permits shipment of rationed foods to civilians in Europe without surrender of points.

"If there's that much food there isn't any sense to a rationing program," declared Tom Chernauckas, owner of a meat market and grocery at 1907 S. Halsted st. The senders of packages to Europe can't know if the recipients need the stuff. We need more and better food here before we sent it across."

Roger Wahl, manager of a market at 2255 W. Devon av., and Russell Rabjohns, owner of a shop at 247 W. 79th st., expressed similar views. "We close two days a week simply because we can't get enough meat to sell," said Wahl.

Bowed Legs And Knock-Knees Often A Needless Defect

Doctors report that many a child with ugly bowed legs or knock-knees might have grown up straight and shapely on a diet adequate in the bone-building minerals and Vitamin D.

Lack of calcium, for instance, in the earliest years may do irreparable damage—but in any case, calcium is so vital a factor that no child brought up on a consistently deficient calcium intake, can have much chance for strong bones and sound teeth.

That's one reason doctors talk so much about milk for growing children.

Milk is our best food source of calcium. Do your children get enough milk...at least a quart every day? Many children just don't like to take that much every day! That's why Cocomalt in milk is so helpful.

Cocomalt* is so rich in calcium, it makes 3 glasses of milk equal to a whole quart in calcium value! (Also this supplies the day's full minimum requirements for iron, phosphorus, Vitamin B_1 and D.) And Cocomalt's delicious chocolaty flavor makes children love their milk.

News about sugar

Just two years ago these fine sugars . . . tablets, cubes, lumps . . . went to war to serve the needs of fighting men and help make victory in Europe sure.

Now V-E Day has been achieved. But V-J Day is still ahead. Until then, at least part of our production of these sugars in wrapped form will continue to be packed in ration kits for our combat forces.

Before long, however, the balance of our production of these favorite table sugars, even though in limited supply, will again be on grocers' shelves.

Use your sugar stamps, but use them wisely. Make a little do a lot.

Vacations in Western States Lure Number of Chicagoans

BY JUDITH CASS

THE lure of the Rockies and of the sagebrush country has been felt by numerous Chicagoans who have headed west for holidays in Colorado, Wyoming, and Montana. Mrs. Walter P. Paepcke and her daughters, Anina, Paula, and Toni, are spending the summer on the family's Perry Park ranch in Larkspur, Colo., where Mr. Paepcke hopes to join them around Labor day. Mrs. Paepcke and her daughters all will ride in the Junior League Horse show July 28 and 29 in Broadmoor, one of the summer highlights in the Pike's Peak region.

Mrs. Keith Carpenter is visiting her cousin, Mrs. William A. Otis, in Pine Valley, near Colorado Springs, and Mrs. Knight C. Cowles is enjoying a visit with her mother, Mrs. Francis Drexel Smith, in Colorado Springs. They will return to Lake Forest together after Mrs. Carpenter has visited her daughter, Miss Alice Keith Carpenter, who is spending the summer on a dude ranch near Denver.

Enjoying a six week stay at Eaton's ranch in Sheridan, Wyo., are Mrs. J. Beach Clow and her daughter, Nancy. Lt. Clow, who was at home last month en route from Pearl Harbor to his new naval reserve duties, now is in Germany. In his absence Mrs. Clow's mother, Mrs. Horace E. Newcomet, is sharing their Lake Forest home.

Other Western Notes

Mrs. Gail R. Soper and her three children are in Montana for their annual visit to one of the sheep ranches owned by her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Henry C. Gardiner of Anaconda, Mont. Also sharing in the family reunion are Mrs. Soper's sister, Mrs. Owen Sowerwine; the latter's husband, who has returned from navy duty in the Pacific, and their two children. Expected at the ranch within the next few weeks are Lt. Col. Henry E. Gardiner, brother of Mrs. Soper and Mrs. Sowerwine, and his bride, the former Rita Singstad, who have been on a wedding trip to Mexico.

Since June 27 Mrs. T. Lloyd Kelly and her two children have been vacationing at a ranch near Laramie, Wyo. Mr. Kelly left last Sunday to join them. Mr. and Mrs. John V. Farwell III. and their family left Tuesday for Colorado, to be gone until July 30.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Drake and their daughters, Nancy and Bonnie, will leave shortly for the H-F Bar ranch in Saddlestring, Wyo. At the same ranch for a stay of several weeks is Miss Patricia Parks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Parks of Winnetka. For the last year Miss Parks has been serving five days a week at County hospital as a nurses' aid.

Wedding News

From New York comes news of the marriage yesterday of Miss Anne Rogers Benjamin to Robert Raymond Barry, son of Mrs. Ethel T. Barry of Evanston. The wedding took place at 4:30 p. m. in the Central Presbyterian church, with the Rev. Paul A. Wolfe, pastor of the Brick Presbyterian church and formerly pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Evanston, officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. George Hyde Clarke of Cooperstown, N. Y., and Aiken, S. C., and of Henry Rogers Benjamin of New York and Southampton, N. Y.

Mr. Clarke gave his step-daughter in marriage. Miss Nancy Kluge of Montclair, N. J., was the bride's only attendant. Lt. Comdr. G. Keith Funston, president elect of Trinity college, served as best man, and among the ushers was Maj. Robert H. Bethke of Washington, D. C., formerly of Barrington.

The bride is a graduate of Miss Hall's school and attended Bennington college. She is completing her studies at Barnard college. Mr. Barry was graduated from Hamilton college and the Amos Tuck school of administration and finance at Dartmouth college. During the war he has served in the office of the undersecretary of the navy and as an executive of an aviation corporation and the National Association of Manufacturers. His brother, John R. Barry, and Mrs. Barry of Evanston were unable to go east for the wedding.

The summer colony at Castle Park, Mich., is interested in learning more of the details of the marriage of Miss Joan Baker and Lt. [j. g.] Arnold Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Moore of Lake View av and Castle Park. The ceremony took place July 16 in the Sea Bee chapel on Guam. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Milton Baker of Birmingham, Mich., has been serving as an American Red Cross staff assistant in the Pacific

WITH 266TH BAKERY CO., BAGUIO, P. I., July 19—S/Sgt. Archie O. Pittman, who used to travel the Memphis, Tenn., area singing the praises of a distillery's products—got paid for it, too—is a very modest man. When pressed for a public statement he says, "My gosh dinged men bake the best gosh dinged bread in the whole gosh dinged army."

"Gosh dinged," you understand, is the civilian equivalent of an army phrase. The sergeant, the modest man, is forceful when his bakery is concerned.

When Pittman and his 25 bakers were sent to Bougainville a year and a half ago they were expected to turn out as many as 1,200 loaves daily. But recently here at Baguio the men have been baking as high as 5,184 loaves. That is one batch of 36 loaves every 10 minutes for 24 hours.

Quite a few thousand guys of the 32d division hereabouts agree when Pittman says his is the best bread in the whole army. They gobble down the half pound allotted them daily and shout for more "of that cake."

If you want to dash off a few thousand loaves of bread, this is the way to do it:

Take 12 ounces of dried yeast and 1¾ pounds of sugar and dissolve in five pounds of water. Weigh 50 pounds of flour, add 12 ounces of salt and six ounces of condensed milk, and pour all this and the sugar and yeast solution, together with 24 pounds more of water, into a mixer. Mix for 12 minutes. Roll the dough into an insulated can. Let it rise for an hour and a half. Knock it down—a technical phrase—with both fists. Let it rise again for 20 minutes.

Roll onto a floured table, chop into two round lumps, and roll and pound and slap the lumps into rolls two inches across and 10 inches long. Put six rolls into a greased pan and place in a canvas covered rack. Let rise for 40 minutes. Place in an oven at 475 degrees, then cut the heat back to 400 degrees and bake for 55 minutes. The result is 36 two pound loaves. Repeat 100 times and the result is 3,600 loaves.

Sounds easy, but there are complications. Take the flour. It's Australian and every batch is different. The same with the sugar. Some dissolves easily and some doesn't. Or the yeast. Sometimes you have to use 20 ounces instead of 12, or sometimes only 10. It seems some is just more powerful than others, and you never know until you try.

Or the water. In hot Bougainville you should put ice in it. Here at Baguio you heat it. The effect is to have the dough come out of the mixer at exactly 82 degrees. Below or above that the yeast won't work properly.

Once a general wanted raisin bread and put the touch on the quartermaster for 20,000 pounds of raisins. The quartermaster said okay and sent 20,000 pounds of dried apples. So Pittman and his boys made apple bread. "Never heard of such stuff," Pittman says honestly. He licks his lips and says it was certainly gosh dinged good.

Eugene Bunch, Hinsdale, Ill., Anthony Lavedas, Gary, Ind., and the other 23 guys who help Pittman never worked in a bakery in peace time. Neither did Pittman, tho perhaps his connection was close, since the distillery for which he worked also used yeast.

American Fashion Designer's Latest Creations in Current Showings

2. One of Halpert's flawless dull black crepe dresses designed to wear as a foundation dress for precious jewels or fine furs, muff, hat, or stole. Side swept shirred drapery swings low in a diagonal line in the otherwise straight skirt.

3. Perfect all-purpose black crepe town and daytime dress. The long fitted sleeves are simple; the neckline is held with link buttons of pigskin, matching the belt. At the side is the swag drapery caught casually thru the belt.

4. Distinctive two color costume of cocoa brown and black crepe. The cocoa brown fashions the greater part of the smartly cut bodice and one long sleeve. The black sleeve complements the Grecian shirred peplum and slim skirt of black.

5. Jockey striped blouse top of a simple floor length dinner dress, using bold contrast stripes of black and yellow gold cut in shallow vee formation. The solid black skirt is straight and slim.

6. Exciting new fluidly draped evening gown. Several jewel tones, ruby, pearl gray, emerald, and dull black, dramatize the hand shirrings in the bodice and the front of the graceful floor length skirt. Jeweled clips define each side of the square cut neckline.

Fashions sketched will be available in Chicago shops and stores after the official fall and winter openings.

THE QUESTION

WHERE ASKED

Harvey.

THE ANSWERS

Helen Atelevich, student, 14910 Lincoln st., Harvey—If I were adopted I would want to know it. I wouldn't want to be told until I was grown up because then it wouldn't make so much difference to me. It wouldn't be fair to marry if your husband thought you belonged to a family when you were not a blood relative.

Carol Fagan, student, 153d st., South Holland—It would probably be a heartbreaking experience to grow up thinking your parents were your own and then discover you were adopted. But I don't think I'd want to know it until I was older. Whether the child finds out at an early age or later, he should know the truth.

Henry Wooley, taxi driver, 14826 Center av., Harvey—I raised two step-children from the time they were three and four until they were old enough to take care of themselves. That's almost the same as adopting them. They knew I wasn't their real father when they grew older, but they treated me with respect.

Mrs. A. V. Gaurell, housewife, 3332 Chicago rd., Steger—There is the possibility that an adopted child may some day find out he is adopted. Therefore, rather than taking the chance of having the child find that he has been deceived, I say he should be told. If the child is fairly young he'll feel that it's all right.

V. L. Westlund, navy inspector, 1150 E. 62d st.—I know of a case where a boy was told when he was 17 that he had been adopted. He was so bitter about it that he left home. His foster parents never heard from him again. I think a child should be told when he is young, or not at all to avoid such cases.

Helen Rodger, housewife, 15418 Lexington st., Harvey—We adopted a boy in my family. He grew up with all of us and was treated like a brother. We told him about his own brothers and sisters when he was a small child and said when he was older he could look them up. He didn't mind being adopted.

Halpert's Skill Again Is Shown in Smart Attire

BY REA SEEGER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

New York, July 19—Joseph Halpert, who each year presents wearable, smart, and sleek fashions for "the average American woman," has done it again this year. His fall and early winter collection, paraded for the nation's fashion writers in the current showings sponsored by the New York Dress institute, took plenty of medals for snap, color, figure flattery, and that ephemeral bit of something called smooth grooming.

Halpert's offerings in the indispensable all black dresses alone are worth a nice glittering medal, and his new two color combinations are super-perfect creations that look breathtakingly expensive while actually being incredibly moderate in price. The dresses with side swept drapery are slenderizing, yet animated; the shoulders are exquisitely managed, with enough extra width but not so much as to look like football jersey shoulders—which in itself is no small proof of genius.

There's a cocoa colored peplumed jacket with black braid buttons topping a straight black skirt, which is a gem of perfection. It's a day time dress with one sleeve of cocoa color and one of black, half the chest of cocoa brown, the other half black, and a rippled peplum to add further interest.

For sheer lilting color, Halpert shows slim distinctive day time or street dresses in billiard green, a bright pink, dusky gold, lush purple, and the suave steel gray and subtle beige shades. Each can be worn dressed up or down with exciting hats, bags, and gloves. Also in his exhibit, and sensational for draped simplicity, are the superb floor length dinner dresses of clinging crepe. The drapery details alone are indicative of what this one man show contains, a collection dedicated to the American way of living and looking.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

Lovely Luxuries

Thru these war years, things formerly taken for granted have been transformed into lovely luxuries. Numerous replies to the questionnaire, "What are you looking forward most to buying when the war is over?" show that the white collar girls dream wistfully of other luxuries as well as nylons.

A number of business girls mention [as does one] "a girdle that feels like a girdle and not like an old potato sack after three wearings—and one with supporters to support!" Several ask for cigarets, and a good half dozen express a desire for roast beef, or steaks, or triple orders of butter, while one voices her anticipation of "a luncheon sandwich that is more than a speck on the plate and fills more than a speck of that hollow in a W. C. G.'s stomach at lunch time—at a price slightly lower than that of a five course dinner."

One W. C. G. would like, in addition to nylons, "pure silk blouses"; more than one could be made happy by fur coats [without taxes]; "shoes that fit" are on various lists, as are "cotton dresses at reasonable prices" and "surplus clothing." Two or three look forward to silk hose; one would like "stockings long enough, strong enough, sheer enough, and inexpensive enough for an average W. C. G.'s purse."

Costume jewelry and "nice linen handkerchiefs" comprise the post-war wishes of still other white collar girls. One sounds a small note of feminine appeal understood, so well, by us all. She would like, she says, "a foolish hat before I'm too old to wear it."

Just droops and soon is straight;
But all my carbon sheets will curl

What's in a Name?

The postoffice misdirected to us a letter plainly addressed to another Chicago firm. Our mailing division opened it and sent it to the department which would handle the merchandise mentioned in the letter. That division had on file a letter from the same correspondent, so the note about a prospective visit from the correspondent fitted the case. The boss read it; his secretary filed it. It was about the 'nteenth person who handled the letter who noticed the original address was to a firm other than ours. Every one along the line assumed he was right and passed on the letter to the next department. It isn't only secretaries who make mistakes! ANIGMA

Concert by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Alfred Wallenstein conductor. Presented at Ravinia Thursday evening, July 19, 1945. The program:
Concerto in G minor, for strings ..... Vivaldi-Mistowski
Suite for orchestra, Opus 19....Dohnanyi
Symphony No. 2, E minor...Rachmaninoff

Mysterious [or perhaps just modest] Mistowski was one of the heroes at Ravinia last night, for it was his superior orchestration of Antonio Vivaldi's Concerto in G Minor for Strings that got Alfred Wallenstein's second concert with the Chicago Symphony orchestra off to a brilliant start. Being a cellist at heart, Mr. Wallenstein as a conductor is at his best when he works with strings, and our string section is not to be underestimated, particularly when a concerto is built around a string quartet composed of John Weicher, Franz Polesny, Milton Preves, and Dudley Powers.

Considering the result, Mistowski might as well give up and take, as one customer suggested, a bowski. For he need hide no longer. He caused several of us a merry chase in advance, as we tried to identify him and finally Mr. Wallenstein confessed he doesn't know who he is, either. He found the score at a music publisher's, and, considering its caliber, is justified in believing it may be the work of some distinguished fellow in disguise.

For it undeniably is distinguished music, superbly handled. Composers from Bach down have enjoyed worsing over the music of the prolific "red priest" and this new version has considerable ingenuity in the handling of its four soloists in various combinations, plus the intelligence to retain Vivaldi's own freshness and freedom of style. I hope the work stays firmly put in our repertory.

Mr. Wallenstein also programmed the Dohnanyi Suite and Rachmaninoff's E Minor Symphony, perhaps in memory of old times, for both were Stock specialties. The Dohnanyi has not been played much of recent years, and there is no pretending that last night's performance was the old time show piece of buoyant texture and flawless detail. But it had Hungarian high spirits, a good solo or two, and now and then a dash of virtuosity that made pleasant listening.

Listening to music from the rear of Ravinia's pavilion does one of two things to music—it blots out some of the perfection of a good performance and some of the imperfection of a not so good one. I stood there for Rachmaninoff's symphony and found it in the latter class despite the fact that it had some beautiful interludes and that in the last movement it captured much of the surging beauty that can make the score magnificent. But the Second Symphony is not content with interludes; shorn of urgent continuity of expression, it goes flabby. Back of all that flooding lyricism, all that rush of melody is ar inflexible, even an irresistible, driving force, and realization of that force is what makes it, in great performance, a great work. Rachmaninoff, like Tschaikowsky, has an aristocratic backbone.

Demands U. S. Borrow Sugar from England

Washington, D. C., July 19 (AP)—Rep. Jenkins [R., O.], chairman of the Republican congressional food study committee, said today that unless sugar is made available immediately to housewives, canners, and other commercial users "much of the produce of victory gardens and vast quantities of other foods . . . is certain to be lost."

The congressman made these five specific recommendations to the house to help relieve the sugar situation:

"1. Borrow sugar from the United Kingdom.

"2. Borrow sugar from military allocations.

"Transfer allocations of sugar temporarily from military to essential civilian use.

"3. Embargo exportation of American-allocated sugar.

"4. Expand sugar beet production.

"5. Prepare now to produce sugar in the orient."

In proposing that the United States borrow sugar from the United Kingdom, Rep. Jenkins said: "It is reported that for more than two years past Great Britain has held stocks of sugar in excess of normal peace time practice. We should borrow immediately 200,000 or more tons of sugar now in the West Indies."

In connection with his embargo recommendation, Jenkins recalled that the Republican congressional food commmittee strongly recommended a month ago that an embargo be placed on the shipment of sugar available to the United States to any foreign country until the actual stockpiles of those countries are disclosed and justified. "Up to this time no apparent action has been taken on this recommendation," he added.

Declaring that the military pattern in the orient seems to have taken shape, Rep. Jenkins, in urging preparation to produce sugar there, said: "Steps should now be taken by the administration to move in immediately after our military forces with the necessary machinery and equipment to bring about speedy production of sugar cane."

ACCOUNTED FOR

"Sir Arthur is our guardian angel," Ralph exclaimed as he saw Ruth. "We'll hang his portrait in our hall." "He has spoiled my news," said Gillian. "I've accounted for the tablets, Ralph! I know for absolutely certain that I did not put them in the milk. So that finishes the jolly old 'wedge.'"

"Our luck has turned. Where did you find the tablets?"

"I didn't find them." She paused "I—well, some one else told me exactly what happened. And I promised I would never tell a living soul."

"No, darling, what does it matter! I feel as if all that tablet business happened years ago."

"It was bad enough at the time," she reminded him. "I really did have a sort of faint doubt about myself."

"So had I! We were caught by a trick which we played on ourselves. Also, we were both frightened of a shadow—and the shadow was Margaret Steel. It was to get away from her that I wanted to go to the Midlands. But I shan't go now. My best work is here. Let's get married in London next week!"

"Yes, let's! You'll have to make all the arrangements."

"We'll cut 'em out with a special license. I can squeeze a full fortnight for our honeymoon."

"And afterward, where shall we live?"

"I don't care," he cried gaily. "We can put up at the Royal George while we're waiting for a place we like. I vote we don't take that house she wanted to foist on us. For one thing, it's too expensive"—his jaw dropped—"O, my hat!"

"What is it?", she asked, in alarm.

"Didn't you hear what I said? I said 'it's too expensive'—I had forgotten. We'd both forgotten that you have mopped up all that." The gay note had gone from his voice. "Why, we can live anywhere! We can just drive around until we see a house we like and walk into it and stuff 'em with gold until they hand us their home on a plate and thank us for kicking them out."

"Ralph, dear, why are you so bitter about the money? You know we would never do anything so cruel and vulgar. Money can help us to be happy and make others happy, too."

"I'm not bitter about it, Gillie," he protested. "I shall enjoy being rich, like any other sane man. But it will change us—turn us into different people."

"No," said Gillian. "We can live as simply as she did."

"Living simply or not, she was a local empress and admitted it. You will be a local empress. And I shall be the local prince consort who likes to sit at a desk in his wife's factory and pretend he's earning his share."

"Sorry, darling!" he said contritely. "I suppose it's the old fear in another form. I love you as you are so much that I don't want you to be changed. We'll just have to prevent the money from choking us."

"If you love me as I am, I'll take care not to change."

"How can you help it! In a day or so old Simon will come cringing round you for a pension. You will decide his future. See what happens to you then, Gillian."

"Poor Margaret!" he ejaculated.

He was the only one who indulged in the hypocrisy of pretending grief. "I don't mind confessing, my dear Gillian, that I have had a struggle with myself to forgive her for deluding my dear wife into the belief that our old age would be secure. There have been many calls on my humble salary—it was impossible for us to save a penny. I hardly expect her health to survive the shock of having to face—er—possible penury."

After the funeral the family came up to the house. In the hall Agnes drew Gillian aside, urged her into the morning room.

"I want to apologize," she said sullenly. "I believed you had poisoned her, or I wouldn't have said it. I would have believed it still—if Valerie hadn't told me."

"I knew you were sincere, Agnes. It's over and we must all forget it," said Gillian graciously. She would remember Valerie's action.

The assembly was traditional. None of them wished to be there, and in half an hour they were leaving. Lyle Weston was the last to go.

"I suppose I shall get the sack, after what I said in here the other afternoon," he said sheepishly. "But it'll be dirty if you fire my brother, too."

"I didn't suppose you'd run the show, but half a nod from you would do the trick. Anyhow, thanks for being broad minded and so on. Good-by!"

"Lyle! Why do you dislike me so? What have I done?"

"I don't dislike you, Gillian." His thoughts were forming as he spoke. "But we don't get a chance to be ordinary. If I tell you it's a fine day, it'd look as if I were playing up for a hand-out. Had enough of that with the old girl. Learned my lesson. Good-by—and good luck, Gillian!"

That, she thought after he had gone, was straight and manly. Even Lyle had hated himself for cringing to Margaret Steel.

Was Ralph so wrong after all? He was certain it would change him. And she did not want him changed any more than she wanted her changed.

"There's the mayor, Mr. Sendleman, in the hall," announced Ruth. "Says he wants to speak to you special."

The mayor, a middle aged business man, had made a comfortable fortune. He was intelligent, kindly, and a great believer in Tenstable's future.

"Miss Beynon, my calling on you is very irregular, but I hope the results will justify me. It will save time if you will be good enough to read this." He handed her a couple of typewritten sheets. "This is a copy of a statement signed by Ruth yesterday afternoon."

Take Supply of Baby Foods on Long Trip

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

In continuing, and finishing today, the series of articles we have been writing for mothers who are forced by circumstances to take long rail journeys with their babies, we are going to make suggestions about those foods, other than milk, which must be carried along and fed to the baby, in line with his regular diet schedule.

Since the giving of citrus fruit juice creates just one more hurdle in the journey, this can be dispensed with for these few days. For it may be substituted vitamin C tablets of 50 milligrams each. Find out from your doctor if one a day is adequate. Crush it and mix it with a spoonful of baby food.

For a transcontinental railroad journey you would need for a 6 month old baby approximately the following quantities of canned baby foods: 4 fruits, 4 vegetables, 2 meat soups, 2 canned cereals, and 2 custard puddings.

Logically, as with the canned milk, after you have once opened a can, its contents should not be used again. Let the baby eat all he will from one can of baby food, then dispose of the rest. These purees do not need to be warmed. It is wise to figure your quantity, then have at least a couple of extra cans in case of a long delay in arriving.

Even tho your baby is not yet walking and talking, it is well to take along some of the objects or actual toys which amuse him. There may be bright colored things he's enjoyed handling at home, a soft doll, or a woolly dog, or else something similar that is new and will therefore intrigue him.

Even a baby under a year old will enjoy a box or a small covered can or pail into which you have put a miscellaneous assortment of little articles he has not seen before: A huge button, a string of small ones, a bell, a string of empty spools, an empty cold cream jar, a soft bright ball [made by you], a red emery cushion, strawberry shaped—things like these or others will keep him quiet for minutes on end.

Well, I hope I've helped you with these half dozen columns of suggestions, for they are not theory but are based on actual traveling experience during this war period.

Thru the Looking Glass

There was a wave of "face lifting" after the last war, you'll remember. It begins to appear we might have one after this war, too.

We've had several letters lately from determined ladies who want their noses redesigned, the bust line remodeled, the double chins reduced to one, all by the drastic method of surgery. They're apparently under the airy impression that there's virtually nothing to it. After all, they say, the medical men in the service are able to do quite wonderful things for the men scarred in the war—and why shouldn't vanity be served by this same skill?

We doubt that it will be. We've never met a completely reputable surgeon who was even slightly tempted to operate on a patient when vanity alone necessitated the operation. Men who know the seriousness of surgery will do their best for the victim of an accident, let's say, whose scars are unsightly—but they won't "lift" faces for women who want it just to look younger.

Plastic surgery, like all other surgery, is serious business. Only the charlatan presents it in any other light. Most doctors feel, and feel strongly, that the operation that is really unnecessary is one the reputable men simply won't perform.

It is not easy to find a skilful and conscientious doctor to perform such surgery. It's not too hard to find the other kind, unfortunately. It seems to us the wise woman would be extremely wary of the doctor who advertised such services, promising beauty and youth to all comers.

Our best advice to such women is that they forget about plastic surgery. The results don't justify the risks. ELEANOR NANGLE

Here and There

The walls of the Kenneth Curtises' Winnetka home will ring with merriment tonight, for the 85th in a series of Friday parties Mr. and Mrs. Curtis give for naval officers from the Glenview station is being turned into a debutante night celebration, with 40 or 50 contemporaries of the Curtises' debutante daughter, Claire, serving as hostesses. About 100 young persons will gather in the third floor playroom, a rustic setting with cherry cypress ceiling and split log walls hung with Mr. Curtis' hunting and fishing trophies, for games, a ping-pong tournament, and dancing.

Somewhere in the Pacific, Lt. Comdr. Henry D. Coulton will learn of the arrival of a daughter, Judith Henning, July 2 in Highland Park hospital. The baby and her mother, the former Carola Kellner, are at home in Highland Park with young Mrs. Coulton's mother, Mrs. George Kellner.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	Pass	Pass	Double
Pass	1 spade	Pass	1 no trump
Pass	2 hearts	Pass	3 hearts
Pass	3 spades	Pass	4 hearts
Pass	Pass	Pass

This apparently colorless hand was productive of one of the best exhibitions of bidding that has come to my attention in many months. East and West displayed not only a fine understanding of contract principles but what is even more important, a delicate partnership touch.

South opened normally enough with one diamond and North, of course, was unable to keep the bidding open. East, at this point had a choice of bids. He could call one no trump or double. The latter was by far the better choice because he was prepared adequately in the major suits and furthermore, such action would be more apt to impress partner with his strength.

West responded with one spade and East's bid of one no trump is worthy of note. With the 4-3-3-3 distribution a distinct effort should be made to find the shorter route to game, particularly with a double stopper in the suit adversely bid. Furthermore, it is good policy not to raise the suit you have forced your partner to bid, unless you have four trumps.

At this point, West made the bid that merits special commendation. Some players would have passed one no trump on the theory that they didn't have very much, others would have bid two spades because they didn't like no trump. West recognized that he held a good hand [in light of partner's bidding] and that a holding of four cards in a major suit, however weak, may be of interest to partner. He therefore, bid hearts, which East raised to three.

In order to warn East of his own distinct preference for spades West rebid that suit. This is a clear warning to partner that the hearts are very anaemic. East realized that West had five spades and only four hearts, but elected to play for game in hearts on the theory that a 4-4 trump holding is more effective than a 5-3 division. This is true because the five card suit may be used for discards after trumps are out. Note that it would have been impossible to make four spades but West succeeded in making four hearts.

The eight of diamonds was opened and ducked. South won and returned a club. West led the 10 of hearts and permitted it to ride. South won and led the king of clubs. This was ruffed by declarer and another heart led, North's jack showing up. South won with the ace and could take no more tricks, East's losers being discarded on West's long spades.

The usual weekly quiz will appear tomorrow.

Negro Festival Tonight Will Be F. D. R. Tribute

The sixth annual American Negro Music festival, which will be held tonight in Comiskey park in tribute to the late President Roosevelt, will climax a week's activities in the interest of building good will among all races. It is American Negro Music Festival Good Will Week, according to a proclamation by Mayor Kelly.

The program will feature stars of radio, screen, and the concert stage. Paul Muni, Hollywood actor who arrived yesterday from the west coast, will be the headliner. Petty Officer Graham Jackson, noted Negro accordionist who is said to have been the favorite musician of the late President, will present several numbers, among them "Going Home," which he played when the body of the late Mr. Roosevelt was borne from Warm Springs, Ga.

The tribute to the late President will be staged against a field of assembled flags of the allied nations. The color guard will be composed of soldiers and sailors, and a military band will play for the memorial service. For one full minute the lights of the park will be blacked out, except for the illuminated stage, and the audience will rise for silent prayer. A thousand voiced choir will chant.

Participating in the memorial service will be three navy chaplains, one of whom is the first Negro chaplain in the navy, Lt. T. D. Parham. Others taking part in the good will program will be Lionel Hampton and his band, Anne Brown, soprano of "Porgy and Bess" fame; the Deep River Boys, and the University of Chicago choir.

All elevated express trains will stop at 35th street and hundreds of extra street cars will be added to provide adequate transportation to and from Comiskey park, Charles T. Browning, director of publicity for the festival, announced. Also, thru the coöperation of the Illinois reserve militia, the entire 8th regiment will be stationed at main intersections to give information.

Mr. Costello's Antics Delight Young and Old

By Mae Tinée

The Palace theater is literally rocking with the laughter of kids, some of them below teen age—some of 'em white haired. Lou Costello's pudgy face and contrived mishaps have the audience squealing. I must say that "The Naughty Nineties" has more humor and less slap-stick than the usual Abbott and Costello movie.

The boys are aboard an old showboat, Abbott as a leading man in the melodramas and Lou as the man of all work who handles sound effects, does a bit of plain and fancy cooking, goes fishing, and has a long and pointless but fairly funny discussion about baseball. It's difficult to hear many of the lines because of the delighted shrieks of the audience at a mere grimace by Mr. Costello—but as long as the people are happy what difference do the lines make?

The plot concerns three wicked gamblers, two male and one female, who wine and dine old Capt. Joe and obtain possession of his showboat after a crooked card game. They reckon without the two comics, however, and the fatal attraction of one of the gamblers, Alan Curtis, for Capt. Joe's daughter.

If you don't know what to do with the kids these vacation days, take them to the Palace; the picture is clean and silly and they'll eat it up.

Mystery with Mirth

"TWO O'CLOCK COURAGE"

Produced by RKO-Radio, directed by Anthony Mann, featuring Tom Conway, Ann Rutherford, Richard Lane, Lester Matthews, Roland Drew, Emory Parnell, Bettejane Greer, Jean Brooks, Edmund Glover, and Bryant Washburn. Also presented at the Palace.

"Two O'Clock Courage" is more comedy than mystery and as such isn't too bad. It boasts some funny lines and a thoroly complicated plot which no one worries too much about. A nosy landlady seemed to be the most popular character with the audience when I caught the picture, altho Tom Conway is pleasant as the man who lost his memory due to a pop on the head and regains it by receiving another whack, and wonders whether he committed a murder in the interim. Ann Rutherford is vivacious and may remind you a bit of Rosalind Russell in her role of a lady cab driver who becomes involved with the guy who doesn't even know his own name.

You may not guess whodunit, but I doubt if you're really expected to.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 19—Walt Disney tells me his next big musical fantasy will be "Make Mine Music." Having given us tunes from Latin America, he'll concentrate on the home front. He has some of our greatest names. With the exception of one scene, this one will be all cartoon with voice and band behind every number. He already has Dinah Shore, Benny Goodman, and Ballet Artists David Lichine and Bisbouchinska. The latter two will do "Two Silhouettes" which Dinah Shore sings. Goodman will do "All the Cats Join In." And "After You've Gone," the perennial favorite by Henry Creamer and Turner Layton, will have the swing of Goodman, Cozy Cole, Sid Weiss, and Teddy Wilson. It was Cole's drumming that practically stopped the show, "Carmen Jones." This is one thing you can look forward to in 1946.

No Help in This Emergency

Donald Nelson stepped onto the set of "Abilene" yesterday to see how pictures are made and ran smack into a shortage he could do nothing about. Seventy cowboys in the picture were told to smoke up. Nobody lit anything. The order was given again, then one of them said, "For 10 bucks a day, you don't think we're going to smoke our own cigarets, do you?" No, Nelson didn't offer his, but the assistant director sure ran to the producer and got some from him. . . . Reason Barbara Britton was yanked out of "Abilene" was because Ann Dvorak was getting all the publicity and Barbara was getting left. . . . Lt. Bill Orr is sporting a new post-war contract with Warners.

Dancing in the Streets

New York readers of "Dick Tracy" are rejoicing that the delivery strike has been ended, just when Breathless is being bedeviled by a snake after being plowed under at her own request. I took up Dick Tracy about a year ago, and I'd give up my cup of coffee any morning for it. . . . Gertrude Berg, who wrote and acted in "The Goldbergs" for 12 years is now working on a play which John Golden plans to produce this fall. Gertrude looked forward so eagerly to getting over to Europe as a correspondent, and when at long last the okay came thru, SHAEF notified Mutual it was accepting no more correspondents. Wouldn't you love to have read Mrs. Goldberg's description of the discovery of Hitler's body? Why not put Gertrude on the trail—She'd dig the body up herself! . . . I'll say J. Arthur Rank is different. He took time out to send a note of thanks before leaving our town. . . . Jinx Falkenburg and Ed Gardner are expected home in four weeks. Where did Jinx's bridegroom, Tex McCrary, go?

Ideas of Her Own

Ethel Barrymore is urging Louis Lighton to cast Lillian Gish as Anna in "Anna and the King of Siam." She thinks the role requires a more mature person than Dorothy McGuire, who's a wonderful actress but too young for the part. . . . Reggie Allen, returning to the South Pacific, tells me Jerome Zerbe took some grand shots of the landings on Iwo Jima and Okinawa. Jerry's made himself a real spot and many friends in the navy. . . . Cheever Cowdin wanted to sign Danny Kaye at Universal before Sam Goldwyn ever thought of grabbing him. . . . Edmund Gwenn is delighted with Tennessee Williams' play, "You Touched Me," which he'll do on Broadway. . . . When Hope Lighton met Freddie Lonsdale at my house, they laughed about their telephone meeting in London in 1928. Hope and Buddy had letters of introduction to him, but never did anything about them. One day Hope was startled by a voice over the phone saying, "I'd suggest you leave London." "Who's this?" asked Hope. "Freddie Lonsdale. We're about to have a general strike and there's no telling how it may turn out."

FULL BACK—Sgt. Ernie Bonelli, Pittsburgh.

BY WILFRID SMITH

Football fans from the state of Wisconsin will be divided in allegiance when the College All-Stars face the Green Bay, Wis., Packers in Soldiers' field Aug. 30. Thousands, of course, will cheer for the champions of professional football but others will applaud two Marquette university players, Johnny Strzykalski and Martin Silovich.

Strzykalski, one of the Hilltoppers' greatest half backs, comes from Milwaukee. Silovich, iron man center on Marquette's 1943 and 1944 teams, is regarded as one of Milwaukee's own altho the veteran center was reared in Waukegan, Ill., where he played prep football with Alex Kapter, one time Northwestern university football captain.

Glenn Dobbs' Teammate

That record, incidentally, was made the year after "Strike" was graduated from Milwaukee's South Division High school. In support is his fine play after entering the service. He was a teammate last year of Glenn Dobbs.

Scored 36 points on six touchdowns and forward passed for five more touchdowns.

Carried the ball 126 times and gained 579 yards for an average of 4.6 yards on each play.

Ran 79 yards with four intercepted forward passes.

Ran back 25 punts for 296 yards and ran back three kickoffs for 203 yards.

Threat to Packers

Johnny played left half back—the triple threat position—at Marquette and it is obvious his kicking, passing, and running will be a constant threat to the Packers.

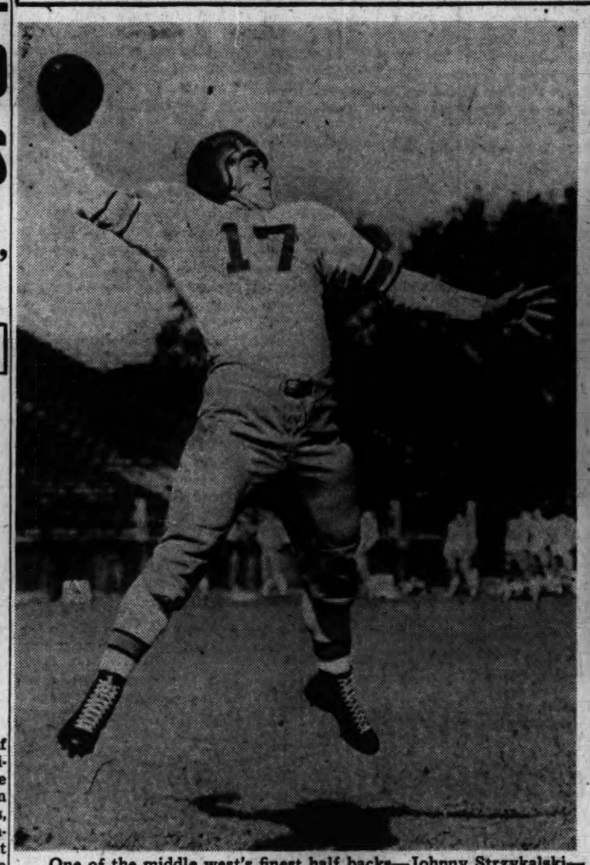
Silovich will be invaluable on defense, for his work back of the line matches that of Tex Warrington of Auburn. With Ohio State's Gordon Appleby also included in the All-Star group, the center position certainly is one which will be filled to the satisfaction of the coaches.

The All-Star squad will report Aug. 12 at Northwestern university to begin practice. Tickets for the game may be ordered by mail [send letters to All-Star Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower] or purchased at THE TRIBUNE's Public Service offices, 1 S. Dearborn st. and in the lobby of Tribune Tower. Tickets in the $3.60, $2.40, and $1.20 sections remain.

Call for Musicians

MUSICIANS who wish to join the College All-Star band, which will appear in Soldiers' field the night of the All-Star game, Aug. 30, are asked to communicate with Ray Dvorak, director of bands at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis.

MORE TROUBLE FOR THE CHAMPION PACKERS



One of the middle west's finest half backs—Johnny Strzykalski—in the pose he made famous at Marquette university. You'll see him play with the College All-Stars against the Green Bay Packers in Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 30.

VIRGINIA NILLES, MRS. MAYER PLAY IN GOLF FINALS

For the second straight year, Virginia Nilles of Rolling Green will be a finalist in the Chicago Women's District Golf tournament when she meets Mrs. Frank Mayer of the Lake Shore Country club in today's 36 hole final match at the Northmoor Country club in Highland Park.

Miss Nilles, who was also runner-up in the Illinois state championship last week, entered the final round by defeating Mrs. H. M. Sims of Evanston, 3 and 1, in yesterday's semi-finals. The victory duplicated last year's performance when the Nilles girl defeated her Evanston rival in the semi-finals.

In yesterday's other semi-final match, Mrs. Mayer scored a surprising 4 and 3 triumph over Rena Nelson of Exmoor, the qualifying medalist and winner of the championship in 1934. The match was a see-saw affair for the first four holes as each won two holes. Mrs. Mayer then proceeded to shoot five straight pars to reach the turn with a 3 up lead. She was out in 39, two over par, against Miss Nelson's 43.

Match Ends on 15th

Mrs. Mayer's lead was trimmed to 2 up when she bogied the 10th where she missed the green with her second. They halved the next hole in par but Mrs. Mayer birdied the 12th where she chipped up close and sank her putt for a 4. She fired another birdie at the 13th where she knocked down a 15 foot putt to go 4 up. They halved the next two holes to end the match on the 15th.

Miss Nilles came from behind to win her match over Mrs. Sims. Virginia was 1 down at the 6th but sank a 25 foot approach shot at the 7th for a deuce to square the match.

Nilles Drops 30 Foot Putt

Miss Nilles widened her lead by winning the 10th with a par 4 when Mrs. Sims put her drive in the rough. Virginia sank a 30 foot approach shot at the 12th for a birdie 4 to go 3 up. Mrs. Sims birdied the next hole in 3 to narrow the gap but lost the 15th with a double bogie. Both were trapped on the 16th which Mrs. Sims won with a 6.

The cards:

Par—Out	445	354	345—37
Mrs. Mayer—Out	455	454	345—39
Miss Nelson—Out	546	356	356—43
Mrs. Mayer 3 up.
Par—In	445	454	535—39—76

Mrs. Nilles—Out	557	355	255—43

Miss Nilles 1 up.

WORLD SERIES ASSURED THRU NAVY REQUEST

Nimitz, Forrestal in Joint Plea

Washington, D. C., July 19 (AP).—The 1945 world series virtually was assured today as the result of a request by Secretary of Navy Forrestal and Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet.

They asked Commissioner A. B. [Happy] Chandler to make arrangements to send the world series winner "on a tour [90 days] of the Pacific ocean to play army and navy teams at advance bases."

Forrestal is so enthusiastic about the possibilities of such a tour that he commented in a letter to Chandler: "It may persuade more Japs to surrender because the one thing they all want to know is: 'Who's leading the leagues?'"

The playing of this year's series had been in doubt due to transportation difficulties, but Chandler said he felt sure the problem can be worked out satisfactorily.

Harridge Is for It

Chandler, in an interview, said he immediately called the two big league presidents, Ford Frick, National, and Will Harridge, American, for their coöperation upon receipt of the request from Forrestal.

"I talked with Harridge and he thinks it is a swell idea," Chandler said. "I have been unable to reach Frick yet by phone. I'll call a meeting right away of Frick, Harridge and representatives of the secretary of navy to work out details."

Forrestal, in his letter to Chandler dated July 16 wrote:

"I have been informed by Capt. T. J. O'Brien, U. S. N. [director of welfare] that he recently discussed with you and the presidents of the American and National baseball leagues, the possibility of sending the team winning the world's series championship this fall on a tour of the Pacific ocean to play army and navy teams at advance bases.

Nimitz Welcomes Plan

"This proposition was placed before Fleet Adm. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific ocean areas, and he has just replied that this tour would be a welcome addition to the expanded welfare and recreation program in the Pacific."

ST. PAUL OPEN IS 'OPEN' WITH NELSON ABSENT

St. Paul, Minn., July 19 (AP)—The St. Paul Open golf tournament developed into a dark horse affair today with most of the pros refusing to concede that Harold [Jug] McSpaden of Sanford, Me., is the only one with a chance to win the title.

Until the withdrawal of Byron Nelson, of Toledo, O., winner of virtually all the top money this year, there was little speculation about the victor. Nelson, who suffered a back injury in a recent contest, decided not to play after a visit at the Mayo clinic in Rochester yesterday.

Among the contenders considered to have the best chances were Dick Metz, who set the tournament record of 270 in 1939; Sgt. E. J. [Dutch] Harrison of Wright field, O., and Johnny Revolta of Evanston.

Four other pros pushed themselves into the dark horse category by shooting 69s in the pro-ladies affair today. They were Johnny Bulla, Chicago; Fay Coleman, Los Angeles; Joe Zarhardt, Morristown, Pa., and Jim Gaunt, Ardmore, Okla.

Equifox Hurt; He'll Pass Up $50,000 Race

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN

Louis B. Mayer's miracle horse, Thumbs Up, has a big engagement tomorrow afternoon at Washington Park. It is no more important than some he's kept in his five years of racing and winning, but one in which he will have some pretentious opposition.

The event is the $50,000 added Stars and Stripes Handicap, for which Thumbs Up has been assigned top weight of 130 pounds and must meet over a mile and a furlong such singularly successful speedsters as War Jeep, Daily Trouble, Sirde, Old Kentuck, Take Wing, and St. Jock.

At that, the big 6 year old son of Blenheim II., which is staging a great comeback after a year of inaction, won't have Howard Wells' sensational Equifox to worry about down the Homewood track's long home stretch.

Equifox Out for Year

The winner of the Equipoise mile and the Great Western Handicap this season, until yesterday rated as the horse Thumbs Up would have to beat tomorrow, has been withdrawn and will be out for the remainder of the year because of a filled leg, an injury suffered in the Great Western a couple of weeks ago.

Wells was philosophical as well as sentimental in announcing the retirement of his favorite horse. After all, the son of Equipoise had earned $133,160 for the horseman from Lexington, Ky., in his 21 victories.

His dam, Catherine Fox, was a gift to Wells from a former patron who warned him the mare would cost him a lot of money. Wells, however, had faith and sent Catherine Fox as a matron to the great Equipoise when her racing days were over. The result was one of the five great money winners sired by Equipoise in his brief career in the stud.

With Pleasure Breaks Record

Yesterday's crowd of 18,000 was treated to a record breaking performance by the Brolite farm's With Pleasure in the opening race, a five furlong sprint for maiden 2 year olds. The Brolite thorobred, piloted by Tony Skoronski, went the distance in :58 4-5, two fifths of a second faster than the old mark held jointly by Black Highbrow, Perlette, and Drift Along.

With Pleasure broke in front and won by six lengths from Walmac farm's Radiant Girl in a field of 12. He returned $4 for a $2 ticket. It was his second start. Henry Tikulski's Rodimic won the second at $5 and the daily double was worth only $14. The mutuel handle for the day was $1,179,220.

Hammond GI Runs 100 Meter Race in 10.4

RHEIMS, France, July 19 (AP) — Corp. Charles Edwards of Hammond, Ind., ran 100 meters in 10.4 seconds today, coming within one-fifth of a second of the world record, at the 75th division track meet. The Indiana speedster also won the 200 meter dash in 22.6 seconds.

SOX FIGHT BACK 3 TIMES TO WIN IN BOSTON, 5-3

BY IRVING VAUGHAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Boston, Mass., July 19—James Dykes' White Sox, whose entries in the winning column have been painfully infrequent since they wandered away from their own Comiskey park, found everything ideally suited to their purposes here today. They walloped the ball with delightful nonchalance as well as effectiveness, one of their taps being Johnny Dickshot's first homer of the season and slowed down the ambitious Red Sox by 5 to 3 in the second of the series. It was the Chicagoans' second success in six games abroad.

Big Thornton Lee soared to his 10th victory of the season, equaling his total for the three previous years when he was beset by various misfortunes. Lee had no reason to be proud of today's job even tho he went the route, which was more than Emmett O'Neill could do in behalf of the locals. Lee yielded nine hits, walked seven, and plunked one batter, all this stuff leading to a batch of 14 Boston Athletes being left on the bases.

The Boys Lend a Hand

Due to Lee's instability—there were only two innings in which he didn't have one or more enemy operatives on the bases—the Sox were forced to pile up a lead for themselves on three different occasions. They started off with one run and Boston tied it in the same inning. They scored a pair in the fifth and again the locals responded with enough for another deadlock. Then Dykes' lads scored one in the

BY EDWARD BURNS

Hank Wyse

He yielded only five hits, two for a run with two out in the ninth inning, as the Cubs whipped the Dodgers, 3 to 1, yesterday in the third game of the four game series in beautiful Wrigley field.

It was Hank's seventh straight—a sixth in a row, since his Tulsa draft board nixed him three weeks ago. Hank got errorless support and walked no one, thus the only Dodger base runners were Stanley Bordagaray, who knocked the first two singles in the second and fifth innings; Augie Galan, who singled in the seventh, and Pinch Batter Morris Aderholt and Dixie Walker, who deprived Hank of a shutout when the affair had only one putout to go.

Wyse Helps at Plate, Too

While he didn't get his shutout, the Brooklyn run made the Cubs' second, instead of their first tally, the winning run. And it was driven home on a powerful single by Wyse, who then proceeded to score the counter the Chicagoans didn't need.

Vic Lombardi, the young lefty who made possible Wednesday's double header [attended by 42,047] when he held the Cubs to a 2 to 2 tie on May 27, was the losing pitcher yesterday.

The Cubs made eight of their nine hits off Lombardi. Three of these, a double, only extra base hit of the match, and two singles, were propelled by Don Johnson. Andy Pafko made two singles and drew a pass and Bill Nicholson, Harry Lowrey, and Dewey Williams each had a single, as did Wyse, as previously related. Phil Cavarretta, who was 28 years old yesterday, ran his slump to no hits in 15 times at bat.

Lowrey Comes Thru

There was a brief moment of excitement at the start of the fifth. Luis Olmo, after being thrown out by Merullo, toppled Cavarretta. Cavarretta hopped to his feet and promptly challenged Olmo on the premise that the Puerto Rican had tried to slice off a couple of his toes. Umpire George Barr stepped between the players as a posse of 18 Cubs, led by Manager Charley Grimm and Coach Ray Johnson rushed to the scene. Olmo retreated to the Dodger bench and the contest promptly was resumed.

The Pitcher Hits

sixth, but this was one the Boston's couldn't match. Nor could they match Dickshot's homers that sailed over the left field sign in the ninth while Mike Ryba was doing a finishing a job for O'Neill.

The run that stood up as the payoff until Dickshot's homer relieved the pressure was mainly a matter of Tony Cuccinello's bat. The little old man slapped a drive to the distant center field wall to open the sixth, his legs getting him as far as second. He hiked to third an instant later on Oris Hockett's fly to Leon Culberson. Then Cass Michaels singled him across the plate.

Moses Singles and Scores

Wally Moses opened the game with a single and scored when Kerby Farrell delivered a blow of similar length.

The matching of runs began with one out in Boston's first inning when Jack Tobin was hit by an errant pitch. Culberson singled and Bob Johnson drew a pass, filling the bases. Nobody was retired on a fielder's choice grounder tapped to Leroy Schalk by Tom McBride, Tobin scoring. Then Skeeter Newsome grounded to Lee for a double play.

Run Is Forced

Michaels and Tresh opened the fifth with singles, one scoring on a single by Moses, after which Schalk beat out a hit to load the bases. After Farrell had flied out to left, Dickshot walked, forcing Tresh to score for a 3 to 1 lead. The Red Sox promptly barked back. The first happening in their fifth was a pass to Lake, followed by Tobin beating out a bunt. They advanced on Culberson's bunt and Johnson's single sent 'em home for the 3 to 3 deadlock.

WORLD MONEY PLAN METHODS AND PURPOSES

Bank, Fund District Organizations

BY ROBERT YOUNG

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 19—The Bretton Woods agreement is a proposed pact among 44 nations to set up two separate world agencies to stabilize currencies and extend credit to war torn nations for reconstruction in the post-war era. The proposals were adopted at a conference held in July, 1944, in Bretton Woods, N. H.

The two proposed world agencies are a 9 billion 100 million dollar international bank and an 8 billion 800 million dollar international monetary fund.

Functions of Bank

The bank would have the following broad functions:

1. Long term credit for the reconstruction of war-stricken nations and the development of resources in those countries whose industrialization has been slow. For example, bank credit could be used to rebuild an automobile factory in France, or to provide mining machinery for China.

2. To provide, thru credit, the foundation for a permanent expansion of world trade among nations by increasing productive capacity.

The stabilization fund is designed to:

1. Stabilize values of the currencies of member nations, thus facilitating international commerce.

2. Provide credit for trade by making foreign exchange available to central banks or other government agencies. For example, if China lacked American dollars with which to buy mining machinery, the fund would make the dollars available.

Held Drain on U. S. Resources

There is wide disagreement among responsible authorities in and out of the government and congress as to whether either the bank or the fund would ever be able to accomplish their stated purposes. Many of these authorities regard the proposals as schemes to saddle the United States with the bulk of the financial load involved in world reconstruction after the war. The Bretton Woods agreement has been assailed as inflationary and as a potential drain upon American resources.

Of the 9 billion 100 million dollar proposed subscription toward the capital stock of the international bank, the United States share — largest by far of all the nations—is 3 billion 175 million. Of the total 8 billion 800 million dollar stabilization fund, the American quota is 2 billion 750 million — again the largest share by far. The United States also would be called upon to provide the largest pro-rata share of any assessments which might be needed to make good defaulted bank loans.

Other Nations' Contributions

In comparison with the United States bank subscription, the shares of other nations include Great Britain, 1 billion 300 million; Russia, 1 billion 200 million; and France, 450 million dollars. The same amounts were assigned to these countries for the stabilization fund. China's bank share is 600 million dollars, and the fund quota is 550 million.

Among the other nations participating in the Bretton Woods agreement, bank subscriptions range from $200,000 for Panama to 400 million dollars for India. Fund quotas range from $500,000 each for Panama and Liberia to 400 million dollars for India. The quotas were based generally upon the ability of each nation to provide money and the benefits it might be expected to obtain.

Currency Stabilization

The fund is designed to stabilize world currencies in this way: initial par values of currencies would be established by agreement between the member nations and the fund. Thereafter, except as changes might be made under an authorized procedure, members would seek to maintain the established relative values of their currencies. Purchases and sales of gold for the settlement of international transactions would be a means of maintaining exchange rates.

There would be no limit, technically, to the size of loans members could seek from the bank. However, the bank would pass upon such loan applications in the manner of commercial banks, taking the prospective borrower's ability to repay and resources into consideration. If the loan were defaulted and there were no prospect of repayment, or if the bank were obliged to make good on a loan it had guaranteed, the loss would be met either from a special fund or thru pro-rata assessments of member nations. On this pro-rata basis, America would bear the biggest share of any such loss. The special fund would be created from the 1 to 1½ per cent annual "commissions" charged by the bank on loans it would make.

Twenty Per Cent to Be Paid In

Of each member nation's subscriptions to the bank, 20 per cent would be paid in or subject to call as needed for loans. Of this amount, 10 per cent would be in gold or United States dollars and the rest in each member nation's own currency.

The other 80 per cent of total bank subscriptions would be subject to call by the bank only when needed to meet losses from defaulted loans or guaranteed loans. Payments for this portion of the subscriptions might be at the option of the member nations either in gold, United States dollars, or the currency required to discharge the obligation of the bank.

In the other organization, subscriptions to the stabilization fund would be paid in full in gold and national currency at the time of organization. The gold portion would be a minimum of 25 per cent of a member's quota, or 10 per cent of its net official holdings of gold and United States dollars, whichever was the smaller. The United States would pay in gold at least 25 per cent of its quota of 2 billion 750 million dollars, or $687,500,000.

Two Distinct Organizations

Two entirely separate organizations would be set up for the operations of the fund and the bank. Each institution would be under the general control of a board of governors, consisting of one governor and an alternate for each member country. Each governing board would elect a chairman.

Under each board would be full time, salaried executive directors. A managing director would be the chief executive of the fund, and a president would hold the corresponding post in the bank. The managing director and the president would be elected by the executive director of the institutions.

Headquarters of both the fund and the bank would be in the United States.

Each member of the fund would have 250 votes, plus one additional vote for each $100,000 of its quota. Total votes would be 99,000 on the basis of the 8 billion 800 million dollar aggregate quota. The United States would have the largest vote at 27,750, or 28 per cent.

A quorum would require a majority of the fund's governors and also two-thirds of the voting power.

Similar Voting Formula

The distribution of voting power in the bank would be determined by the same formula as for the fund. The votes would total 102,000 on the basis of 9 billion 100 million dollars of subscribed capital. The United States would have 32,000 votes and 31.4 per cent of the voting strength.

The fund and bank agreements would become effective when accepted by governments representing not less than 65 per cent of the total quotas. Withdrawal of members from the fund or bank would be effective upon receipt of notice from the members. If a nation should withdraw, the money contributed to the fund or bank would be repaid, unless the nation were a debtor, in which case nothing would be repaid until the debt was discharged.

The delegates who met at the Bretton Woods conference and formulated the agreement had no authority to bind their governments to the bank and fund proposals, the agreement being subject to ratification by the various nations. No other nations have, as yet, ratified the proposals.

"We are now asked," he said, "to adopt a policy of loans to reconstruct Europe. It is a long distance plan to guarantee investments abroad when we do not guarantee them at home.

"Leo Crowley [chairman of the Export-Import bank and foreign economic administrator] testified that during the next 12 months we are going to send abroad $4,400,000,000 worth of goods under lend-lease.

10 Billion in Two Years

"That will probably be a gift. To that we add the $2,800,000,000 in new lending funds asked by the Export-Import bank. That is an outright long term loan which will be made to the countries of Europe. Now we are being asked to add to that the international monetary fund of 2¾ billions. That totals approximately 10 billions which will be drawn out or authorized within two years.

"We have been sending the British lend-lease at the rate of 4 billion a year, and we propose now to send them lend-lease at the rate of 2 billion a year, which will enable the British to balance their budget to a large extent. . . . Out of the 10 billions, the British will receive more than 3 billions.

"Under lend-lease, the Russians will receive one billion during the next 12 months. According to Mr. Crowley, the Russians will receive another billion from the Export-Import bank. Out of the monetary fund, she will be able to draw 900 millions within a little more than two years. So we are now making a loan to Russia which will be in addition to any military supplies which will be used in carrying on the war against Japan.

Will Wreck This Country

"So if we pass this bill and give the Export-Import bank the $2,800,000,000 increase it is asking, we will be making available to Europe about 19 billions. There will probably be three billions more for England to make 22 billion dollars. And that will wreck this country."

Replying to internationalists who demanded approval of the Bretton Woods plan as evidence of America's sincerity in the new league of nations, Taft said:

"If we don't pass this Bretton Woods agreement, the other nations will just say, 'Well, we never thought the Americans would do such a foolish thing anyway.'"

Amendments Beaten

One of the numerous amendments beaten by the Democrats was proposed by Taft to withhold the benefits of the monetary fund from nations which so restrict currency in trade regions they control as to monopolize all foreign trade for themselves.

The British do this by requiring that only sterling be used for purchases and forbidding the exchange of sterling for dollars. Senators protested that this practice makes it impossible for Americans to sell goods in Egypt and India, as well as other countries, altho the avowed purpose of the Bretton Woods agreement is to encourage the foreign trade of all members subscribing to the agreement.

Barkley won defeat of the Taft amendment by pleading it would bar the British from membership in the financial establishment.

Taft insisted that his amendment would only require Britain to change her practices to conform to the supposed purpose of the agreement, but his arguments were unavailing.

During the heat of the argument, Sen. Tunnell [D., Del.] accused Taft of making a statement that was "untrue," and Taft retorted that Tunnell's charge was "untrue."

Conference on Surplus Disposal Opens Today

A two day conference called by the army service forces to discuss ways of disposing of surplus government property will open at 10 a. m. today in the Palmer House. Proposals are expected to be made to divide the country into regions to simplify the task.

WESTERN RAILS ENTER NEW ICC RATE PROTEST

Ruling Termed Big Blow to Roads

Western states face the choice of bankrupt railroads or higher shipping rates on agricultural products, live stock, and raw materials if the recent interstate commerce commission class rate decision is upheld, western railroads asserted yesterday in a petition filed with the commission.

Text of the petition, which urged reconsideration of the decision which would substantially reduce rates on manufactured products in the west and south and increase similar rates in the east, was made public in Chicago by William H. Dana, chairman of the western traffic executive committee.

The petition asserted that "for the sake of what might be deemed appeasement, the commission has dealt a blow to the western railroads, the effect of which it is difficult to determine at this time."

Conditions in Areas Differ

The commission's decision "disregards entirely" the fact that the eastern states comprise primarily a manufacturing region and the west an agricultural area, it said. Transportation conditions differ so in the east and west that "what is proper for one is not necessarily proper for the other."

A preponderance of manufactured and miscellaneous commodities transported by the eastern lines gives them substantially larger revenues than the western lines receive from hauling agricultural products and other raw materials. The annual rate of return earned by eastern lines averaged 3.14 per cent thru the 21 year period ended with 1940, against 2.64 per cent for the western lines, the petition reported.

Puts Burden on ICC

"It is difficult to find a logical explanation as to why the commission reduces the class rates in the west and increases those in the east," it said. "The showing would indicate that the reverse should be true.

"If the present decision is forced on the western railroads, the responsibility for the continued progress and maintenance of adequate transportation in that district [the west] is with the ICC."

ALMOST 60,000 IDLE IN STRIKES THRUOUT NATION

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Production in at least 27 plants, mines, and ship yards fell yesterday as major labor disputes kept idle more than 59,700 workers. Five major labor controversies in the Detroit area accounted for 24,600, including 14,000 made idle yesterday when 200 lumber yards closed in a dispute involving a new union contract.

Forced into idleness as a result of the closings, which a dealers' spokesman termed "management's strike against their employes," were 4,000 lumber yard workers and approximately 10,000 carpenters on construction jobs. Two AFL unions had demanded a closed shop and unionization of foremen.

A back-to-work order from the WLB brought an end to a strike of 1,335 CIO union members at the Pure Oil company refineries in Newark and Toledo, O.; Port Neches, Tex., and Charleston, W. Va.

GEN. ELECTRIC'S 6 MONTH PROFIT SHOWS INCREASE

Net profit of General Electric company in the six months ended June 30 was $24,793,533, or 86 cents a share, compared with $20,770,700, or 72 cents a share a year ago, Charles E. Wilson, president, reported yesterday.

Net sales billed, representing shipments, in the six months were $684,633,672, or 1 per cent less than the $693,070,838 billed a year earlier. The decrease was attributed mainly to lower prices on war products.

Because of these lower prices and a reduction in income from sources other than sales, the company's total income was 14 per cent less than in the first half of last year, Wilson said.

STEERS BREAK; BUYERS AVOID SUBSIDY LOSSES

Chicago cattle prices broke yesterday. The majority of steers fell 25 cents a hundred pounds from Wednesday's close and as much as 50 cents from the top that day. Buyers were reluctant bidders and some stock was left unsold.

Many principal buyers in the first half of the week had run their costs close to the maximum of the government compliance range on which subsidy payments are made. Coupled with reports that some smaller plants are being deprived of subsidy money as punishment for exceeding the maximum price levels, this discouraged the market.

GRAIN FUTURES UNEVEN; TRADE IN WHEAT GAINS

Grain futures markets turned irregular yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade after a firm opening. Wheat reacted after climbing about 1 cent a bushel higher early and finished unchanged to ⅜ cent higher. Corn closed unchanged to ⅜ lower, oats 1⅛ lower to ½ higher, rye ¼ to 1⅝ higher, and barley 1 cent higher to ½ lower.

Wheat assumed the leadership in trading after being subordinated to rye for many months.

New Plastic Film Made in Plant at Gary

Plastic film that may be used alone or with a metal foil backing for a wide variety of wrappings and packagings was shown at a news conference yesterday by E. M. Kratz, manager of the Reynolds Metals company's plastics division plant in Gary, Ind. Reynolds, which has been experimenting with the film for several years, already has perfected several types and their possibilities appear limitless, Kratz said.

One type perfected but not yet on the market generally is a transparent sheet, polyvinyl chloride, resembling cellophane in appearance. The material is waterproof and oil proof, does not dry out and crack or split, withstands arctic or tropical temperatures, and can be heat sealed.

Qualities Can Be Varied

It can be made with any degree of pliability, softness or hardness, and thickness, and in any color without requiring a separate operation. It also can be impregnated with wax or various chemicals to give it qualities needed for specific uses.

Polyvinyl chloride film, unlike cellophane, can be made in one operation. It is poured onto an endless belt on a "casting machine" in the Gary plant that determines its thickness to one thousandth of an inch. Cellophane requires many different operations in its manufacture and 12 wash baths, Kratz said.

The cost at retail cannot be determined until the costs of manufacture in mass production are determined, Kratz said. It will run higher than for cellophane.

Plans Extensive Research

In anticipation of the development of other packaging materials and experiments on those already developed, Reynolds is planning an extensive research department at Gary, because "the ramifications of this type of work are almost unbelievable," Kratz said. The Gary plant has four coating machines and plans three more and will add eight more casting machines to the one it has.

It also has acquired three acres of additional land around the plant, which it bought last August from Kraft Cheese company. Kraft, for whom Kratz formerly was manager of chemical research, had been conducting experiments along a somewhat similar line before Reynolds took over the plant.

STOCKS RECOVER SOME OF LOSSES IN LIGHT TRADING

New York, July 19 (AP)—Timid buying returned to the stock market today and lifted favorites fractions to a point or more but dealings were slow.

Spiking of Japanese peace rumors by Washington, more consideration of earnings and dividends, and the belief the recent relapse had improved the technical position of the list inspired such bidding as appeared.

RAIL BONDS ADVANCE

New York, July 19 (AP)—Improved demand for an assortment of medium priced rails lifted the bond market today, but there were many laggards. Advances ranged to more than a point. Most industrial and utility bonds held a relatively steady undertone, but activity was light.

CHICAGO LIST HIGHER

Prices edged higher yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Trading was light, with only 26,000 shares transferred.

SENATE PASSES TAX REVISIONS TO AID BUSINESS

Washington, D. C., July 19 (AP)—The senate approved tonight revision of the corporation tax laws intended to make about 5 billion dollars available to business to hasten reconversion to peace time manufacture. Passage was on a voice vote.

The measure must go back to the house for action on amendments. It increases the specific exemption on excess profits taxes from $10,000 to $25,000, effective in the 1946 tax year. Sen. Wherry [R., Neb.] sought to apply the new exemption to 1945, but this was defeated on a roll call, 31 to 30.

As approved the bill permits the 10 per cent credit on the excess profits tax to be used currently as of 1944 and subsequent years, advances maturity date for tax refund bonds to Jan. 1, 1946, and hastens refunds from carry-backs of net operating losses and unused excess profits credits.

WORLD-WIDE AIR TRAVEL TICKET POLICY OFFERED

Continental Casualty company yesterday announced a new accident insurance service for world air travelers. The policy covers travel on any air line in the world. Premiums are based on the air line ticket cost. Twenty-five cents will buy a $5,000 policy in conjunction with any fare up to $150. The policy is the first aviation ticket accident insurance to be made available on a world-wide basis, including risk in war zones, the company said.

WORKING FUNDS OF COMPANIES SET NEW PEAK

SEC Study Shows 63 Per Cent Increase

Philadelphia, Pa., July 19 (AP)—American corporations with securities listed on national stock exchanges face reconversion with a working capital 63 per cent higher than the 1939 level.

This was disclosed today by the securities and exchange commission in a study of current assets and liabilities of 1,290 listed corporations which showed that working capital soared from 12 billion 553 million dollars to 20 billion 258 million between 1939 and the end of 1944.

"The steady increase in working capital to unprecedented levels, reaching a new high estimated at 45½ billion dollars for all American corporations, is considered by the commission to reemphasize the ability of American industry as a whole to reconvert to peace time production and also to undertake extensive expansion without recourse to outside sources of funds," a SEC spokesman said.

Aircraft Group's Gain Big

The net working capital of 25 aircraft and aircraft equipment companies skyrocketed from 79 millions to 470 millions and 84 railroads more than tripled their 1939 level of 347 millions by reporting 1 billion 548 millions for 1944.

In practically all industry groups, the working capital rise was proportionate thruout the war years.

Only one group—consisting of the 42 financial and real estate corporations—reported a decline. In 1939, their working capital was 678 millions. This increased to 863 millions in 1941, but had decreased to 566 millions in 1944.

The 837 manufacturing corporations included in the study reported a rise from 9 billion 669 millions to 15 billion 167 millions. About half of these companies were war industries whose working capital nearly doubled thru the war years while the nonwar industries reported a 71 per cent increase.

Nearly One-Third Is Cash

Examined according to asset size, 282 manufacturing corporations with assets under 5 millions increased their working capital from 211 millions to 366 millions; 478 manufacturing companies with assets between 5 million and 100 million boosted theirs from 3 billion 253 millions to 5 billion 181 millions, and 77 with assets of more than 100 million showed an increase from 6 billion 205 millions to 9 billion 620 millions.

Nearly one-third of the total working capital of American industry is held as cash on hand and in banks and about one-fifth is in United States tax and savings notes.

Holdings in United States government securities increased from 846 millions in 1939 to 5 billion 633 millions, or about one-fourth of the total working capital by the end of 1944, the study indicated. Holdings in other marketable securities declined from 491 millions to 361 millions.

New Improved Oldsmobile for 1946 Is Shown

The 1946 Oldsmobiles, incorporating several changes from the 1942 models whose production was halted by the war, were introduced in Detroit yesterday. A new type radiator grille and other exterior changes give the new auto a much different appearance. Mechanically, the main improvement is in the hydra-matic transmission.

S. E. Skinner, general manager of the Oldsmobile division of General Motors corporation, in announcing the new models emphasized that resumption of passenger car production will not interfere with the company's war job. A relatively small part of the company's facilities will be assigned to passenger car manufacture.

Will Be Produced in Fall

"The 1946 model, which will make its initial appearance in the early fall, will be a new car, not merely a modification of the 1942 model," Skinner said. "In addition to new styling it will offer new features, finer performance and quality. It will feature the General Motors hydra-matic drive which eliminates the need for a clutch pedal and gives fully automatic shifting thru four forward speeds."

Improvements in the automatic transmission resulted from experience in building the same type transmissions for 19 ton tanks.

Skinner said that as soon as materials and man power will permit after the defeat of Japan the output of cars will be stepped up to peak levels. The company's war production includes cannon, shells, rockets, and forgings.

Termed War Necessity

"The direct war production will continue to be our No. 1 job so long as America is at war," Skinner asserted. "However, we feel that the building of essential automobiles is a war necessity. New automobiles are needed to replace the 4,000 worn out cars which are going out of service daily. They are needed to keep the nation's vital home front transportation functioning and to keep essential workers on the job."

GASOLINE DEVELOPED BY STANDARD (N. J.) IS FLAME RESISTANT

New York, July 19 (AP)—Development of a powerful aviation fuel so safe that "a lighted match can be dropped into it without causing a fire," was announced today by Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and Pan American World Airways.

E. V. Murphree, vice president of the central technical organization of Standard Oil, said research chemists had made the fuel "as safe as kerosene but with combustion power equal to the best fast vaporizing gasolines." It must be heated to more than 100 degree farenheit to produce enough vapors to ignite, "thus eliminating the dangers of a flash fire from fast vaporizing gasoline that might be set off by a spark."

Andre Priester, Pan American chief engineer, predicted that "in addition to making flights safer, the use of safety fuel may make practical safe refueling in the air, increasing the efficiency of long range operations."

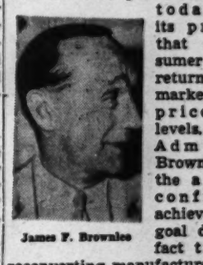
Meets Next Week with Distributors

Washington, D. C., July 19 (AP)—The office of price administration today stood by its prediction that most consumer products returning to the market will be priced at 1942 levels. Deputy Administrator Brownlee said the agency is confident of achieving that goal despite the fact that some reconverting manufacturers will require price increases.



James F. Brownlee

Brownlee in outlining new pricing methods to speed production of civilian goods, said OPA would meet next week with wholesalers and retailers of various commodities to decide to what extent they can absorb increases granted to producers.

Permit Additions to Costs

The new pricing methods provide formulas which individual reconverting companies may use to determine to what extent, if any, their 1942 ceilings may be increased. The formulas permit additions to 1941 costs to compensate for higher wage rates and increases in prices for materials and parts.

Producers may add to this adjusted cost all or part of pre-war profit margins, depending on the size of the firm, to determine ceilings.

These individual adjustments are intended to bridge the gap between the start of sales and determination of ceilings on an industry-wide basis when more complete cost figures are available to OPA.

Must Be Submitted to OPA

Ceilings determined by manufacturers will be submitted to OPA field offices for approval. In the case of companies doing $200,000 or more business a year, OPA's national office will pass on ceilings. Maximum prices of other manufacturers will be considered approved unless OPA field offices notify the producer to the contrary within 15 days.

1. Those doing an annual business of $200,000 or more will be permitted to add to 1941 costs increases in wage rates and in prices for materials. To this adjusted cost they may add half the industry-wide profits margin for 1936-'39. The result is their new ceiling.

2. Those doing business from $50,000 to $200,000 a year will follow the same procedure, but may substitute their own 1936-'39 profit margin for half the industry-wide margin.

Use Current Costs as Base

3. Those doing less than $50,000 business a year may use the total of their current costs as a base, then add their own profit margin for 1939. If data for that year is not available, they may use figures for 1940 or 1941, or half the industry profit margin for 1936-'39.

Brownlee said there has been no decision as to whether automobile ceilings will be figured on the basis of industry-wide costs or on individual company data. If the car manufacturers decide on the individual method, the regulations issued today will be amended to cover the auto industry, Brownlee said.

He said conferences in Detroit between auto manufacturers and OPA officials should be completed by next week and that a decision on pricing methods should be ready for announcement soon thereafter.

Arguing that the court's final decision would affect industry in general, defense counsel asked a 90 day recess to prepare its defense.

Advise Vets on Bakery Shops

(This is the 12th article in a series on employment and business opportunities for discharged veterans.)

BY ANTHONY WIRRY

If you are a war veteran considering operating a retail bakery store, industry spokesmen recommend that you purchase a going business or reopen an abandoned bakery rather than invite difficulties in obtaining war scarce equipment and materials for a new outlet.

Use of existing facilities, whether operative or inoperative, has several competitive and financial advantages to the newcomer in the field, especially if his capital is limited.

Going Business Preferred

In a large number of instances the existing outlets are in desirable locations and draw upon a more or less established trading group. These factors are considered advantageous because they shorten or eliminate the "breaking in" period when a new business is struggling for recognition and receipts are usually below operating expenses.

If a going business cannot be obtained at a satisfactory price, the closed or abandoned establishment provides an attractive alternate because the government has ruled that only war veterans will be granted the rationed sugar, fats, and processed foods needed to put this type of outlet back in operation.

Frank Jungewaelter, secretary of the Association of Retail Bakers of America, says that entry into the retail bakery field via one of these routes means that a veteran may "get on the job six to eight months sooner" than he would with an entirely new operation.

Jungewaelter estimated the minimum initial investment for a moderate sized neighborhood bakery of about $5,000, and that this outlay should produce an annual volume of $25,000 when rationing regulations are revoked. This means about 350 sales a day during the week and 600 or more on Saturday.

View on Location

Altho no hard and fast rules have been set down regarding location, it has been observed that it is good business practice to choose a bakery site near other stores which are patronized daily, or near schools, churches, or in residential areas.

New operators are advised against providing delivery service or trying any self-service system.

If the veteran has had no experience in retail baking, it is recommended that he take a job in a successful and efficiently operated store for 18 months to two years to prepare himself for undertaking his own business. Operators point out that a bakery operator is both a manufacturer and a retailer.

VETS AT DODGE PLANT CHARGE THREATS BY CIO

Job Protection Is Sought for Fighting Men

BY ORVILLE DWYER

CIO unionists in the Dodge Chicago plant were accused yesterday of making threats against war veterans who are helping produce bomber engines to defeat Japan. The veterans, dicharged after war service and also members of the union, said the CIO unionists were working to get the ex-fighting men's leaders fired from their jobs.

The veterans said the threats were made after a demand by their leaders that all future contracts between the union and the company specify that veterans shall be given at least 25 per cent of all jobs available; also that, when senior employes are called back after reconversion, at least one veteran who has not worked for the company previously must be hired to every three senior employes put back to work.

The union involved is local 274, United Automobile Workers, members of which include 500 of the 4,200 veterans of World War II, now employed at the plant.

Union Unfair, Veteran Charges

"It is because of this CIO union's attitude toward veterans that only 500 have joined," said Robert J. Kelter, chairman of the union veterans' committee. Kelter also is president of the United Veterans of World War II., recently organized.

Kelter said he has "signed charges" from Joseph Silka, recording secretary of the United Veterans and a member of the veterans' committee in the union, that Silka was "informed by representatives of local 274 that the union veterans' committee was to be dissolved because those on the veterans' committee were too much for the veterans and not enough for CIO policy." Kelter continued:

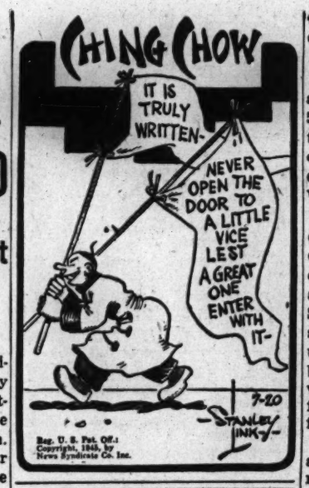
"Silka in his signed statement also charges that the union's representatives further informed him they—the nonveterans—were going to do their utmost to see that the present heads of the veterans' committee be relieved of their jobs.

Veteran Rejects CIO Scheme

"These anti-veteran union men wanted Silka to form a new veterans' committee, a committee they could control and whose members would follows their CIO anti-veteran policy dictates. Silka refused to comply."

The veterans' group in the union Wednesday night proposed a contract, containing the provisions they demand for protection of returning fighting men, to the executive board of local 274. Robert Wright, president of the local, yesterday told Kelter it had been sent to the international officers of the union in Detroit, Mich., for action and that it would be considered there next Tuesday.

Kelter demanded that the veterans' committee that drafted the proposed contract be represented in the Detroit meeting. Wright denied knowledge of Silka's charges.



14 Law Firms, 1 Witness at Hearing Over $90,000

Hearing to determine whether $59,950 in municipal bonds plus $30,000 in accumulated interest belongs to the estate of the late Michael E. White, construction contractor, or to White Consolidated, Inc., was begun yesterday before Federal Judge Walter J. La Buy. The only witness, Edward W. White, son of the contractor, said he believed the bonds belonged to White Consolidated. Fourteen law firms represent family members interested in the suit.

GIRL HOSTESSES SEE TRICKERY IN DANCE 'CENTER'

There is mutiny among the girl entertainers of service men. The girls, 300 of them, have been ousted from the B. B. R. Youth Movement, an organization to entertain service men on Sundays, by its founder and dictator, Billy Patts, for failure to purchase tickets to the annual summer dance to be held Aug. 18 in the Midland hotel. The girls, many of whom recently joined, are angry principally because they did not receive a refund from the $4.50 annual membership fee each has paid to Patts.

The B. B. R. Youth Movement, which Patts says stands for "Bigger and Better Representation," has been brought to the attention of the Better Business bureau and the Chicago Association of Commerce in the last two years.

Do Not Speak English

"The organization came to the attention of the bureau as a result of inquiries in 1943," a report from the bureau reads. "According to information furnished by Mr. Patts, he is the founder of the movement, sponsored by the Polish-American Citizens League. The bureau has no information regarding the Polish-American Citizens league. Mr. Patts stated, in response to a request for the names and addresses of the officers, 'They are Polish and do not speak English. I represent them.'

"The only information the bureau has regarding Patts is that his name was legally changed from William Patzowski and that he ran for mayor against Mayor Kelly in the last campaign. As outlined in a mimeographed sheet, B. B. R. stands for 'Bigger and Better Representation.' The bureau is informed B. B. R. now stands for Blondes, Brunettes, and Redheads."

Confused with Boys Brotherhood

According to an official of the Chicago Association of Commerce, Patts was called in when it was brought to the association's attention that the B. B. R. was being confused with the Boys Brotherhood Republic, an established youth organization to promote good citizenship.

Patt's B. B. R. has a membership of some 1,000 young girls who pay for the privilege of dancing with service men on Sunday afternoons in the Midland hotel, two of its ousted members, Miss Ruth Miller, 19, of 5321 N. Ashland av., and Miss Vivian Larson, 18, of 1444 Berwyn av., explained yesterday.

$4.50 Annual Fee

The $4.50 membership fee includes $3 for the joy of belonging, $1 for a subscription to a magazine whether they want it or not, and 50 cents for a badge, Miss Larson said. They also are pledged to give $1 for refreshments when called upon and 50 cents for camera films. It is compulsory that two tickets at $1.20 be purchased for dances thruout the year, she said.

"Mr. Patts sent us a circular saying that July 15 was the deadline to buy the tickets to the summer dance on Aug. 18," Miss Miller said. "When we got to the hotel Sunday he said we were ousted from the B. B. R. because the money wasn't in Saturday. He said we were 'corrupting' his organization."

Yank and Descendant of Napoleon to Marry

LONDON, July 19 (AP)—Capt. August W. Von Hartz, Clifton, N. J., of the United States army engineer corps, and Caroline Murat, a descendant of Napoleon, will be married in Paris July 25, it was announced today. Von Hartz was one of the officers responsible for a pipeline that fed gasoline to the United States army during the invasion.

O. K. REVOKING LIQUOR LICENSES WITHOUT CAUSE

A panel of three federal judges ruled yesterday in Hammond that the recently enacted Indiana law permitting the state arbitrarily to revoke wholesale liquor permits without cause is constitutional.

The panel was made up of Judge Luther M. Swygert of the federal District court at Hammond and Judges Evan A. Evans and J. Earl Major of the Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago. It held, "It has long been ruled and is now firmly established that the state has the absolute right to regulate or prohibit traffic in intoxicating liquor and that this right stems from the power of the state to regulate the health, morals, and safety of its inhabitants."

Effect of the ruling was to uphold the revocations of the permits of 12 northern Indiana beer wholesalers by the alcoholic beverage commission of Indiana. They had sought a restraining order against the commission.
